About the FDP-

- In the session opening, welcome remarks given by Dr. Manjoo Saraswat she gave the brief introduction of the theme of FDP. Discussed when to use qualitative methods, how to define a study sample, and the difference between qualitative and quantitative research methods. This workshop will also present different examples of qualitative research projects, including the research questions used, research theory used, the study sample, and the qualitative research methods used.
- Dr. Kumud Sarin has shared his important views Philosophy of Qualitative Research is "interpretive, humanistic, and naturalistic" and It places significant importance to the subjectivity. She has been of the view that Philosophy of qualitative research is "interpretive, humanistic, and naturalistic" It places significant importance to the subjectivity. The ontological assumption is that there is no single reality but encompasses multiple realities for any phenomenon.
- Dr Praveen Gupta discussed about the Focused Group Discussion (FGD) Guidelines, Applications and Practices & Design. A Focus Group Discussion (FGD) is a method for collecting qualitative data that gathers community individuals together to discuss a specific topic. Questions are open-ended, with the aim of stimulating an informal discussion with participants to understand their perceptions, beliefs, fears, questions and information needs with regards to the new coronavirus outbreak. An FGD will usually take around one hour and should include a minimum of 8 and a maximum of 12 participants.
- Dr. Manish Pandit focused on the Depth Interview (DI): Guidelines, Application and Practices & Design and Development of Interview Schedule. In-depth interviewing is a qualitative research technique that involves conducting intensive individual interviews with a small number of respondents to explore their perspectives on a particular idea, program, or situation.
- Dr. Mahendra Kr. Ghadoliya discussed about the Projective Techniques in Qualitative Research. He said that it allows respondents to project their subjective or true opinions and beliefs onto other people or even objects. The respondent's real feelings are then inferred from what s/he says about others. Deeply held attitudes and motivations are often not verbalized by respondents when questioned directly.
- Dr. Ajoy Kumar Mitra discussed about Systematic Literature Review and Bibliometric Techniques. Literature reviews play an essential role in academic research to gather existing knowledge and to examine the state of a field. However, researchers in business, management and related disciplines continue to rely on cursory and narrative reviews that lack a systematic investigation of the literature.
- Mr Suhail Tomar discussed about the rounded theory and participatory action research methods are distinct approaches to qualitative inquiry. Grounded theory has been conceptualized in constructivist terms, it has elements of positivist thinking with an image of neutral search for objective truth through rigorous data collection and analysis. The use of participatory action research (PAR) in investigations with developmental nature is increasing. This may be because of the unique combination of research and community development whose purpose is to impart social change through specific sets of action.

- Mr Akhand Pratap Singh discussed in brief about the Text Analytics and Approaches to the Analysis of qualitative research data using NVivo as a qualitative data analysis software. Qualitative data is often subjective, rich, and consists of in-depth information normally presented in the form of words.
- Dr Mahendra kr. Ghadoliya quick discussion regarding the Cluster analysis using NVivo : Socio Economic Perspectives as a qualitative data analysis software. Social media brand communities (SMBCs) have been heralded for their co-creative, participatory potential whereby consumers actively contribute to the proliferation of meaningful brand avenues in a virtuously circular relationship with brands.

Outcomes

- Faculty members were made aware about search methods such as research design, participant recruitment, in-depth interviews, focus group discussions, observations, data management, analysis and presentation. During the period, individual assignments are undertaken by participants with the aim to develop strong skills in qualitative research methods.
- Faculty members were also learned and trained about different teaching pedagogy, class room etiquettes interactive teaching mode & also learned about how to teach outcome-based learning in the classroom. It was a good & interactive session & everyone presented their respective talks in well-mannered style.
- Proper coordination was reflected in introductory & closing session Vote of thanks was extended by - Dr. Mahendra Kr. Ghadoliya (Registrar).
