SHARES & TRADINGS NEWS

INR 7lakh crores, this is the amount the Adani group has lost in the stock market over the last seven days. On 24th January Gautam Adani was the world's 3rd richest person with a net worth of $120 billion. Just a week later, from 3rd position, he dropped to 15th position. Because an American investor group, Hindenburg, alleged that Gautam Adani had pulled off the 'biggest con in corporate history'. The report accused Adani's companies of brazen stock manipulation and an accounting fraud schemes over the course of decades. Since the reports was published, various stocks of Adani's companies have plummeted substantially. In just 5 trading sessions, Adani's groups combined market value dropped by 38%. In-fact the SEBI initiated an investigation into the Adani group. Gautam Adani had to cancel an FPO follow on public offering. Interestingly, Hindenburg isn't a research company. It has tried to 'short sell' Adani groups stocks. It means that if the groups stock go down, Hindenburg would go home with its pockets full. Adani Group published a 412-page long report in response to the charges. The group even alleged that Hindenburg is conspiring against India and not just itself. The groups CFO even compared this episode with Jallianwala Bagh massacre. He said how during the massacre, Indian soldiers fired shots at their fellow countrymen on the orders of a foreigner, similarly Indians are selling stocks of their country's company because of research published by a foreign institution. This episode has made people panic and ponder over the future of the Indian stock market. Hindenburg is a research investment company founded in 2017. It has exposed and targeted many companies in the past. Its latest target is the Adani group. That is why this report is gaining so much attention. Apart from being a research company, Hindenburg is also an investor, it earns money using research through short selling. Hindenburg even published a research report to convince the market that the Adani group was committing a fraud, prompting everybody to start selling the stocks, causing their prices to go down and ultimately earning Hindenburg a hefty profit. There's one question in everyone's mind, what impact will this episode have on the Indian economy? The Adani group is one of the biggest Indian businesses. Its operations span's over 6 airports, 13 seaports, roads, power, renewable energy, gas distribution, real estate, FMCG, financial services and media. One might criticize the Adani group but it was certainly going to play a crucial role in India's economic growth. The Modi government was well aware of this, that's why it accredited the Adani group with the responsibility of advancing the country's infrastructure and becoming its partner in the other sectors as well. It is whether the group would be able to fulfil the promises it made to the Indian government and the public. If it fulfils the promises, the government would have no complaints, nor would the citizens and the investors of the Adani group. If it fails, it will not only let down the investors but all the Indian citizens whose future has been sealed with the fate of the Adani group.
