Alternative Dispute Resolution provides an overview of the statutory, procedural, and case law underlining these processes and their interplay with litigation. A significant theme is the evolving role of professional ethics for attorneys operating in non-adversarial settings. Clients and courts increasingly express a preference for attorneys who are skilled not only in litigation but in problem-solving, which costs the clients less in terms of time, money and relationship. The law of ADR also provides an introduction to negotiation and mediation theory.

Course: Gender Justice and Feminist Jurisprudence

Course Code: BBLE35114

Course objective

The course offers to examine the potential of law for delivering gender justice, empowerment and equality. It juxtaposes the myriad laws that claim to protect rights of women, within a Constitutional framework of right to life with dignity, equality and non-discrimination, with ground realities of gender-based violence and discrimination, institutional bias and apathy, and impunity embedded in law. By developing a foundational understanding of feminist theories, principles and politics, as well as the engagement of the Indian women's movement with law, an analysis of the current Indian context is discussed through scholarly writings, an examination of statutes, judgments, law reform initiatives and discourses on law. While critically examining normative standards set by law, the course also acknowledges the limits of law and explores feminist re-imaginings of gender justice through non-state laws.

Course Outline:

UNIT-I - Introduction to feminist jurisprudence

- a) Feminist theory, politics and jurisprudence
- b) Basic concepts, major schools of feminism
- a) Classical and contemporary feminist discourses, and their linkages with law

- b) Feminist critique of important institutions

UNIT-II - Gender equality and the law

- c) 'Gender inclusion'
- d) 'Gender blindness'
- e) 'Gender neutrality'
- f) 'Gender sensitivity'
- g) 'Gender mainstreaming'
- h) gender justice
- i) Types of and approaches to gender equality
- j) Women's movements' engagement with the law in India
- k) Initiatives for law reform around gender justice in India
- l) India's obligations to gender justice under international law and the Indian Constitution

UNIT-III - Feminist doctrines and their application to laws on violence against women in India

- m) Feminist doctrines, concepts and principles
- n) Exploring the application of Feminist doctrines to statutory laws and judgments on violence against women in India

UNIT-IV - Limits of law and re-imagining gender justice

- a) Prospects of gender justice within state and non-state laws and mechanisms for legal redress.
- b) Limits of law and feminist re-imaginings of gender justice.
- c) Homogenous laws vs. plural laws
- d) Feminist Judgment Project initiative
- e) Non-state and alternative dispute resolution mechanisms for women
- f) Transformation of feminist knowledge into praxis,
- g) Access to justice, legitimacy and effectiveness of non-state mechanisms for grievance redress for advancing gender justice.

Course: Comparative Laws

Course Code: BBLE35115

Course objective:

Comparative law is a quite unique legal subject in that it does not concern, in and of itself, any established legal products (corpus juris) on its own, such as comparative rules or comparative jurisprudence. (This feature may distinguish comparative law from international law.) One cannot locate any statutes or court decisions citing or referencing comparative law per se. Rather, comparative law is a field of legal study related to a methodology, or an approach, in probing and understanding other, i.e., foreign, legal systems and/or legal cultures. While comparison is a means with which to explore otherness (differences) among different legal systems, it also reveals a varying degree of sameness or likeness among them. At the end of this exploration, you will probably be able to better comprehend your own legal system than before.

This course has three goals: First, it seeks to expose students to a broad overview of the major legal systems of the world. Second, this course aims to provide students with the tools to carry out an efficient comparison between different legal systems. Third, this course invites students to consider the impact of recent developments (including global and regional integration, as well as the emergence of transnational business law) upon the traditional comparative method.

Course outline

UNIT-I - - Introduction

- a) The traditional comparative method - the structure of a comparative paper
- b) The traditional comparative method– functionalism and critical evaluation

Course: Election Law
Course Code: BBLE35119

Course objective:

Elections are considered to be a process to achieve democracy and as an indispensable element in the establishment and continuation of any democracy. India is having a constitution that guarantees a democratic republic to its citizens. This is based unmistakably on adult franchise, though the question remains about the nature of right to vote whether fundamental or statutory.

The proposed course would offer both these perspectives, needless to say that both are having points of convergence than divergence. The subtle difference is that the Constitutional foundation gives a rights axis and the political perspective gives the philosophical position. The introduction of the course will be done on the political structure of democracy and will proceed to the postulate of free and fair elections.

1. To familiarize the students with the existing legal framework of elections to various democratic bodies/ posts
2. To critically analyse the present regime of laws with reference to the postulate of free and fair elections as the fundamental point of democracy
3. To learn the process of development/reforms in the field of election laws by parallel forces
 - a. Legislations/ Amendments
 - b. Judicial contributions
