

RNBGU PARTICIPATED IN DIGIFEST BIKANER 2018

RNBian's participated in various events held at Digi-Fest where they had an amazing experience of appearing in various interviews at Job Fair with big IT giants like Amazon, Vivo, Paytm, & Oppo. They also learnt about various government initiatives dedicated for public services, such as E-Sakhi, Solar Plants, E-registration of Properties, E-Mitra+, E-Mandi, Employment Department Portal, Suraaj, etc. In addition to the main stage where tech tycoons, start-up founders and business leaders shared their expertise, RNBian's also witnessed several other workshops and talks organized in parallel tracks.

The three-day event was inaugurated with the great enthusiasm where over 1,500 IT experts, coders and students displayed their innovations. The centre of attraction at the exhibition was Robot 'Budhia'. This robot gave all information relating to the Bhamashah scheme and also resolves all the problems relating to this scheme.

These types of events really help the students to get an exposure about a universe full of new experiences, state-of-the-art technology and latest scientific inventions.

FRANCE BEAT CROATIA TO WIN WORLD CUP 2018

France are the champions of the world once again. Twenty years after Didier Deschamps lifted the trophy with the likes of Zinedine Zidane, Patrick Viera and Thierry Henry by his side, he did so again, this time with the rest of his coaching staff beside him. He was not wearing the French blue but a three-piece suit that got drenched in the rain in Moscow. He was the first French captain to lead his team to a World Cup title in 1998 and on Sunday he became the third man to win the title as captain and manager with the same team.

This is a World Cup in which strength on paper was diminished to a useless statistic. Germany ended the first round as wooden spooners of their group, Spain, Argentina and Brazil fell in the knockouts. France themselves ensured the ouster of Belgium. Out of all the teams that were deemed favourites before the World Cup started, Les Bleus were the only side that looked on course to proving that tag rig.

मैंने सेठ जगन नाथ जी से सीखा है

सर्वप्रथम युग पुरुष सेठ जगन नाथ जी को मेरा नमन और सभी को मेरा नमस्कार !

मैंने सेठ जगन नाथ जी से सीखा है की बात जब किसी की भलाई की हो तो कुछ भी करने से कतराओ मत , चाहे उसमे अपना सर्वस्व लग जाये।।।

मैंने सेठ जगन नाथ जी से सीखा है की समाज कल्याण की खुशी में इतने खुश हो की ऊपर वाला भी खुश हो जाये।।।

मैंने सेठ जगन नाथ जी से सीखा है की कोई भी काम छोटा या बड़ा नहीं होता बस हमारा लक्ष्य समाज की भलाई होना चाहिए।।।।

मैंने सेठ जगन नाथ जी से सीखा है की कोई भी जनम से अछूत या पूजनीय नहीं होता , हम ही उसे बनाते है।।।।।

मैंने सेठ जगन नाथ जी से सीखा है की दुःख किसी का भी हो उसका दुःख इस तरह महसूस करो की अपना दुःख भूल जाये।।।।

Academic Excellence or All-Round Development?

Indian parents have traditionally focused on academics, sometimes to the exclusion of all other activities such as sports, music, dance, art and drama (except for certain pockets in the country where training in classical music or dance is considered essential). And one cannot really fault their approach in a country, and at a time, where job opportunities were limited and competition to get into the few 'lucrative' streams, intense. In the race for financial security, other things become secondary and dispensable.

But times are changing, Today's Indian parents encourage extra-curriculars because they genuinely believe that success cannot anymore be defined only in terms of ranks and grades. Rather, what is important when applying to a college or even when companies are recruiting the leaders of tomorrow, is a rounded personality. While solid academic credentials are necessary, admissions officers and recruiters also look for a candidate who has varied interests, is knowledgeable about the world around him and can converse intelligently in a gathering. Tough demands? Yes. Easy to inculcate? No. The role of parents today has evolved, from pushing children to finish their homework and study for their exams, to ensuring that they are aware of the myriad possibilities in their environment and know how to leverage them, while maintaining the delicate balance between academics and all that falls beyond. On the other hand, it is heartening to see that children still emphasise the importance of excelling in school and college level even while they pursue other interests wholeheartedly. One cannot accuse today's youth of being too caught up in other pursuits to the exclusion of academics.

Without doubt, excellence in academics is equally important – a sound base in academics is one of the prerequisites for a good future. Academic excellence is the entry ticket to good schools and most good jobs. But once you are in, many other qualities become as important – for example, integrity, teamwork, tolerance, risk taking, boldness, and so on. So rather than focus exclusively on academic excellence, my wife and I have always believed that all-round development with a skew towards academic excellence is the goal to strive for.

Still I Rise

You may write me down in history
With your bitter, twisted lies,
You may tread me in the very dirt
But still, like dust, I'll rise.

Does my sassiness upset you?
Why are you beset with gloom?
'Cause I walk like I've got oil wells
Pumping in my living room.

Just like moons and like suns,
With the certainty of tides,
Just like hopes springing high,
Still I'll rise.

Did you want to see me broken?
Bowed head and lowered eyes?
Shoulders falling down like teardrops.
Weakened by my soulful cries.

Does my haughtiness offend you?
Don't you take it awful hard?
'Because I laugh like I've got gold mines
Diggin' in my own back yard.

You may shoot me with your words,
You may cut me with your eyes,
You may kill me with your hatefulness,
But still, like air, I'll rise.

Does my sexiness upset you?
Does it come as a surprise?
That I dance like I've got diamonds
At the meeting of my thighs? Out of the huts of history's shame
I rise
Up from a past that's rooted in pain
I rise
I'm a black ocean, leaping and wide,
Welling and swelling I bear in the tide.
Leaving behind nights of terror and fear
I rise
Into a daybreak that's wondrously clear
I rise
Bringing the gifts that my ancestors gave,
I am the dream and the hope of the slave.
I rise
I rise
I rise.
