The Silent Tree

Spring has come to the root
Leaf are smiling

It is noon

Will it rain?

I asked siting down the Tree

Leaf fall, but

He didn't spoke

Curiously I asked,

How old your root,

How long you stand,

Looking toward the sky

What you have been waiting for,

Is it divine?

Does it hurt, falling leaf's

If yes, why to grow?

HE kept silent,

Putting my head over his arms,

I closed my eyes, to feel the breeze,

He whispered :

Look at me, so old & Gray

Have been waiting and praying “

Not today, not today”, every time

When I hear chainsaw.

I count the breath and it shrink my root

I fear and die everyday,

See the long coming hy-way

Took my brother & Sister.

Still I stand strong, against

The wind, against the Rain.

The only hope, when I see these

Little fellow on my shoulder,

Singing melody , soo smoothing

To ears.

Gives me hope to stand against wild.

Looking toward sky

Praying to God to;

Bless this soil with divine!

Bless this Soil with divine!

Right

The term 'Right' in ordinary sense, means, "The standard of permitted action within a certain sphere. It means the standard of permitted actions by law, such permitted action of a person is known as his legal right. Any action of a person permitted by law is called 'right' similarly, the expression 'legal right' means "the standard of permitted action by law. A legal right may be distinguished from a moral or natural right. Legal right is an interest recognized and protected by law. In short legal rights are legally protected interest. If any person violate the legal right it would be a legal wrong, and for such legal wrong there is legal remedy.

Legal Rights may be classified under following heads:

1) Right in Rem and Right in Persona -

'Rem' means world and 'Persona' means persons. The Right in Rem is the right available against the whole world while right in Persona is the right against a particular person. Right in Persona generally arises out of contractual obligations for example - Breach of contract. Whereas right in rem is generally outcome of law.

For example - Tort, Crime.

Right in Persona is generally transitory in nature, which can be transferred in right in rem. Right in rem is a final thing, whereas right in Persona is transitory in nature.

2) Personal and Proprietary Right -

Personal right is in respect of person of owner of right whereas Proprietary right is in respect of property of which the person is an owner. Proprietary Rights are those, which constitute a man's property or wealth. These are the rights, which possess some economic or monetary value and constitute the estate of the Person. Right to land, debts and Goodwill or patent rights are all Proprietary right.

Personal right includes right to safety, to reputation Personal rights are also important like Proprietary right. For example - right to reputation. Personal Rights is having no economic value. They relate to Person's well-being or status.

3) Positive and Negative Rights -

Positive rights have corresponding Positive duty. Positive right is therefore the right when some positive act is required to be done by the person who has the corresponding duty. Thus the person on whom such duty lies must do some positive act.

While on the other hand negative rights are those rights when some negative act by way of omission is required. Negative rights correspond to negative duty, and the person on whom such negative duty lies shall omit (not to do) such act.

4) Principal and Accessory rights -

The principal right is a basic or main right vested in Persona under law. They are Vital and important Rights. While accessory right is incidental or consequential right. They are not essential but are apparent to the more basic general right.
