Introduction

The Faculty Development Programme was organized by the SOL, RNBGU on the topic "Emerging trends of qualitative improvement in Higher Education in the context of New Education Policy, 2020". This Faculty Development Programme was one such attempt of creating a simulated atmosphere for the teachers and other faculties. The objective, in fact, was to allow the Faculty members to delve into cutting edge research, presenting groundbreaking arguments and contributing to the development of teachers in concerned discipline. It is a chance for good contributions on the subject to be published in a book form. Teacher plays varied role in society such as a mentor, a well wisher - overall the important key or a safeguard of an institution/society. Teachers are one of the pillars of the society and it would be very difficult to imagine a society without the presence of a teacher.

In this Faculty Development Programme, there were two working sessions and both were inclusive of National Education Policy, 2020.

The Programme was honored by Dr. Anil Kaushik, Dean, SOL, RNB Global University.

Working Session -1

There were four eminent speakers in the session.

Dr Amarjit Singh, Professor of History (Retd.), Kurukshetra University- Professor of Modern History with nearly 34 years of teaching and research experience. Command specialization with the study of colonialism and nationalism in South Asia, partition of India, Gandhi and Indian nationalism, Muslim politics and partition of Punjab and Sikh Studies. Authored and edited seven books in the areas of my specialization and these books have global circulation. The world renowned academic website-OCLC WORLDCAT IDENTITIES- has provided me an identification regarding the circulation of my books with the title, "Most widely held works by "Amarjit Singh". Attended a large number of national and international seminars and conferences, delivered more than 35 key-note and valedictory addresses at the different academic platforms. 20 Ph.D. Research Scholars and 65 M.Phil. Students have awarded Degrees under my supervision. He explained how technology developing every day, and teaching methodology is also changing. He suggested that a perfect teacher should have a complete knowledge of his/her subject. Teacher should be aware about the accumulative knowledge and philosophy of the subject. He suggested that more emphasis should be given to research including articles, research papers, publications etc., and punctuality. He completed his views with the theme "Teacher is the backbone of the society".

Prof. C.P. Upadhyay, Banaras Hindu University- He has completed his Ph.D. in August 2005 on "Changing Dimensions of Law relating to Medical Negligence". He was a U.G.C. Merit Scholarship holder for the duration of his LL.M and a J.R.F. for his Ph.D. He started his teaching career at Agra College, Agra in July 1996 as a Lecturer and went on to join Law School, BHU as a Reader in November 2006. He became a Professor in July 2011. Till date, 8 of his articles have been published in various national and international journals. He has chaired the technical sessions of seminars. He has also authored one book and has served as a convener of many committees. In the past, he has delivered lectures at several forums like the Academic Staff College. He gave his views that orientation programmes, refresher courses and training of the faculty is also as important as new technology. The advancement of technology has made man dependent on internet for all his needs. Internet has given man access to everything while sitting at one place. He gave more importance to personality development of a student and overall development of student and institution. He suggested that the faculty members should correct the things with their own experience.

Dr. V.N. Singh, Principal, Govt. PG College, Shri Ganganagar-He has more than 25 years of teaching experience. He has published his Articles in Various National and International Conferences and also done the book review of Dr. Anil Kaushik dean School of Law RNB Global University. He started with the John Bernard Shaw's statement. He explained about to emphasis on the carrier prospect of the students. He advised to faculty that be prepare before the lecture and pay your 100% effort. He included that It also necessary that teachers should read and recommend the students to read reference books, journals, research papers to improve their knowledge and skills.

Working Session 2

In this session, there were three eminent speakers and they have enlightened the audience with their knowledge.

Dr. Shashi Singhal, Dean, School of Commerce & Management, RNB Global University, Bikaner. She has focused on all the provisions of NEP, 2020. She has focused on why there is the need for a new education policy was felt in the country for a long time. Three National Education Policies have been introduced in India till now. These three Policies are National Education Policy 1968, National Education Policy 1986, and National Education Policy 2020. The National Education Policy 1986 was revised in the year 1992. The emphasis of previous policies on education was mainly on issues of access to education. She has mentioned that the New Education Policy has been brought in keeping with the shortcomings of the previous education policy and the current and future needs, which can lead to large-scale transformative reforms in both the school and higher education sectors. She has also discussed that in June 2017, a committee was formed under the chairmanship of former ISRO chief Dr. K. Kasturi Rangan to formulate a new education policy. The draft of the National Education Policy was presented by this committee in May 2019.

Dr. S.S. Shekhawat, Dean, School of Agriculture, RNB Global University, Bikaner. He has also shared his view on NEP, 2020. He said that to achieve full human potential, education is a fundamental requirement for the development of a just and equitable society and to promote national development. The whole world is undergoing rapid changes in the knowledge landscape. In this context, the National Education Policy, 2020 was approved by the Government of India on July 29, 2020, and the Ministry of Human Resource Development was also renamed as Ministry of Education. This new education policy will replace the 34-year-old National Education Policy 1986.

Dr. Deepali Malodiya, Associate professor, RNB Global University, Bikaner. She has discussed the basic provisions of NEP, 2020. The New National Education Policy 2020 aims at the universalization of education from pre-school to secondary level with a 100% Gross Enrollment Ratio (GER) in schooling by 2030. The New Education Policy 2020 proposes some changes, including the opening of Indian higher education in foreign universities, the introduction of a four-year multidisciplinary undergraduate program with several exit options. The objective of the New Education Policy 2020 is to make India a global knowledge superpower. The NEP 2020 policy also proposes that all universities and colleges aim to be multi-disciplinary by 2040. This policy will boost employment in the country and fundamentally change our educational system

At the end of all the sessions of this Faculty Development Programme, a vote of thanks was offered by Mr. Ashok Karnani.

Introduction

Ms. Aditi Bothra & Ms. Nancy Tak, student BBA commenced the management activity day by welcoming the, Faculty Members and Students.

Ms. Aditi Bothra, started by addressing the audience and by giving them brief about the activity that were planned for the day. There were two (2) activities planned per day.

Dr. Shashi Singhal, Dean SOCM, addressed the students from the words of encouragement.

Significance of Management Day

The goal of management activities was to creatively and entertainingly build management skills.

Activity-based learning ensures that students gain skills because they can use them in real-world circumstances and learn from their own experiences, judgements, and mistakes. It's quite difficult to improve soft skills, like communication, by, say, just reading a handbook. Although readers learn the methods, they do not actually master the skill. Students complete many game levels in an activity-based learning structure, and by doing so, the game makes sure that each level's worth of educational material is truly absorbed.

Objectives of Management Day

1. To develop soft skills.
2. To enhance the experimental learning of the students.

Learnings of Management Day

1.The management activity aimed to teach students management abilities through practical application while also emphasizing the value of soft skills.

2.Ensuring knowledge of the character traits a student should acquire to become a competent manager.

Insight on Program

Management Day was a series of activities for that was created to engage the student's fun-filled learnings. It had two activities per day i.e., Talk Rocks & Read the Mind (on 1 day), RNB Shark Tank & Film Battles (on 2 day) respectively.

Talk Rocks - This event will bring out the inner speaker in you and give you the confidence to put your thoughts in front of everyone. This event will help you to develop new ideas, defend your positions, and attack your opponent's position. The debate will be held in English language only.

Winners: Bhavna Bothra BBA III SEM & Runner up Unnati Mall BBA V SEM

Read the Mind - This event will help to evaluate how two members can effectively communicate, imagine, and innovate.

Winners: Ashish Sethia & Ravi Sethia BBA III SEM & Runner up Aditi Bothra & Nancy Tak BBA III SEM

RNB Shark Tank - Participants need to explain their product or services to the panel through presentation, advertisement, etc. stating different facts and use of such product which is unknown to people. The RNB Sharks will assess it accordingly, whoever has higher scoring will be winner. Advertisement can be done through role plays, drama, dance, video, presentation, in any different ways. The more unique you present more bid you will get.

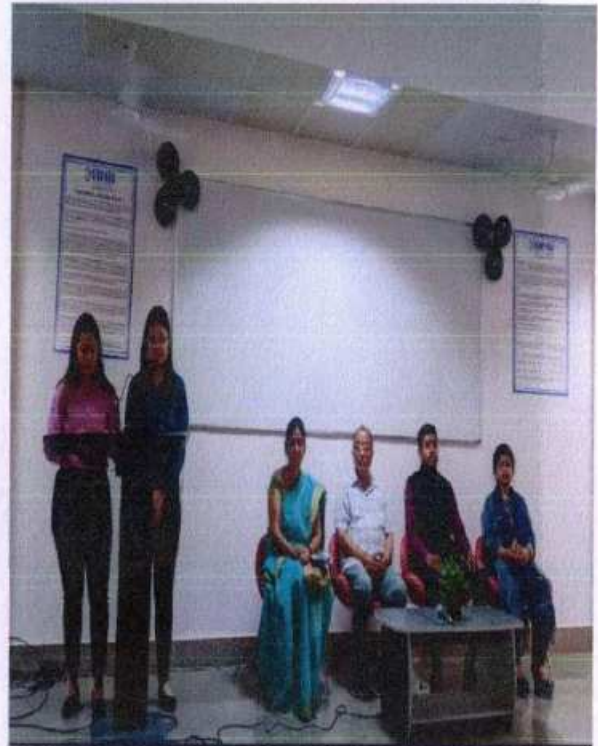

Winners: Ravi Sethia & Group BBA III SEM & Runner up Nikhlesh & Group BALLB III SEM

Conclusion:

1. Management activities ensured the growth of the whole learner.
2. For the concrete learning, several management activities are required.

INTRODUCTION

Educational trip is a vital part of the curriculum. It helps to bridge the gap between classroom and the real working in legal world. The visit to High-court provides first-hand knowledge about the various proceedings to be held in court room. The objective of this visit was to provide exposure to Law students about the knowledge of how does the hearings to be held in court room, how does the advocates argue between them by maintain the decorum of the court & also how to present themselves in front of Judges also. With this vision in mind, Educational trip was planned by the SOL department of RNB Global University-Bikaner at Mumbai from 12th April 2022 to 19th March 2022. On 13th April 2022, we visited High Court where the students attended the sessions going on in the court Room of Hon'ble CJ. Gautam and Jamdar Ji. In the visit High court Advocate Mrs. Sunanda R. Kumbhat has guided a lot & helped to attend the sessions. As being a part of educational trip student also got the opportunity to visit some other famous places of Mumbai like Essel World, Mahalaxmi Temple, Sidhivinayak Temple, Haji Ali Dargah & Historical places like Elephanta caves, Gate way of India too.

So This Trip has given them the Knowledge, Exposure & entertainment also.

About Mumbai High Court

The High Court of Bombay, which is the chartered High Court and one of the oldest High Courts in the Country. It has Appellate Jurisdiction over the State of Maharashtra, Goa, Daman & Diu and Dadra & Nagar Haveli. In addition to the Principal Seat at Bombay, it has benches at Aurangabad, Nagpur, Panaji(Goa).

The Legal history of Bombay may be said to have begun in 1661, when it became a British possession. The Town and Island of Bombay was received by the British as a part of the dowry of the Portuguese Princess Catherine of Braganza, sister of Alphonso VI, the then Portuguese Monarch, when she married King Charles II. Bombay then was little more than a small fishing village consisting of a few straggling huts of Kolis, its indigenous inhabitants; and its harbour, destined in the course of years to develop into the greatest and most important commercial seaport in the East, sheltered only a few fishing boats. Charles II transferred it to the East India Company in 1668 for an insignificant annual rent of 10 Pounds. The remote ancestry of the High Court, though interesting is not quite inspiring, until we come to the Recorder's Court established under the Charter of 1798. Confining ourselves to the British period- for there is no conceivable connection between our High Court today and such Courts of law as existed in the Portuguese, and still earlier Muslim eras- the judicial history of Bombay commences with the Charter of 1668 accompanying the transfer of Bombay from the Crown to the East India Company. In 1670, the administration of Justice was in the hands of Justices who held their sittings in the Custom Houses of Bombay and Mahim. The system of 1670 was very elementary and suffered from several drawbacks and the judicial system was too much identified with the executive government of the Island.

The main architect of the Judicial system during this period was Gerald Aungier, the Governor of Surat Factory. He has been described as the "true founder" of Bombay. He was a man with liberal ideas and believed in a impartial administration of justice without fear or favor. But he was conscious of these defects and he was himself dissatisfied with the judicial machinery. Aungier was advised by the Company to select someone knowing something of law from amongst the Company's servants in India. Aungier chose George Wilcox as the Judge and the First British Court of Justice was inaugurated in Bombay in 1672 with due pomp and ceremony. Fawcett quotes a detailed description of the opening ceremony on 8th August 1672.

Historical Place

Elephanta caves

The Elephanta Caves are located in Western India on Elephanta Island (otherwise known as the Island of Gharapuri), which features two hillocks separated by a narrow valley. The small island is dotted with numerous ancient archaeological remains that are the sole testimonies to its rich cultural past.

These archaeological remains reveal evidence of occupation from as early as the 2nd century BC. The rock-cut Elephanta Caves were constructed about the mid-5th to 6th centuries AD. The most important among the caves is the great Cave 1, which measures 39 metres from the front entrance to the back. In plan, this cave in the western hill closely resembles Dumar Lena cave at Ellora, in India. The main body of the cave, excluding the porticos on the three open sides and the back aisle, is 27 metres square and is supported by rows of six columns each.

The 7-metre-high masterpiece "Sadashiva" dominates the entrance to Cave 1. The sculpture represents three aspects of Shiva: the Creator, the Preserver, and the Destroyer, identified, respectively, with Aghora or Bhairava (left half), Taptapurusha or Mahadeva (central full face), and Vamadeva or Uma (right half). Representations of Nataraja, Yogishvara, Andhakasuravadha, Ardhanarishwara, Kalyanasundaramurti, Gangadharamurti, and Ravanaanugrahamurti are also noteworthy for their forms, dimensions, themes, representations, content, alignment and execution.

The layout of the caves, including the pillar components, the placement and division of the caves into different parts, and the provision of a sanctum or Garbhagriha of sarvatobhadra plan, are important developments in rock-cut architecture. The Elephanta Caves emerged from a long artistic tradition, but demonstrate refreshing innovation. The combination of aesthetic beauty and sculptural art, replete with respondent Rasas, reached an apogee at the Elephanta Caves. Hindu spiritualistic beliefs and symbology are finely utilized in the overall planning of the caves.

Gate Way of India

The Gateway of India is an arch monument built during the 20th century in Bombay, India. The monument was erected to commemorate the landing of King George V and Queen Mary at Apollo Bunder on their visit to India in 1911.

Built in Indo-Saracenic style, the foundation stone for the Gateway of India was laid on 31 March 1911. The structure is an arch made of basalt, 26 metres (85 feet) high. The final design of George Wittet was sanctioned in 1914 and the construction of the monument was completed in 1924. The Gateway was later used as a symbolic ceremonial entrance to India for Viceroys and the new Governors of Bombay. It served to allow entry and access to India. The Gateway of India is located on the waterfront at Apollo Bunder area at the end of Chhatrapati Shivaji Marg in South Mumbai and overlooks the Arabian Sea. The monument has also been referred to as the Taj Mahal of Mumbai, and is the city's top tourist attraction.

The tour ended with wonderful memories to cherish.

Insight of the Plantation Event

The campaign was organized in RNB Global University on 4th April, 2022 at Seminar Hall with the collaboration of Mr. Rahul Kataria (who is also an ex-student of our university) and his team. Save Soil is a global movement launched by Sadhguru, to address the soil crisis by bringing together people from around the world to stand up for Soil Health, and supporting leaders of all nations to institute national policies and actions toward increasing the organic content in cultivable Soil.

The event started with some enlightened songs, sung by Mr. Rahul Kataria and his team. After that he briefed about the topic "The Save Soil". Soil is continuously degrading due to different reasons like over fertilization, continuous cultivation, lesser use of organic products and reduction in microbial population.

After that, he shown us a video shared by respected Sadhguru Globally. This was explaining about the soil condition worldwide. If we will do same activity for years, there will be no food for human being in future. The remedy to overcome it is using more organic matter on soil to improve soil physical, chemical and biological condition. It will promote biodiversity indirectly also.

We learned so many important things from this session about soil, biodiversity, effect of pollution on it. Session was ended with again some beautiful and motivational songs. Vote of thanks was given by Miss. Pooja Gill (Student of B. Sc. Agriculture III Sem.)

About the Educational visit:

The Educational visit was organized in RNB Global University for the students of Students of B. Sc. Agri. III, B. Sc. Agri. VI and B. Sc. Biotech VI Semester. First of all we went to College of Agriculture, SKRAU; Mr. Arvind Kumar Jhahhari (Assistant Professor, Agriculture Extension SKRAU) was co-ordinator for the visit. First of all we visited the University Library and he explained us the RFID system, which is used for issuing and submission of books from the library. After that, we went to Plant Breeding and Genetics Department, where they shown us the laboratory and explained about the crossing methods and the procedure. After that we visited the horticulture lab., where they shown us some of the research samples of cauliflowers and explained that how the parameters are taken for the research purpose. Than we visited the Plant pathology lab, where they shown us some of the disease samples and posters containing causal organism, symtoms, life cycles and management of some plant diseases.

Later we went to the entomology lab, where insect collections were placed i.e. Locust, water bug, mango stem borer, tiger beetles, some moths & butterflies etc. They also explained how they are conducting research to observe the damages done by insects under different insecticides, different climates and different varieties. After that we visited Soil Science Lab., where they shown the instruments and there use for particular nutrients which are taken for research purpose. Later we visited to the farm having IFS (Integrated Farming System) having different systems like farming, fishery, poultry, livestock and organic farming at the same place; with the aim of increasing Farmer's income. We visited the department of Agronomy, Livestock & Poultry Management and Extension.

Later we visited nursery, Mushroom Cultivation (Oyster sp.), conference hall and Museum. They also told us about the Programs college is offering: four year (eight semester) B.Sc.(Ag.) programme, two year (four semester) M.Sc.(Ag.) programme in nine disciplines viz., Agronomy, Agricultural Economics, Biotechnology, Entomology, Horticulture, Plant Breeding & Genetics, Plant Pathology, Soil Science and Extension Education and a three year (six semester) Ph.D. programme in nine disciplines viz., Agronomy, Agricultural Economics, Biotechnology, Entomology, Horticulture, Plant Breeding & Genetics, Plant Pathology, Soil Science and Extension Education.

Objectives of Educational visit:

1. To provide students an exposure about the activities, different schemes; which they are studying in their curriculum.
2. To provide students an opportunity to learn the research methodology and projects of different departments.

Significance of Educational visit:

Visit help students to interact with what they are learning. The experience goes beyond reading about a concept; students are able to see it, manipulate it or participate in it physically. Students are able to see elements with their eyes rather than reading about it and believing what they are told in books or by educators. These tours provide the students with the opportunity of learning through travel, especially to places that they may not otherwise get to visit. Educational visit provide valuable educational opportunities away from the classroom, without using textbooks and other tools which are used in a normal school setting.

About the Event:- "World Water Day"-

Groundwater is invisible, but its impact is visible everywhere.
Out of sight, under our feet, groundwater is a hidden treasure that enriches our lives.

Almost all of the liquid freshwater in the world is groundwater.

As climate change gets worse, groundwater will become more and more critical.

We need to work together to sustainably manage this precious resource.

Groundwater may be out of sight, but it must not be out of mind.

World Water Day is an annual United Nations observance day held on 22 March that highlights the importance of fresh water. The day is used to advocate for the sustainable management of freshwater resources.

In 2020, the theme was "Water and Climate Change" Previous themes for the years 2016 to 2019 were "Water and Jobs", "Why waste water? "Nature for Water", and "Leaving no one behind".

World Water Day is celebrated around the world with a variety of events. These can be theatrical, musical or lobbying in nature. The day can also include campaigns to raise money for water projects. The first World Water Day, designated by the United Nations, was in 1993.

World Water Day is an international observance day. The intention is to inspire people around the world to learn more about water-related issues and to take action to make a difference. In 2020, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, there was an additional focus on hand washing and hygiene.

Relevant issues include water scarcity, water pollution, inadequate water supply, lack of sanitation, and the impacts of climate change (which is the theme of World Water Day 2020. The day brings to light the inequality of access to WASH services and the need to assure the human right to water and sanitation.

The World Water Day website announces events, activities and volunteer opportunities. In 2020, featured stories are about adapting to the water effects climate change and using water more efficiently

INTRODUCTION

RNBGU- Training and Placement Cell organizes a mask distribution drive as an extension activity aimed at promoting public health and preventing the spread of communicable diseases. The initiative, organized by RNBGU in collaboration with Rotary Club emphasized the importance of wearing masks as a simple yet effective measure to protect oneself and others.

I. Introduction:

1.1 Purpose: The primary objective of the mask distribution drive was to raise awareness about the significance of wearing masks in preventing the transmission of communicable diseases, especially in the context of the ongoing global health challenges.

1.2 Context: Given the heightened awareness surrounding the importance of personal protective measures, the distribution of masks served as a proactive step to empower the community with the means to protect themselves and contribute to public health.

II. Planning and Logistics:

2.1 Planning Committee: A dedicated planning committee, comprising volunteers and Rotary Club leaders, was formed to strategize and organize the mask distribution drive. Responsibilities were delegated to ensure smooth execution.

2.2 Resource Procurement: The procurement of masks, and hand sanitizers was facilitated through collaboration with local businesses persons.

III. Mask Distribution:

3.1 Strategic Locations: Distribution points were strategically identified in areas with high footfall, including marketplaces, community centers, and transportation hubs. This approach ensured maximum reach and accessibility for community members.

3.2 Inclusive Approach: The mask distribution drive adopted an inclusive approach, ensuring that masks were made available to individuals of all age groups.

Alongside mask distribution, volunteers demonstrate the correct way to wear and handle masks. People were educated on the importance of consistent mask usage, hand hygiene, and maintaining social distancing.

Anecdotal evidence, such as increased mask usage observed in public spaces, indicated a positive shift in community behavior towards adopting preventive measures. This observational impact is indicative of the initiative's success in fostering a culture of health-consciousness.

Conclusion:

The mask distribution drive emerged as a successful extension activity, reinforcing the importance of individual and collective responsibility in safeguarding public health. The success of this initiative underscores the potential for community-driven actions to create a positive impact on public health outcomes.

Introduction

The students of 6th Semester of RNB Global University visited the Child Court and Reformatory House on 20thDecember 2021. Juvenile courts handle the trials of children in conflict with the law. This is one of the essential legal judicial process for the children related matter in those case of where children's are involve in committing offence.

Why did the university organize the visit to Child Court and Reformatory House?

School of Law is continuously organizing various extracurricular activities like national level Moot court Competition, Mock United Session, Mock Parliament, seminars and conferences and visit to various Courts. These kinds of activities are necessary for the all over development of students. Child Court and Reformatory House visit is also one of the most essential part for practical knowledge of the Law students.

About Child Court and Reformatory House

Juvenile Justice law in India deals with the 2 categories of children - Children in conflict with law & Children in need of care and protection. The trial of those children in conflict with law aged under 18yrs fall into a special judicial area. They are handled by Juvenile Justice Boards, or Juvenile courts, which provide care and guidance to the juvenile offenders during their hearing and detention. The purpose of a separate court is that its purpose is socio-legal rehabilitation and reformation not punishment. The Reformatory House is a secured housing facilities for juvenile offenders. The primary purpose is to keep juveniles who have committed crimes away from the public. In recent years, there has been a shift in away from a punitive purpose and towards the rehabilitation of offenders.

Objectives of Child Court and Reformatory House

This visit gave our students the opportunity to interact with the juveniles who have committed crimes or have been sent to the reformatory house for some other reasons. The students also got a chance to interact with the members of CWC i.e., the Child Welfare Committee who are the final authority to dispose of cases for the care, protection, treatment, development and rehabilitation of children in need of care & protection and to provide for their basic needs and protection of human rights. The committee enriched our students on how a child friendly mechanism is being used for dealing with children among various other things.

Introduction:

RNB Global University has organized a one-day visit on 12.12.2021 to Village Dandusar, Bikaner. For better learning, time to time field visits is equally rather more important than classroom study. Though for doing anything practically, its theoretical knowledge is very necessary. keeping in view this aspect, time to time field visits is arranged for the students.

A group of 32 students from RNB Global University actively participated in all the activities of the camp which were conducted to spread awareness regarding the Basic Rights.

On 12.12.2021, students of School of law visited Village Dandusar Bikaner between 11:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. students were informed priorly & equipped with a questionnaire for better understanding of the real situation of the village with the following objectives of the Visit:

1. Issue: Lack of knowledge about the basic rights among the adults as well as children's of Village.
2. Impact: Increased Protection risks (e.g. parents pulling children from school or resorting to child marriage)
3. Action: to discuss the issue and proposed solutions with the community
4. Goal: To develop and implement new, effective interventions with the community

Activities of the camp:

In order to spread awareness amongst the students regarding issues involving the basic rights and enabling them to tackle problems existing and rising in the society, the students of the RNB Global University along with the assistance of the committee members commenced the first activity of the camp with the Teaching Programme. The students from classes 2-10 of Dandusar School were taught about the following aspects:

Fundamental Rights

Right to Information Act, 2002

Consumer Protection Act, 1986.

They were also introduced to various career options available to them. The classes were not only engaging but also very informative to the students. Later the students went on a Rally throughout the village shouting various slogans to create awareness among the villagers pertaining to Right to Education, Property Rights, Swachh Bharat etc. Through this initiative the villagers were not only

The program effectively addressed the legal issues and was marked by the excitement of the residents of the village who actively participated in activities conducted for them informed about their rights.

The inhabitants had a good understanding about consumer rights, right to information and women's right in ancestral property. The villagers have reasonable amount of knowledge regarding Lok Adalat. Even though they have knowledge about Swachh Bharat and other governmental schemes they were not making use of those schemes. Sadly, women and senior citizens have very less legal knowledge.

Conclusion:

With the collective effort of the students of RNB Global University and the villagers, the camp turned out to be fruitful and successful.

Report on Untouchability:

Introduction:

RNB Global University, Bikaner has organized a village visit to village Husangsar and students of BBA IV Sem RNB Global University has participated in it.

More than 160 million people in India are considered "Untouchable" - people tainted by their birth into a caste system that deems them impure, less than human.

Untouchable, most of the world assumes that something sin- Mahatma Gandhi, modernization, progressive legislation - has solved this ancient Indian problem or reduced it to marginal significance. There has been some progress, but for each of the past several years, official figures on violent attacks against Untouchables have routinely exceeded 10,000 cases. Indian human rights workers report that most cases go unrecorded.

Background: About Husangsar:

Husangsar village is located in Bikaner tehsil of Bikaner district in Rajasthan, India. It is situated 20km away from Bikaner, which is both district & sub-district headquarter of Husangsar village. As per 2009 stats, Husangsar village is also a gram panchayat. The total geographical area of village is 1886 hectares. Husangsar has a total population of 1,591 peoples, out of which male population is 829 while female population is 762. Literacy rate of husangsar village is 43.68% out of which 52.47% males and 34.12% females are literate. There are about 247 houses in husangsar village.

About the Visit:

The Village Visit Programme is a very important component of the Course, wherein the field visit is taken out of the confines of the classrooms and are exposed to the realities and complexities of rural life.

Objectives:

1. Assess the socio-economic-political dynamics that exist in a village;
2. Understand and analyse the problems faced by the rural people especially the marginalized sections such as Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, physically challenged, old, poor, landless and women, etc.;

Contact with the People

The first activity which has undertaken on arrival in the village is to establish contact with the people. The usual persons to be contacted are the elected people such as village Pradhan, the school teacher, the office bearers of the Panchayat, the NGO representatives, the village shopkeeper, the village doctor/ the RMP, the serving and retired government personnel, the Anganwadi Sevika, etc. These persons represent the formal power structure of the rural society.

Theories of modern villagers are often more hazy, but belief in the innately and legitimately inferior status of Untouchables is no less strong; similar attitudes often surface among sophisticated urbanites. During recent riots against special access rules for Untouchables to professional schools, a leading sociologist wrote angrily of cases in which qualified Untouchable applicants to medical schools were told to go back to being sweepers.

The cultural denigration of Untouchables has long had important economic implications. Untouchability, like racism in the Western world, has served to rationalize and maintain a vast pool of cheap labor. It has also limited competition for those goods and positions that have defined power and prestige, whatever these have been over the years - land, the priesthood, modern white-collar professions. In protesting their status. Untouchables challenge the high degree of self-interest and deeply ingrained social beliefs that permeate Hindu society. Increasingly, the Untouchables have insisted on rising above this institution.

Conclusion:

Overall, it can be said that the visit was an exceptionally viable and instructing one, through really good assistance by the professors and village heads. The students learnt plenty about the various hardships confronted and the fact that resources are, indeed scarce. Thus, it will be really helpful if the necessary aid is provided to these villagers to help them come out of their struggles and lead, at least, a decent life with lesser shortcomings.

Report on: The cleanliness drive cum awareness programme

Introduction:

The cleanliness drive cum awareness programme was organized by the SOCM, RNB Global University in the Village Husangsar on 20th Nov 2021 at 10 am. (one of the adopted villages by RNB Global University). Under this programme, the SOCM students of RNB Global University participated in the cleanliness activity under the supervision of mentor Mr. Sandeep Saxena.

The Husangsar village Panchayat Sarpanch, actively participated in the drive and thanked RNB Global University for initiating this idea. On behalf of Village Panchayat he provided the gloves, garbage collection bags and the masks to the participants in the drive. The entire stretch of Husangsar village was cleaned by the students of RNB Global University, and all the collected waste (plastic, cloths, cans, bottles, etc) in the village was handed over to the waste collection vehicle arranged by the Sarpanch.

About the Visit:

The Husangsar Village is mainly dependent on the agriculture activity. It is getting all the basic needs, facility and technology like, electricity, communication, transport system from by the collective efforts of Rajasthan government and local authorities. The people of these villages are very hardworking and relying mainly on the agriculture activity. Still majority family are not able to avail the benefit of the toilet facility. In connection with this we have motivated to pursue our swachh bharat camp.

Learning Outcomes:

The students from our college have surveyed around 45 families for utilization of toilets at home or public place constructed by the government, NGO or by any other institutions. Most of people were aware of toilets and they have intended to use it. Some of people family had not possessed or constructed the toilets, are advised to prepare the toilets. Student have given full efforts to make people aware about the benefit of the toilet utilization. The students have carried this activity by surveying and door to door campaign. Students have learnt the culture and conventional ideology of their living cost and life of village. They have created awareness of toilet among the people.

Conclusion:

Forty students of SOCM took part in the drive. Five teachers led and guided them. With brooms, buckets, bleaching powder they cleaned both the sides of the road and in the village also they continued their cleaning. Some local people also joined the students and teachers. They worked for more than four hours. Watching the clean surroundings, the local people became so happy that they gave words to maintain such kind of cleanliness all the time of the year. The teachers also told them about the benefits of cleanliness. At the end of the day the students became very tired, but one could find beautiful smiles on their faces as they felt proud to do something positive with their own hands for society. The participating teachers expressed their opinion about the drive that with such kind of involvements, students' mental growth would be healthy.

Subject	Stop Dengue Now - Social Awareness Campaign BLOCK

Dear Students,

Bikaner is in the grip of Dengue and to raise awareness in and around city we have started a social media campaign. The inspiration of this email came from our faculty Mr. Ashok Prem who coined the hashtag #IWillDoForMyCity which we are also using in the campaign.

As such and on his recommendations, we request all faculty and admin staff to:

1. Uploading and sharing the attached creative in your WhatsApp / fb / Instagram accounts. You can also like and share the post via the below post links:

<https://www.facebook.com/1490049694616887/posts/3034344516854056/?d=n>

https://www.instagram.com/p/CU7Tz4wr8nG/?utm_source=ig_web_button_share_sheet

You can also make your own creative and share with #DengueWarrior

2. Change your profile pic in WhatsApp for 2-3 days with Dengue Warrior Creative. Post in your story also if possible. Creative is attached.
3. Share your inspection selfie in your social accounts. Don't forget to tag with #DengueWarrior. University social media club will choose 3 students whose inspection selfie is most forwarded and award them #DengueWarrior E-Certificate for their active participation in the campaign. Dengue Inspection selfie should include doing any of the 5 activities as highlighted in our STOP Dengue Campaign creative posted on university social media handles.
4. Contact 5 people from your friend list or neighbor's or your family doctor or ward member or may be your favorite schoolteacher. Request them to be a part of this campaign by asking them to share and post the campaign in their what's app or fb/Instagram accounts with #DengueWarrior. University social media club will choose 3 students who will motivate the most friends and award them #DengueWarrior E-Certificate for their active participation in the campaign. Students will need to submit the screenshot of accounts of such friends who have shared the STOP DENGUE NOW creative on this social accounts.

We do hope that with the students support we can make this awareness campaign a success and stop the spread of dengue in our city.

Introduction

The National Seminar is organized by the SOL, RNBGU on the topic "Constitutional Values in the Contemporary Indian Politics". A Constitution may be written or unwritten, but it contains fundamental laws of the land. It is the supreme and ultimate authority. Any decision or action which is not in accordance with it will be unconstitutional and unlawful. A Constitution also lays down limits on the power of the government to avoid abuse of authority. Moreover, it is not a static but a living document, because it needs to be amended as and when required to keep it updated. Its flexibility enables it to change according to changing aspirations of the people, the needs of the time and the changes taking place in society. The Constitution of any country serves several purposes. It lays down certain ideals that form the basis of the kind of country that we as citizens aspire to live in. A country is usually made up of different communities of people who share certain beliefs, but may not necessarily agree on all issues. A Constitution helps serve as a set of principles, rules and procedures on which there is a consensus. These form the basis according to which the people want the country to be governed and the society to move on. This includes not only an agreement on the type of government but also on certain ideals that the country should uphold. The Indian Constitution has certain core constitutional values that constitute its spirit and are expressed in various articles and provisions. But do you know what is the meaning of the word, 'value'? You may immediately say that truth, non-violence, peace, cooperation, honesty, respect and kindness are values, and you may continue to count many such values. In fact, in a layman's understanding, value is that which is very essential or 'worth having and observing' for the existence of human society as an entity. The Indian Constitution contains all such values, the values that are the universal, human and democratic of the modern age.

WORKING SESSION 1 – " Constitution and Judiciary"

Speaker 1 – Mrs. S.P. Vidyassri

Assistant Professor, Saveetha School of Law, SIMATS Topic

- Empirical study on frequent promulgation of ordinance is a threat to parliament democracy

Mrs. S.P. Vidyassri said that Re-proclamation of ordinance is a misrepresentation on the Constitution and, the Supreme Court has put aside a lot of ordinances passed by the Bihar government somewhere in the year of 1989 and 1992. Re-promulgation of ordinance is a force on the Constitution and a disruption of majority rule administrative procedures, Re-promulgation proposes that notwithstanding with the session of the governing authorities, a new exercise is to proclaim the ordinance is being turned to exercise of the way that the legislative assembly which was in ownership of a recently declared ordinance has not changed over its arrangements into a consistently sanctioned ordinance.

Speaker 2- Aashish Taank

JRF, Department of Law, Panjab University

Topic - Rule of Law – Developments and Perspective in Indian Context

Aashish Taank stated that the Concept of Rule of law has attained different meanings in different Legal Systems due to variance in uniquely situated historical, social, traditional, economic, political and demographical factors of each nation. For India, rule of law has been an established pre-requisite for sustenance of a just, humane, tolerant, equitable society. Even our freedom struggle was predominantly at core a resurgence of Indians for attaining for themselves a self-rule opposed to arbitrary and oppressive colonial administration.

Speaker 3 - Dr Vinay Prahaladbhai Solanki

Assistant Professor, Nanavati Law college, Ahmedabad

Topic - Constitution and Constitutionalism

Dr Vinay Prahaladbhai Solanki explained that It is one of the celebrated maxims of political science that there can be no society without a state, and there can be no state without a constitution. The word 'constitution' is used mainly in many senses—constitution of a body, constitution of trade union, constitution of political party etc. In a political sense, it signifies the constitution of the state. Now the term has attained a normative connotation and has become another term for a 'democratic political order.' Every state must have constitution of its own and that its government must be organised and conducted according to the rules of the constitution so that the people must have a rule of law, it constitutes the case of constitutionalism.

Speaker 4 – Dr. Gurmeet Kaur

Assistant Professor, SOL, IGNOU

Topic - Socialism, its Constitutional Value, and Interpretation by Judiciary

Socialism though cannot be defined precisely but as a system seems to emphasis on the welfare and achieving the goal of equality among the people with basic aim is to remove class exploitation and disparities. It premises on the concept of cooperation to ensure economic and political equality where means of production, wealth, profits are equally distributed, exchanged are owned and regulated by the welfare state for overall development of society negating the concept of individual or competition. The present research paper focuses on the concept of socialism, its constitutional value, its ideology and impact in the context of India. The concept of socialism is also discussed in the light of interpretation by the judiciary.
