Awareness : That Can Make You Better

All lasting growth requires awareness. Self awareness is a powerful skill. It allows us to test our limits. It empowers us to understand other people. It makes partnership with the strong and positive like minded people . It allows us to maximize our strengths and minimize weaknesses. It opens the doors of great opportunities. All the enlightened souls through out strive to develop self awareness and indulge in rigorous penance and sacrament to attain a stage of ever lasting inner and external growth of their lives.

It is always a very pertinent question.

What stop people from reaching at the top?

Remember, it is neither the capacity nor the capability and the lack of desire. It is usually lack of awareness. There are factors which work against us and hamper in our development. If we are aware from these deterrent factors, no force can stop us from achieving our desired goals. It is only the self awareness which teaches us to maintain distance from those forces who can bring about our failure.

If you know who you are and what are your inner strengths, you can do miracle and achieve height of the success of your life, which every human being aspire for?

Therefore, recognize your value and increase your Capacity : "Be Aware"

God Bless you all.

DIRECTIVE PRINCIPLES OF STATE POLICY

Article 35 to 51 of the Constitution lays down the DPSP or the Directive Principles of State Policy. They have been borrowed from the Constitution of Ireland.

DPSPs can be defined as ideals which are to be kept in mind by the state while formulating its policies and enacting laws. They seek to establish economic and social democracy in the country. However, they are ideals which are not-justiciable by the courts. These DPSPs are categorized into the following types:

1. Gandhian Principles – principles based on Gandhian ideology used to represent the program of reconstruction enunciated by Gandhi during national movement.
Articles under this principle are: 40, 43, 43B, 46, 47, 48
2. Socialistic Principles – the principles which promote the welfare of the people and aims at providing social, economic and political justice and set the path towards the welfare state.
Articles under this principle: 38, 39, 39A, 41, 42, 43, 42A, 47
3. Liberal-Intellectual Principles – these principles reflect the ideology of liberalism, i.e., a philosophy that promotes individual rights, civil liberties, democracy and free enterprise.
Articles under this principle are: 44, 45, 48, 49, 50 and 51

LEGAL MAXIM

Fars est celare fraudem – It is a fraud to conceal a fraud.

Interest reipublicae ut sit finis litium – it is in the interest of the society as a whole, litigation must come to an end.

DID YOU KNOW?

As per Citizen Charter (Indian Oil Corporation website) if your gas cylinder blasts during the cooking of food then the gas agency is liable to pay Rs. 50 lakhs to the victim as compensation.

MAGNA CARTA

A charter is a document granting certain specific rights, powers, privileges or functions from the sovereign power of the state to an individual, corporation, city or other unit of local organization. One of the most famous charters, is the Magna Carta Libertatum also known as the Great Charter of freedoms. It is the first ever “written constitution” in European history. This royal charter of rights was agreed to by King John of England at Runnymede, near Windsor.

First drafted by Arch bishop of Canterbury, Stephen Langton, it was made to make peace between the King and a group of rebel barons. It promised the protection of church rights, protection of barons from illegal imprisonment, access to swift justice, and limitation on feudal payments to the Crown. One of the charter's 63 clauses tasked the barons with choosing 25 representatives to serve as a “form of security” ensuring the preservation of the rights and liberties that have been enumerated. However, it was later annulled by Pope Innocent III, leading to the First Barons' War. The then King's grandson, Edward – I, in 1297 confirmed the charter as a part of England's statute law. Prominent jurists like Sir Edward Coke used Magna Carta extensively in the early 17th century in arguing against the divine rights of kings propounded by the Stuart Monarchs.

The charter declared the sovereign to be subject to the rule of law and documented the liberties held by “free men”. The enduring influence of Magna Carta comes not from its detailed expression on feudal relationship between lord and subject, but from more-general clauses which can be used for one's own protection. The right to petition and habeas corpus and the concept of due process are all derived from Magna Carta, which also is a forerunner of Parliament, the Declaration of Independence, U.S. Constitution and the U.S. Bill of Rights.

There are four extant original copies of this charter of 1215. Two of them were held by the cathedral churches in which they were originally deposited – the Lincoln Cathedral and the Salisbury Cathedral, and two others in British Library in London.

BY RNB GLOBAL UNIVERSITY

ROLE OF JUDICIARY IN COVID-19 PANDEMIC

Judiciary is considered as the third very important pillar in our democracy. Judiciary is the guardian of an individual's rights, a protector of the constitution and a promoter of peace in the country, which helps maintain a good administration in the state.

The people of our nation are petrified to another extent. Death and destruction are all that can be seen around us. Amidst this chaos, the Indian judiciary has been a saviour of all. And amidst the chaos, where the government machinery seems dysfunctional, the High Courts and the Supreme Court of the country have step-up to restore order in the country and have made the welfare its citizen at their priority.

The Allahabad High Courts' division bench after holding that it is their constitutional duty to save the innocent and to break the chain of COVID-19 pandemic said that people are to be restricted from going outside their homes for a week. The court further stated that it'd be a mockery of the government that they had fail to counter the pandemic even after a long year of learning. The court instructed the closure of institutions and restriction on public administration in the state.

The division bench of Delhi High Court has expressed that the lives of the people take priority over everything else. The bench had issued an order to the GNCTD to file an affidavit regarding the deaths that have taken place due to the non-availability of oxygen. The bench also asked the Delhi Government to file an affidavit providing the status of liquid and gaseous oxygen re-fillers, and that the oxygen re-fillers to provide data relating the same on government portals. The Court had also directed that if any oxygen re-filler didn't provide the relevant data, a strict action would be taken against them by both the government and the court. Moreover, the court has also orally ruled that it is the duty of the state to compensate people dying due to the shortage of oxygen.

It has not gone unnoticed by anyone that the prisons of our country are overcrowded with inmates. As of April 7, the total number of inmates in three prisons, names the Tihar, Rohini and Mandoli jails were 17,285 against the total capacity 10,026. A plea was filed by Shobha Gupta before the division bench of Delhi High Court for which sought response from the Centre, the Delhi government, and the prisoner authorities to temporarily release the prisoners involved in non-heinous crimes on bail or parole in view of the unrelenting surge in COVID-19 cases. The court has issued a notice to seek response from the Ministry of Law and Health, the government, the police and the office of Lieutenant Governor and the Director General of Prison.

The Madras High Court's division bench stated that public health is of paramount importance to all. The court in the case criticized the incidents that have occurred during the elections and stated that it is distressing those Constitutional authorities must be reminded at the importance of public health. The situation is now of one's survival and protection of the citizens, and everything else comes thereafter.

Moreover, Justice DY Chandrachud while hearing the suo moto case pertaining COVID-19 issue has observed that the Central Government has a special responsibility towards the nation's capital Delhi. The Supreme Court in this issue was hearing the Solicitor General on the issue of oxygen shortage across the country. The court addressed plethora of issues which the citizens are facing due to shortage of medical facilities.

Another important issue addressed by the Supreme Court was relating the immunization policy. The court had urged centre to not leave the vaccine pricing to the manufacturers. It further said the centre to use its power under section 92 and 100 of the Patents Act for compulsory licensing of the vaccines. The Supreme Court further observed that vaccine manufacturing is publicly funded and hence are public goods and the centres must buy full doses of vaccine. It also asked the government to give an explanation to the rationale behind the different pricing regarding the vaccines which are sourced by the Union government on one end and the States on the other.

In these tough times, the courts have taken control over everything and have started to make the government accountable for their actions. The courts have today become the custodian of its citizen and have once again proved their importance in the country. They've in true sense proved that they are here to protect their people.

LEGAL MAXIMS

Actus Curiae Nemini Gravabit – An act of Court shall prejudice no man.

Ejusdem Generis – Of the same class, or same kind.

DID YOU KNOW?

Article 39A of the Constitution of India provides for free legal aid legal aid to the poor and weaker sections of the society and ensures justice for all.

PRINCIPLES OF NATURAL JUSTICE

Natural justice is an expression of English common law, and involves a procedural requirement of fairness. The word has originated from the maxim jus natural. It is also known as substantial justice or fundamental justice or Universal justice or fair play in action. The principles of natural justice are not embodied rules and are not codified. They are judge made rules and are regarded as counterpart of the American procedural due process.

There are two main principles of this justice system:

- i. 'Nemo iudex in causa sua' - No one should be made a judge in his own cause and the rule against bias.
- ii. 'Audi alteram partem' - To hear the other party or no one should be condemned unheard.

In India the principles of natural justice are embedded in Article 14 and 21 of the Constitution. The principles of natural justice have been adopted by the judiciary to protect public rights against the arbitrary decision by the administrative authorities. At all the stages of the proceedings the main motive of the principles of natural justice is to prevent miscarriage of justice. One must keep in mind that in order to hold the decision of the adjudicating authorities as valid principles of natural justice is equally important in procedure.

Paradise Lost

Paradise Lost is about Adam and Eve: how they came to be created and how they came to lose their place in the Garden of Eden, also called Paradise. It's the same story you find in the first pages of Genesis, expanded by Milton into a very long, detailed, narrative poem. It also includes the story of the origin of Satan. Originally, he was called Lucifer, an angel in heaven who led his followers in a war against God, and was ultimately sent with them to hell. Thirst for revenge led him to cause man's downfall by turning into a serpent and tempting Eve to eat the forbidden fruit.

SUMMARY

The story opens in hell, where Satan and his followers are recovering from defeat in a war they waged against God. They build a palace, called Pandemonium, where they hold council to determine whether or not to return to battle. Instead they decide to explore a new world prophesied to be created, where a safer course of revenge can be planned. Satan undertakes the mission alone. At the gate of hell, he meets his offspring, Sin and Death, who unbar the gates for him. He journeys across chaos till he sees the new universe floating near the larger globe which is heaven. God sees Satan flying towards this world and foretells the fall of man. His Son, who sits at his right hand, offers to sacrifice himself for man's salvation. Meanwhile, Satan enters the new universe. He flies to the sun, where he tricks an angel, Uriel, into showing him the way to man's home.

Satan gains entrance into the Garden of Eden, where he finds Adam and Eve and becomes jealous of them. He overhears them speak of God's commandment that they should not eat the forbidden fruit. Uriel warns Gabriel and his angels, who are guarding the gate of Paradise, of Satan's presence. Satan is apprehended by them and banished from Eden. God sends Raphael to warn Adam and Eve about Satan. Raphael recounts to them how jealousy against the Son of God led a once favored angel to wage war against God in heaven, and how the Son, Messiah, cast him and his followers into hell. He relates how the world was created so mankind could one day replace the fallen angels in heaven.

Satan returns to earth and enters a serpent. Finding Eve alone he induces her to eat the fruit of the forbidden tree. Adam, resigned to join in her fate, eats also. Their innocence is lost and they become aware of their nakedness. In shame and despair, they become hostile to each other.

The Son of God descends to earth to judge the sinners, mercifully delaying their sentence of death. Sin and Death, sensing Satan's success, build a highway to earth, their new home. Upon his return to hell, instead of a celebration of victory, Satan and his crew are turned into serpents as punishment. Adam reconciles with Eve. God sends Michael to expel the pair from Paradise, but first to reveal to Adam future events resulting from his sin. Adam is saddened by these visions, but ultimately revived by revelations of the future coming of the Savior of mankind. In sadness, mitigated with hope, Adam and Eve are sent away from the Garden of Paradise. (Source- <https://paradiselost.org/5-sum-short.html>)
