Introduction to the Campaign

In the bustling city of Bikaner, where the vibrant colors of its markets intermingle with the cacophony of daily life, We embarked on a mission that transcended the ordinary. Our campaign, aptly titled "Clean and Green: Advocating for Cleanliness, Hygiene, and Recycling Awareness," was more than just an academic project; it was a testament to our unwavering commitment to fostering positive change within our community. As final semester students of BBA at RNB Global University, we recognized the pressing need for heightened awareness and action regarding cleanliness, personal hygiene, and recycling practices, particularly within the bustling ecosystem of local businesses.

The genesis of our campaign can be traced back to a shared passion for environmental sustainability and a desire to make a tangible difference in the world around them. Inspired by the transformative potential of grassroots activism, we envisioned a campaign that would not only raise awareness but also inspire meaningful action among the residents of Bikaner. We understood that at the heart of any successful advocacy effort lies the power of education, empowerment, and collaboration.

With a clear vision in mind, we outlined the objectives of our advocacy endeavour. Our primary goal was to engage with the local business community in Bikaner, recognizing the pivotal role that businesses play in shaping the social and environmental fabric of the city. Our aimed to foster a culture of environmental responsibility and stewardship among shop owners and stallholders, empowering them with the knowledge and resources necessary to adopt sustainable practices within our establishments.

The timing of our campaign was strategic, coinciding with a growing global awareness of the interconnected challenges posed by environmental degradation and climate change. Against this backdrop, we saw an opportunity to leverage our platform as students and advocates to effect meaningful change at the grassroots level. By focusing our efforts on engaging with businesses, they aimed to catalyse a ripple effect that would extend beyond individual establishments, permeating the broader community and fostering a collective ethos of sustainability.

Central to the success of our campaign was the recognition of the inherent interconnectedness of cleanliness, personal hygiene, and recycling practices. We understood that these three pillars are not disparate concepts but rather integral components of a holistic approach to environmental sustainability. By promoting awareness and action across these interconnected domains, they sought to address root causes of environmental degradation and promote a more holistic understanding of sustainability among the residents of Bikaner.

We approached our campaign with a spirit of inclusivity and collaboration. We recognized that sustainable change requires the collective efforts of individuals, businesses, and communities working together towards shared goals.

Objectives of the Advocacy Effort

In conceiving our advocacy effort titled "Clean and Green: Advocating for Cleanliness, Hygiene, and Recycling Awareness," we were driven by a set of clear and ambitious objectives aimed at catalysing meaningful change within the business community of Bikaner. At the forefront of our mission was the recognition of the pivotal role that businesses play in shaping the social and environmental landscape of our city. With this in mind, we outlined a multifaceted approach designed to engage, educate, and empower shop owners and stallholders towards adopting sustainable practices within their establishments.

First and foremost, our primary objective was to raise awareness among the local business community in Bikaner about the critical importance of cleanliness, personal hygiene, and recycling practices. We understood that many businesses may not fully grasp the direct impact that their operations can have on the environment and public health. Therefore, our aim was to bridge this gap in understanding by providing clear and compelling information about the interconnectedness of these issues and their broader implications for our community.

In addition to raising awareness, we sought to educate and empower shop owners with the knowledge and resources necessary to implement sustainable practices within their establishments. We recognized that while many businesses may express a willingness to embrace sustainability, they may lack the practical know-how or guidance to translate this intention into action. As such, we endeavoured to equip them with practical tips, tools, and strategies for integrating sustainable practices into their day-to-day operations, from waste management to energy conservation and beyond.

Our advocacy effort aimed to foster a culture of environmental responsibility and stewardship within the local business community. We recognized that individual businesses have the potential to serve as powerful agents of change, capable of influencing consumer behaviour, industry norms, and community values. By inspiring shop owners to take proactive steps towards sustainability, we aimed to catalyse a ripple effect that would extend beyond individual establishments, permeating the broader business ecosystem of Bikaner. Through collaborative efforts, we aimed to amplify the reach and impact of our advocacy initiatives, while also fostering a sense of collective ownership and responsibility towards building a cleaner, greener future for Bikaner.

Methodology for Engaging with the Community

Our methodology for engaging with the business community in Bikaner was informed by a strategic and multifaceted approach designed to foster meaningful dialogue, build trust, and inspire action towards sustainability. Recognizing the diverse array of businesses operating within our city, ranging from small family owned shops to larger commercial establishments, we tailored our approach to accommodate the unique needs, challenges, and opportunities present within each sector.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Central to our methodology was the principle of face-to-face engagement. We understood the importance of building personal connections and establishing rapport with shop owners and stallholders, as these relationships formed the foundation upon which our advocacy efforts were built. Armed with enthusiasm, educational materials, and a genuine desire to effect positive change, we embarked on a journey across Bikaner, visiting numerous establishments to initiate conversations about the importance of cleanliness, personal hygiene, and recycling practices.

Our approach to face-to-face engagement was characterized by openness, empathy, and a willingness to listen. We recognized that for many shop owners, sustainability may not be a top priority or may be perceived as an abstract concept disconnected from their day-to-day operations. Therefore, we made a concerted effort to meet them where they were, engaging in meaningful conversations that addressed their concerns, answered their questions, and highlighted the tangible benefits of embracing sustainable practices.

We recognized the importance of tailoring our messaging and approach to resonate with the unique characteristics and needs of different businesses. For example, we may have employed different strategies when engaging with a small family-owned grocery store versus a larger retail chain. By adopting a flexible and adaptive approach, we were able to effectively communicate our key messages in a manner that was relevant and accessible to each audience.

In addition to face-to-face engagement, we utilized various educational outreach strategies to reinforce our advocacy efforts and extend our reach within the business community. We developed informative materials, including pamphlets, posters, and informational guides, that served as valuable resources for shop owners seeking practical tips and guidance on implementing sustainable practices within their establishments. These materials not only provided information but also served as tangible reminders of our commitment to supporting businesses on their sustainability journey.

We recognized the importance of leveraging digital communication channels to complement our in-person engagements and amplify our message within the business community. Through social media platforms, email newsletters, and other online channels, we shared updates, educational content, and success stories from our advocacy efforts, reaching a broader audience and fostering a sense of community and collaboration among businesses in Bikaner.

Face-to-Face Engagement

Our advocacy efforts in Bikaner were anchored by face-to-face engagement, which we viewed as the cornerstone of building personal connections, fostering trust, and inspiring meaningful change within the local business community. Recognizing the diverse array of businesses operating within our city, from small family-owned shops to larger commercial establishments, we embarked on a journey to engage with shop owners and stallholders directly, initiating conversations about the importance of cleanliness, personal hygiene, and recycling practices.

Approaching each interaction with enthusiasm, empathy, and a genuine desire to effect positive change, we embarked on a series of visits to various establishments across

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Bikaner. From bustling marketplaces to quiet neighbourhood shops, we met shop owners where they were, engaging in open and honest conversations that addressed their concerns, answered their questions, and highlighted the tangible benefits of embracing sustainable practices.

Our approach to face-to-face engagement was characterized by its personalized nature. We understood that each business had its own unique set of challenges, opportunities, and priorities, and we tailored our messaging and approach accordingly. For example, when engaging with a small family-owned grocery store, we may have focused on practical tips for reducing food waste and promoting responsible packaging, whereas when speaking with a larger retail chain, we may have emphasized the potential cost savings associated with energy-efficient practices and waste reduction initiatives.

We recognized the importance of active listening in building trust and rapport with shop owners. Rather than simply delivering a one-way message, we sought to create a dialogue that allowed for mutual understanding and collaboration. We listened attentively to the concerns and perspectives of shop owners, acknowledging the unique challenges they faced and offering practical solutions and resources to address them.

One of the key strengths of our face-to-face engagement approach was its ability to foster a sense of community and shared purpose among shop owners. By meeting them on their own turf and engaging in genuine conversations about issues that mattered to them, we were able to break down barriers, build trust, and establish ourselves as trusted allies in their journey towards sustainability.

Our face-to-face engagements served as valuable opportunities for education and empowerment. We provided shop owners with practical tips, tools, and resources for implementing sustainable practices within their establishments, from simple waste management strategies to more advanced energy-saving techniques. By empowering them with the knowledge and resources necessary to take action, we sought to inspire a sense of ownership and responsibility towards building a cleaner, greener future for Bikaner.

In addition to providing practical guidance, and benefits of embracing sustainability. By showcasing real-world our face-to-face engagements also served as platforms for inspiration and motivation. We shared success stories and best practices from other businesses that had successfully implemented sustainable initiatives, demonstrating the feasibility examples of positive change, we aimed to inspire shop owners to see themselves as part of a larger movement towards environmental responsibility.

Practical Tips and Guidance for Sustainable Practices

In our advocacy efforts in Bikaner, one of our primary objectives was to empower businesses with practical tips and guidance for implementing sustainable practices within their establishments. We recognized that while many shop owners expressed a willingness to embrace sustainability, they often lacked the knowledge and resources necessary to translate this intention into action. Therefore, we endeavoured to fill this gap by providing clear, actionable advice that addressed the specific needs and circumstances of businesses in our community.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

One of the key areas of focus for our practical guidance was waste management. We understood that waste generation is a significant concern for businesses of all sizes and sectors, contributing to environmental pollution and resource depletion. Therefore, we provided shop owners with practical tips for reducing waste, such as implementing recycling programs, reducing packaging waste, and composting organic materials. We also encouraged businesses to explore opportunities for waste reduction through product redesign, process optimization, and supplier engagement, emphasizing the importance of taking a holistic approach to waste management.

We provided guidance on energy conservation techniques that could help businesses reduce their carbon footprint and lower their operating costs. This included simple strategies such as turning off lights and equipment when not in use, installing energy-efficient lighting and appliances, and optimizing heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) systems for maximum efficiency. We also encouraged businesses to explore renewable energy options, such as solar panels and wind turbines, as a way to further reduce their reliance on fossil fuels and mitigate their environmental impact.

In addition to waste management and energy conservation, we offered practical advice on sustainable sourcing and procurement practices. We encouraged businesses to prioritize suppliers and products that were environmentally responsible, ethically sourced, and socially responsible. This included sourcing products made from recycled materials, supporting local artisans and producers, and choosing suppliers with strong environmental and social performance records. By aligning their procurement practices with sustainability principles, businesses could not only reduce their environmental impact but also enhance their brand reputation and appeal to socially conscious consumers.

We provided guidance on sustainable packaging solutions that could help businesses reduce their environmental footprint while also enhancing their brand image. This included choosing packaging materials that were recyclable, compostable, or biodegradable, as well as minimizing packaging waste through thoughtful design and optimization. We also encouraged businesses to explore innovative packaging alternatives, such as reusable containers and packaging-free options, as a way to further reduce their environmental impact and differentiate themselves in the marketplace.

Another area of focus for our practical guidance was water conservation techniques. We provided businesses with tips for reducing water usage, such as installing water-efficient fixtures and appliances, repairing leaks and drips promptly, and implementing water-saving practices in daily operations. We also encouraged businesses to explore opportunities for water reuse and recycling, such as capturing rainwater for irrigation or using graywater systems to recycle wastewater for non-potable uses. By implementing these water-saving measures, businesses could not only reduce their water bills but also contribute to water conservation efforts and protect this precious natural resource.

Challenges and Opportunities Encountered

Throughout our advocacy journey in Bikaner, we encountered a myriad of challenges and opportunities that shaped our approach, tested our resilience, and ultimately strengthened our commitment to fostering positive change within the local business community. From navigating cultural nuances to overcoming logistical hurdles, each challenge presented us with an opportunity to learn, grow, and adapt our strategies to better serve our mission.

One of the primary challenges we faced was the initial reluctance or scepticism from some shop owners towards embracing sustainability. In a city where traditional practices and routines are deeply ingrained, convincing businesses to adopt new approaches can be met with resistance. Some shop owners viewed sustainability as an abstract concept disconnected from their daily operations, while others expressed concerns about the perceived costs or complexities associated with implementing sustainable practices. Addressing these concerns required patience, empathy, and a willingness to meet shop owners where they were, acknowledging their perspectives and offering practical solutions that aligned with their needs and priorities.

Logistical challenges also presented obstacles to our advocacy efforts. Navigating the diverse landscape of Bikaner, from bustling marketplaces to remote neighbourhoods, required careful planning and coordination. Limited resources, including time and transportation, posed constraints on the reach and frequency of our engagements. Additionally, language barriers presented communication challenges, particularly when engaging with shop owners who spoke languages other than Hindi or English. Overcoming these logistical hurdles required creativity, resourcefulness, and a willingness to adapt our strategies to accommodate the diverse needs of our target audience.

Cultural factors and social norms influenced the receptiveness of shop owners towards sustainability initiatives. In a society where hierarchical structures and traditional values hold sway, challenging the status quo can be met with resistance or scepticism. Additionally, cultural perceptions of cleanliness, hygiene, and waste management may vary widely, making it challenging to convey the importance of sustainable practices within a culturally relevant context. Addressing these cultural nuances required sensitivity, cultural competence, and a deep understanding of the local context in which we were operating.

However, amidst these challenges, we also encountered numerous opportunities for growth, collaboration, and impact. One such opportunity was the strong sense of community and shared purpose that emerged through our advocacy efforts. As we engaged with shop owners and stallholders across Bikaner, we witnessed a growing sense of camaraderie and solidarity among businesses committed to embracing sustainability. This sense of community served as a powerful catalyst for collective action, inspiring shop owners to support one another, share resources, and collaborate on shared goals.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

We found that our advocacy efforts sparked broader conversations and raised awareness about sustainability within the community. Through our engagements with shop owners, we had the opportunity to reach a wider audience, including customers, residents, and other stakeholders, who may not have been directly involved in our advocacy efforts. By amplifying our message through word of mouth, social media, and other channels, we were able to extend our reach and influence, inspiring individuals and businesses alike to take action towards a cleaner, greener future.

Conclusion: Lessons Learnt and Future Directions

As we reflect on our advocacy efforts in Bikaner, advocating for cleanliness, hygiene, and recycling awareness among the local business community, we draw valuable lessons learned and chart a course for future directions. Our journey has been one of discovery, collaboration, and growth, and we are grateful for the opportunity to have made a positive impact on our community.

First and foremost, our experience has reinforced the importance of grassroots advocacy in driving meaningful change. By engaging directly with shop owners and stallholders, we were able to build personal connections, foster trust, and inspire action towards sustainability. We learned that change begins at the grassroots level, with individuals and communities taking ownership of the issues that matter most to them. Moving forward, we are committed to continuing our grassroots advocacy efforts and empowering others to become agents of change within their own communities.

Our advocacy efforts have demonstrated the importance of innovation and adaptation in addressing complex challenges. Throughout our journey, we encountered obstacles and setbacks, but we remained resilient and adaptable in the face of adversity. We learned that by embracing innovation and creativity, we can find new and innovative solutions to old problems. Looking ahead, we are excited to continue pushing the boundaries of what is possible and exploring new ways to advance sustainability within our community.

As we look to the future, we are filled with hope and optimism for what lies ahead. Our advocacy efforts have laid the groundwork for a cleaner, greener future in Bikaner, and we are confident that our community will continue to build upon this foundation in the years to come. Moving forward, we are committed to continuing our advocacy efforts, empowering others to become champions of sustainability, and working together towards a common vision of a more sustainable and prosperous future for all.

About the Event

Students of BBALLB, RNB Global University, conducted a tree plantation drive on 18th April 2024 in between 01.30 am to 02.00 pm. The main objectives of this program was to increase the green culture of the nation. There are numerous reasons why the entire process of plantation is crucial for the environment. A tree is the best friend of man on earth." When we use trees respectfully and economically, we have one of the greatest resources on earth. Trees are rightfully called the 'lungs of the earth.' Life on earth would cease to exist in the absence of trees. Trees are responsible for sustaining the environment in several ways. Activity was done on the topic "PRESERVING MOTHER EARTH". Purpose of the activity was to make more and more citizens aware about the importance of trees and plants with all care and respect.

Personal reflections on the experience:-

"Deep within each of us lies the potent ability to reshape the world around us. We have inherited this planet with its many resources, from our ancestors. The onus rests on us to protect the earth's fragile ecosystem, so that future generations have a place they can call home. It is indeed ironic that despite being at the top of the food chain Homo Sapiens are intent on destroying the very things that guarantee their survival. However, there is a silver lining. The situation can be remedied by restoring the earth's green cover and taking concrete measures to reduce carbon emissions. Trees are the most benevolent givers in nature. They play an extremely important role in giving life and sustaining it, as a whole, as well as maintaining a balance in the eco-system. This makes it crucial for us to understand how significant trees are to our life on earth and what we can do to counter the problem of their depleting numbers and all the additional challenges that come with it.

Trees play an extremely important part in regulating the temperature and making the weather conditions conducive to rainfall. They take in carbon dioxide from the air, thereby purifying it, and release oxygen, which is essential to the sustenance of life. Moreover, they also provide us with wood, food, fuel, paper, etc, which are an important part of our daily lives. Furthermore, they are home to all kinds of animals and birds as well.

Plant a tree today for a better tomorrow." The significance of forest cover and tree plantation cannot be stressed upon enough, and their importance has only increased in the present scenario, with global warming and climate change being very real threats to our planet and all its inhabitants. Tree plantation refers to the transplantation of saplings or sowing of seeds in order to facilitate green cover and promote afforestation. Tree plantation can be a very fulfilling and fruitful activity.

Not only is it good for the environment and the earth, but it is also a way in which you can help in making the world a better and cleaner place to live in, as trees help to bring down the levels of pollution. Trees are the embodiment of life itself. Not only do they give life, but they also sustain it as well by proving us and all other living creatures with two things that are essential for the sustenance of life, which are oxygen and food. Moreover, they also provide shelter and food to birds and animals.

In conclusion, it would not be wrong to say that the reason we are facing the climate change problem today is that we could not and did not realize the value of trees and appreciate them for everything they do, yesterday. But it is never too late to make amends. We can make things better by planting more trees and facilitating afforestation. We have done nothing but take from nature for so long. It is high time we gave back to the earth and there is no time like the present to do a good deed and make the earth a clean, green, and beautiful place to live in once again.

About Visit:

The Regional Forensic Science Lab, Bikaner Visit was very important for a law student. Through this visit law students know the practical knowledge of forensic evidence. Ever wondered how they solve crimes on TV shows? Today, we get to find out for real! We're on a field trip to the Regional Forensic Science Lab here in Bikaner. We're going to get a behind-the-scenes look at how science helps solve real-life mysteries. There were five units of FSL. i.e. Biology, Physics, Ballistics, Toxicology, and Serology. All officers helped our students explain every topic very well and answered all queries.

The object of Visit.

The objective of the visit to the Regional Forensic Science Lab (FSL) and its various specialized units, including Biology, Physics, Ballistics, Toxicology, and Serology, is multifaceted. Firstly, it aims to provide an in-depth understanding of the advanced techniques and methodologies employed in each unit for the analysis of evidence collected from crime scenes. This includes DNA profiling in Biology, trajectory analysis in Ballistics, and chemical analysis in Toxicology, among others. Secondly, the visit serves to illustrate the interdisciplinary nature of forensic science, emphasizing the collaboration between different scientific disciplines in solving crimes.

Here, we'll explore different units that utilize various scientific disciplines to analyze evidence. These units include:

Biology: This section deals with the analysis of biological materials like blood, tissue, and hair. They use techniques to identify individuals, determine the cause of death, and reconstruct events.

Physics: Inside the physics unit, we'll see how the laws of science help solve crimes. They analyze things like skid marks at accident scenes to determine speed and vehicle behavior. In fire cases, they might examine debris patterns to understand the fire's origin and spread. Toxicology: Here, scientists examine bodily fluids and tissues to detect the presence of drugs, poisons, and other toxins. This helps determine if someone was poisoned or under the influence.

Ballistics: This unit focuses on firearms and ammunition. They analyze bullets, casings, and gunshot residue to link a weapon to a crime scene or identify the type of firearm used. (Physics principles like motion and force come into play here)

Serology: This branch deals with the analysis of bodily fluids like blood, semen, and saliva. They use these analyses to identify suspects and reconstruct events at a crime scene.

Numerous Benefits of Visit:

Stepping into the Regional Forensic Science Lab, Bikaner isn't just a field trip, it's a journey into the heart of real-life crime solving! And it's the journey of an extension lecturer. Here, we'll witness science transform from textbooks into powerful tools used in various units:

- Biology: Imagine analyzing blood spatter to reconstruct a crime scene or identifying a suspect through hair samples. Biology unlocks the secrets hidden in bodily fluids and tissues.
- Toxicology: Ever wondered how they detect traces of poison? Toxicology sheds light on the presence of drugs and toxins, helping determine cause of death or impairment.
- Ballistics: Ballistics puts the physics of motion and force to work. By examining bullets and casings, they can link a weapon to a crime scene and reconstruct shooting events.
- Serology: Blood, semen, and saliva hold valuable clues. Serology helps identify suspects by analyzing the bodily fluids left at crime scenes.
- Physics Unit: Beyond ballistics, physics plays a crucial role in accident reconstruction. By analyzing skid marks and debris patterns from fires, they can understand vehicle behavior and fire origin.

Extension Lectures by Various officers of Regional FSL, Bikaner

1. Dr. V. Venkatesh, Additional Director, Regional FSL, Bikaner

Dr. V. Venkatesh delivered his lecture on the Importance of FSL, he told us about the various units of the Regional Forensic Science Lab, Bikaner. These units are crucial for conducting comprehensive forensic analyses and investigations. He also highlighted the significance of serology. Because Serology head Dr. Hemraj Verma, Assistant Director, (Serology) was on Election duty, therefore Dr. V. Venkatesh, Additional Director (Regional FSL) talked about Serology. Serology holds a significant position within our FSL due to its crucial role in analyzing bodily fluids such as blood, semen, and saliva. This unit is instrumental in identifying potential suspects, determining the presence of biological substances at crime scenes, and providing critical evidence for criminal investigations.

He specially delivered his lecture on the "Nature of Biological Examine" and said that biological examination encompasses a wide range of studies and analyses focused on living organisms, their structure, function, behavior, and interactions with the environment. The nature of biological examination can vary depending on the specific field of study or research objective. Here are some key aspects:

A. Taxonomy and Classification: Biological examination often involves the identification, classification, and naming of organisms based on their morphological, physiological, and genetic characteristics. This involves understanding the diversity of life and how different organisms are related to each other.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

B. Anatomy and Physiology: Biological examination includes the study of the structure and function of organisms at various levels of organization, from cells to tissues, organs, organ systems, and whole organisms. This involves understanding how different parts of an organism work together to carry out essential functions.

C. Genetics and Molecular Biology: Biological examination involves investigating the genetic material and molecular processes that underlie biological phenomena. This includes studying DNA, genes, gene expression, genetic variation, and heredity.

D. Ecology and Environmental Biology: Biological examination also involves studying the interactions between organisms and their environment. This includes understanding ecosystems, populations, communities, and the flow of energy and nutrients through ecological systems.

E. Evolutionary Biology: Biological examination includes studying the processes of evolution and how organisms have changed over time. This involves understanding mechanisms such as natural selection, genetic drift, and speciation.

F. Behavioral Biology: Biological examination encompasses the study of animal behavior, including social behavior, mating behavior, foraging behavior, and communication. This involves understanding how behavior is influenced by genetics, environment, and evolutionary history.

G. Microbiology and Immunology: Biological examination involves the study of microorganisms such as bacteria, viruses, fungi, and protists, as well as the immune system's response to pathogens. This includes understanding infectious diseases, immunity, and the role of microorganisms in ecosystems and biogeochemical cycles.

H. Biotechnology and Biomedical Sciences: Biological examination encompasses the application of biological principles and techniques to practical applications, such as medicine, agriculture, and industry. This includes areas such as genetic engineering, biomedicine, bioinformatics, and bioprocessing.

Overall, biological examination is a multifaceted field that seeks to understand the complexity of life and its underlying processes, from the molecular level to the ecosystem level. It involves a combination of observation, experimentation, data analysis, and theoretical modeling to advance our knowledge of living organisms and their interactions with each other and the environment.

2. Dr. Raj Kumar Mehta, Assistant Director (Biology), Regional FSL, Bikaner

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Dr. Mehta delivered his lecture on "Physical Evidence by Biological Examine" and said that Physical evidence examined by biologists can provide valuable insights into various aspects of living organisms and their interactions with the environment. Here are some examples of physical evidence that biologists might examine:

A. DNA and Genetic Material: Biologists often examine DNA and other genetic material to understand the genetic makeup of organisms, including their relationships to one another, genetic variation within populations, and evolutionary history. This can involve extracting DNA from samples such as tissues, blood, hair, or environmental samples like soil or water.

B. Specimens and Samples: Biologists collect and examine specimens and samples from living organisms for various purposes. This may include studying the anatomy, morphology, and physiology of organisms, as well as analyzing their biochemistry, behavior, and ecology. Specimens can range from whole organisms to tissues, cells, or even smaller components like proteins or organelles.

C. Environmental Samples: Biologists often collect and analyze environmental samples such as soil, water, air, or sediment to study ecosystems and the organisms living within them. This can involve measuring physical and chemical parameters, as well as identifying and quantifying microorganisms, plants, and animals present in the environment.

D. Remains and Remnants: Biologists may examine remains and remnants of organisms, such as bones, shells, feathers, scales, or exoskeletons, to reconstruct past environments, diets, or behaviors. This can provide information about the life history and ecological roles of organisms, as well as their interactions with other species and their environment.

E. Medical and Forensic Evidence: Biologists working in medical or forensic fields may examine physical evidence related to human or animal health, including tissues, fluids, pathogens, toxins, or other biological materials. This can involve diagnosing diseases, identifying causes of death, analyzing evidence in criminal investigations, or conducting research on public health issues.

Physical evidence examined by biologists can provide valuable information about the diversity, ecology, evolution, and health of living organisms, as well as their interactions with each other and their environment. This evidence is essential for advancing our understanding of biology and addressing various scientific, medical, and environmental challenges.

3. Dr. Neelam Gaur, Assistant Director (Toxicology), Regional FSL, Bikaner

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Dr. Gaur delivered her lecture on "Use of toxicology in FSL" and she said that Toxicology, within the realm of forensic science, plays a crucial role in investigating cases involving drugs, poisons, chemicals, and other toxic substances. Here's how forensic toxicology is used:

A. Identifying Substances: Forensic toxicologists analyze biological samples (blood, urine, hair, etc.) and non-biological samples (drugs, pills, powders, etc.) to identify the presence of toxic substances. This includes illegal drugs, prescription medications, alcohol, pesticides, heavy metals, and other chemicals.

B. Quantifying Substances: Toxicologists quantify the number of toxic substances present in samples. This information is crucial for understanding the level of exposure and its potential effects on the individual.

C. Determining Cause of Death: In cases of suspicious deaths or fatalities, toxicology analysis is often performed to determine if drugs, poisons, or other toxic substances contributed to or caused the death. This information is critical for legal investigations and criminal proceedings.

D. Drug-Facilitated Crimes: Toxicology analysis is used to detect drugs or substances administered to victims in cases of drug-facilitated crimes, such as sexual assault or robbery. Detecting these substances in biological samples can provide evidence for criminal prosecution.

E. Impaired Driving Cases: Forensic toxicology is utilized in cases of suspected impaired driving due to alcohol or drug consumption. Analysis of blood or breath samples can determine the presence and concentration of alcohol or drugs, which can be used as evidence in legal proceedings.

F. Workplace and Environmental Exposure: Toxicologists investigate cases of suspected exposure to toxic substances in workplaces or environments. They analyze biological samples to assess occupational or environmental exposure levels and determine potential health risks.

G. Medical Examiner and Coroner Investigations: Forensic toxicologists work closely with medical examiners and coroners to determine the cause and manner of death in cases involving drugs, poisons, or other toxic substances. Their findings contribute to death investigations and autopsies.

Forensic toxicology plays a vital role in determining the presence of toxic substances, assessing their effects on individuals, and providing critical evidence in legal investigations and proceedings.

4. Dr. Champa Lal, Senior Scientific (Ballistics) Officer, Regional FSL, Bikaner

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Dr. Lal delivered his lecture on the "Importance of The Ballistics Department in FSL" and he said that The Ballistics Department within a Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) plays a critical role in the investigation of crimes involving firearms and ammunition. Here's why it's important:

A. Firearm Identification: Ballistic experts use specialized techniques to identify firearms used in criminal activities. This involves examining characteristics such as barrel rifling marks, firing pin impressions, and breechblock marks left on fired ammunition. By matching these marks to specific firearms, investigators can link a weapon to a crime scene or a suspect.

B. Bullet and Cartridge Analysis: Ballistic analysts examine bullets, cartridge cases, and other ballistic evidence recovered from crime scenes or victims. They identify the type of ammunition used, assess its caliber and manufacturer, and determine if it matches other evidence found at the scene or in suspects' possession.

C. Firearm Functioning: Ballistics experts assess the functioning of firearms involved in crimes, including testing for functionality, safety mechanisms, and any modifications or alterations. Understanding how a firearm operates can provide insights into the circumstances of a shooting incident and help reconstruct the sequence of events.

D. Trajectory Analysis: Ballistic analysts use trajectory analysis to determine the path of projectiles fired from firearms. By analyzing bullet trajectories, impact angles, and bullet paths through various materials, they can reconstruct the shooting incident and determine the positions of the shooter and the victim(s) at the time of the shooting.

E. Firearm Comparison: Ballistic experts compare ballistic evidence recovered from crime scenes with test-fired ammunition from suspect firearms.

F. Toolmark Examination: Ballistic analysts examine toolmarks left on bullets, cartridge cases, and other surfaces by firearms or firearm-related tools such as pry bars or bolt cutters. This analysis can help identify the tools used in crimes such as burglaries, robberies, or vandalism.

G. Expert Testimony: Ballistics experts provide expert testimony in court proceedings, presenting their findings and interpretations to judges and juries.

The ballistics Department in a Forensic Science Laboratory plays a crucial role in the investigation and prosecution of crimes involving firearms. By analyzing ballistic evidence, identifying firearms, and reconstructing shooting incidents, ballistic experts provide valuable support to law enforcement agencies and contribute to the administration of justice.

5. Ms. Anjana Singhi, Junior Scientific Assistant (Biology), Regional FSL, Bikaner

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Ms. Singhi delivered her lecture most effectively on "Difference between Suicide and Murder in Hanging Cases" and she said that in cases involving hanging, differentiating between suicide and murder can be challenging but crucial for determining the circumstances surrounding the death. Here are some key differences:

A. Physical Evidence: Forensic examination of the scene and the body can provide valuable clues. In cases of suicide, the individual may be found alone in a location consistent with self-inflicted hanging, such as a secluded area or a room with no signs of forced entry. In contrast, signs of struggle, defensive injuries, or evidence of restraint may suggest homicide.

B. Position of the Body: The position of the body at the scene can provide important information. In suicides, the body is typically found hanging freely with no signs of external manipulation. In cases of homicide, the body may be found in a more complex or restrained position, indicating that the hanging was staged to conceal foul play.

C. Presence of Ligature Marks: Forensic examination of ligature marks around the neck is crucial. In suicides, ligature marks are often consistent with self-tying and lack defensive injuries. However, in homicides, ligature marks may be irregular or show signs of struggle, indicating that the ligature was applied forcefully by another person.

D. Toxicology and Autopsy Findings: Toxicology analysis of blood and tissue samples can reveal the presence of drugs or alcohol that may have influenced the individual's behavior. Autopsy findings, such as the presence of injuries inconsistent with hanging, can also provide important evidence in determining the manner of death.

E. Witness Statements and History: Gathering information from witnesses, family members, and acquaintances can provide insights into the individual's state of mind, behavior, and any potential motives for suicide or homicide.

F. Investigative Findings: Law enforcement investigators gather evidence from the scene, including fingerprints, DNA, and any potential weapons or tools used in the hanging. They also interview witnesses, collect surveillance footage, and conduct background checks on individuals associated with the deceased to piece together the events leading up to the death.

G. Psychological Evaluation: In cases of suspected suicide, a psychological evaluation of the deceased's mental state and history may be conducted to assess the likelihood of suicidal intent. This evaluation can help determine if the death was a result of self-harm or if external factors, such as coercion or manipulation, were involved.

Differentiating between suicide and murder in hanging cases requires a thorough and multidisciplinary approach, involving forensic examination, investigative techniques, and psychological assessment. Each case must be evaluated based on its unique circumstances to determine the most likely manner of death.

6. Mr. Sunil Mahawar, Junior Scientific Assistant (Physics), Regional FSL, Bikaner

Mr. Sunil Mahawar addressing this on behalf of the department because Dr. Surendra Kumar, Assistant Director, Regional FSL, Bikaner on election duty. Mr. Mahawar delivered his lecture on "The Silent Witness: Physics of Tool Mark Identification" and he said the silent witness could explore the pivotal role of physics within forensic science laboratories.

A. Material Science: Physics principles are essential for understanding the properties of materials involved in tool mark analysis. Different materials interact differently when subjected to force, leaving behind distinctive marks. By studying the mechanical properties, such as hardness, elasticity, and deformation behavior, physicists can predict how materials will respond to tool contact.

B. Fracture Mechanics: Physics provides the theoretical framework for analyzing fractures and deformations in materials caused by tool marks. Concepts like stress, strain, and fracture mechanics help forensic experts interpret the patterns and characteristics of tool marks. Understanding how materials fracture under stress aids in determining the force and direction of tool impact.

C. Surface Analysis Techniques: Physicists develop and utilize advanced surface analysis techniques to examine tool marks at microscopic levels. Techniques such as scanning electron microscopy (SEM), atomic force microscopy (AFM), and profilometry allow forensic examiners to visualize and measure the minute details of tool marks, including striations, impressions, and surface topography.

D. Pattern Recognition and Imaging: Physics-based image processing techniques are used to enhance and analyze tool mark impressions captured from crime scenes. Image enhancement algorithms, Fourier analysis, and digital filtering methods help forensic examiners identify and compare subtle features within tool marks, aiding in the identification of specific tools or weapons.

E. Experimental Testing: Physicists design and conduct experimental tests to validate forensic techniques and establish the reliability of tool mark analysis methods. Through controlled experiments involving known tools and materials, physicists can quantify the variability and repeatability of tool mark characteristics, helping to establish the scientific validity of forensic evidence in court.

F. Expert Testimony and Education: Physics experts provide expert testimony in legal proceedings, explaining the scientific principles underlying tool mark analysis and interpreting forensic evidence for judges and juries. They also contribute to the education and training of forensic practitioners, teaching them how to apply physics principles effectively in their casework.

By integrating physics principles and techniques into tool mark analysis, forensic science laboratories can enhance their ability to identify, analyze, and interpret evidence accurately, contributing to the investigation and resolution of criminal cases.

Introduction:

On April 15, 2024, an enlightening Nukkad Natak on consumer rights and protection was organized at Aryavart Vidyapeeth Secondary School in Bikaner. This theatrical performance served as a platform to educate the public about their rights as consumers and to raise awareness regarding fair trade practices. With the participation of students and attendees, the event aimed to shed light on prevalent issues faced by consumers, including misleading advertising, product defects, and unfair pricing.

Event Description:

The event was not only attended by enthusiastic participants but also graced by the students of Aryavart Vidyapeeth Secondary School. The participants commenced the event by providing a concise overview of the Consumer Act, elucidating its significance as a fundamental right for all individuals. The focus then shifted to the Nukkad Natak, which was crafted to convey key messages about consumer rights and protection.

Objectives:

The primary objective of the Nukkad Natak was to raise awareness about the Consumer Act and its pivotal role in safeguarding consumer rights. Specifically, the performance aimed to:

- Educate the audience about their rights and responsibilities as consumers.
- Highlight common challenges encountered by consumers, such as deceptive advertising and substandard products.

Introduction:

Consumer rights form the cornerstone of fair and ethical business practices in any society. Empowering consumers with knowledge and awareness about their rights not only ensures their protection but also fosters a culture of accountability among businesses and service providers. In this report, we delve into the dynamic world of "Nukkad Natak," a form of street theatre, as a powerful medium for advocating consumer rights. Through engaging performances and interactive storytelling, Nukkad Natak has emerged as an effective tool for raising awareness about the rights and responsibilities of consumers in various socio-economic contexts.

On April 15, 2024, a group of six classmates, led by Piyush Rawat, embarked on a significant outreach endeavor in the AARYVRAT PUBLIC SCHOOL, INDRA COLONY, BIKANER locality of Bikaner. This initiative marked a pivotal moment in the advocacy for consumer rights, showcasing the potential of Nukkad Natak to reach and educate diverse audiences. This report aims to explore the role of Nukkad Natak in promoting consumer rights, analyzing its impact on community engagement, and offering insights into best practices for leveraging this creative platform to empower consumers and promote a fair marketplace.

Through engaging performances, interactive discussions, and targeted outreach efforts, these initiatives have made significant strides in educating consumers and holding businesses accountable for fair and ethical practices.

As we look to the future, it's evident that the journey towards consumer empowerment is ongoing. By continuing to innovate, collaborate, and adapt our strategies, we can build upon the success of Nukkad Natak and further strengthen consumer protection mechanisms across communities. Together, we can create a marketplace where transparency, fairness, and accountability prevail, ensuring that every consumer can make informed choices and access remedies when their rights are infringed upon.

Introduction:

The Door to Door Campaign for Voter Awareness at Jassusar Gate, Bikaner aimed to educate and mobilize the community regarding the significance of participating in the electoral process. Organized by Electoral Literacy Club of RNB Global University Bikaner, the campaign sought to address the importance of voting as a fundamental right and civic duty in a democratic society.

In a democratic society, voting is not just a right but a responsibility. It is the cornerstone of a functional democracy, ensuring that citizens have a say in the governance of their country or region. However, despite its importance, voter turnout remains a challenge in many parts of the world. In India, while significant strides have been made in increasing voter participation, there are still pockets where awareness and participation levels are low.

Objectives of the Event:

1. Increase Awareness: The primary objective of the campaign was to increase awareness about the importance of voting among the residents of Bikaner.
2. Promote Participation: The campaign aimed to encourage eligible voters to register themselves and participate in the upcoming elections.
3. Address Barriers: Identify and address any barriers or challenges that may prevent residents from exercising their voting rights.
4. Empowerment: Empower residents with knowledge about the electoral process, including voting procedures, voter registration, and the significance of their vote in shaping the future of their community and country.
5. Sustainability: Lay the groundwork for sustained voter awareness and participation beyond the campaign period through the establishment of local initiatives and resources.

Detail of Event:

On 13rd April, 2024, Electoral Literacy Club of RNB Global University Bikaner had successfully completed the event of Door to Door Campaign for Voter Awareness at Jassusar Gate, Bikaner. The event was organized with aim to increase awareness

INTRODUCTION

Voter awareness campaigns play a vital role in educating citizens about the electoral process, the significance of participating in elections, and the importance of making informed choices. These initiatives aim to promote civic engagement, encourage voter registration, and emphasize the role each person plays in shaping the future of their community and country through the democratic process. By raising awareness about voting, we can strengthen democracy and ensure that everyone's voice is heard.

In today's world, where information flows incessantly through various channels, fostering genuine awareness about elections becomes both crucial and challenging. While technological advancements have expanded access to information, they have also led to the proliferation of misinformation and disinformation. In such an environment, cultivating a discerning electorate capable of making well-informed decisions is more vital than ever.

Awareness about elections encompasses a multifaceted understanding. It involves being cognizant of the socio-political landscape, recognizing the pressing issues that affect communities, and comprehending the platforms and policies proposed by candidates. Moreover, awareness extends to understanding the mechanisms of the electoral process itself—the roles of different branches of government, the significance of checks and balances, and the importance of participation beyond voting, such as grassroots activism and community organizing.

Introduction:

The Voting Awareness Campaign held at Husangsar, Bikaner aimed to educate and mobilize the community regarding the significance of participating in the electoral process. Organized by Electoral Literacy Club of RNB Global University Bikaner, the campaign sought to address the importance of voting as a fundamental right and civic duty in a democratic society.

In a democratic society, voting is not just a right but a responsibility. It is the cornerstone of a functional democracy, ensuring that citizens have a say in the governance of their country or region. However, despite its importance, voter turnout remains a challenge in many parts of the world. In India, while significant strides have been made in increasing voter participation, there are still pockets where awareness and participation levels are low. Husangsar, a locality in Bikaner, Rajasthan, is one such area where voter awareness needed enhancement. To address this issue, a Voting Awareness Campaign was organized in Husangsar, Bikaner, aimed at educating and motivating residents to participate actively in the democratic process.

Objectives of the Event:

1. Increase Awareness: The primary objective of the campaign was to increase awareness about the importance of voting among the residents of Husangsar.
2. Promote Participation: The campaign aimed to encourage eligible voters to register themselves and participate in the upcoming elections.
3. Address Barriers: Identify and address any barriers or challenges that may prevent residents from exercising their voting rights.
4. Empowerment: Empower residents with knowledge about the electoral process, including voting procedures, voter registration, and the significance of their vote in shaping the future of their community and country.
5. Sustainability: Lay the groundwork for sustained voter awareness and participation beyond the campaign period through the establishment of local initiatives and resources.

Detail of Event:

On 11rd April, 2024, Electoral Literacy Club of RNB Global University Bikaner had successfully completed the event of Voting Awareness Campaign at Husangsar, Bikaner. The event was organized with aim to increase awareness about the importance of voting among the peoples.

All the students of B.Sc (Agriculture) IV and VI semester along with Assistant professor SOA Mr. Vikash Kumar and Mr. Anil Swami participated in this program with anthusiasm.

Conclusion

The Voting Awareness Campaign at Husangsar, Bikaner, was a resounding success, achieving its objectives of increasing voter awareness and promoting participation in the democratic process. Through a combination of community engagement, educational initiatives, and strategic partnerships, the campaign succeeded in reaching a significant portion of the local population and empowering them with the knowledge and motivation to exercise their voting rights.

Moving forward, it is essential to maintain the momentum generated by the campaign and ensure sustained voter engagement beyond the immediate electoral cycle. This requires ongoing collaboration between stakeholders, continued investment in voter education initiatives, and the establishment of mechanisms to address any persistent barriers to participation.

By fostering a culture of active citizenship and democratic participation, campaigns like this one play a crucial role in strengthening the foundations of democracy and ensuring that the voices of all citizens are heard in the governance of their communities and nation. Husangsar serves as an example of how targeted voter awareness efforts can make a tangible difference in improving democratic participation and fostering a more inclusive and representative society.

Introduction:

In the vibrant tapestry of democracy, the act of voting is both a right and a responsibility. Recognizing the pivotal role of youth engagement in shaping the democratic process, students of B.Sc. Agriculture Semester II at RNB Global University, Bikaner, led by Lokendra, Anisha, and Sneha, organized an event on April 9th, 2024, dedicated to promoting awareness about the importance of casting votes under Electoral Literacy Club. Held at Gram Sharah Kajani in Bikaner, this initiative sought to empower citizens, particularly in rural areas, to exercise their democratic rights and participate actively in the electoral process.

Objectives:

Educate and Inform: Raise awareness among citizens, especially youth, about the significance of voting in a democratic society.

Empowerment: Empower individuals with knowledge about voter registration procedures, polling locations, and voting rights.

Encourage Participation: Motivate eligible voters to actively participate in elections and exercise their democratic right to vote.

Community Engagement: Foster community dialogue and collaboration to address barriers to voting and promote inclusive participation in the electoral process.

Reasons for the Program: The importance of voting stems from its profound implications for democracy and governance:

Democratic Representation: Voting is the cornerstone of democratic governance, ensuring that elected representatives reflect the will of the people.

Civic Engagement: Participation in the electoral process fosters a sense of civic responsibility and strengthens democratic values.

Policy Impact: By casting their votes, citizens shape the policies and priorities of their government, influencing issues that affect their lives.

Accountability: Voting holds elected officials accountable to the electorate, promoting transparency and responsiveness in governance.

Social Justice: Voting is a means of amplifying marginalized voices and advancing social justice by advocating for policies that address systemic inequalities.

Details of Events:

Educational Workshops: The event commenced with informative workshops on the electoral process, voter registration, and voting rights. Expert speakers elucidated the significance of voting in a democracy and addressed common misconceptions and barriers to participation.

Interactive Sessions: Engaging discussions and interactive sessions provided attendees with a platform to share their perspectives, concerns, and aspirations regarding the electoral process. Participants were encouraged to ask questions and seek clarification on voting-related matters.

Voter Registration Drive: A voter registration drive facilitated the registration of eligible voters who were not yet enrolled. Volunteers assisted individuals in completing registration forms and provided guidance on the documentation required.

Polling Information Booths: Information booths were set up to provide details about polling locations, voting dates, and procedural requirements. Attendees received personalized assistance in locating their polling stations and understanding the voting process.

Mock Voting Exercise: A mock voting exercise allowed participants to familiarize themselves with the voting process in a simulated environment. This hands-on experience helped alleviate anxiety and uncertainty about voting procedures.

Community Outreach: Door-to-door canvassing and community outreach initiatives were undertaken to reach individuals who may face barriers to voting, such as lack of awareness or accessibility issues. Informational pamphlets and flyers were distributed to households.

Interactive Games and Activities: Creative games and activities, such as quizzes, contests, and role-playing scenarios, engaged participants and reinforced key messages about the importance of voting in a democracy.

Conclusion:

The "Awareness for Casting Vote" event organized by B.Sc. Agriculture Semester II students of RNB Global University, Bikaner, serves as a beacon of civic engagement and democratic participation. By educating, empowering, and mobilizing citizens to exercise their right to vote, the event exemplifies the transformative power of youth-led initiatives in strengthening democracy at the grassroots level. As we strive to build more inclusive and representative societies, initiatives like these play a crucial role in fostering civic awareness, participation, and empowerment. Moving forward, it is imperative to sustain momentum and continue advocating for an inclusive electoral process that amplifies the voices of all citizens, ensuring a more vibrant and resilient democracy for generations to come.

Introduction:

In a vibrant democracy like India, the cornerstone of effective governance lies in active citizen participation, particularly through the exercise of voting rights. Recognizing this pivotal role, seven students pursuing B.Sc. Agriculture Semester II at RNB Global University, Bikaner, undertook a commendable initiative to conduct a voting awareness program in Gram Sharah Koojia, Bikaner under Electoral Literacy Club. This event, held on April 8, 2024, aimed to enlighten rural communities about the significance of voting and to encourage their active involvement in the electoral process.

Objective:

The primary objective of the voting awareness program was to empower rural citizens with knowledge about their voting rights and the importance of exercising them responsibly. The specific goals included:

- Educating the rural populace about the significance of democratic participation through voting.
- Dispelling myths and misconceptions surrounding the electoral process.
- Motivating individuals to register as voters and actively participate in upcoming elections.
- Engaging the community through interactive sessions and informative posters to ensure a lasting impact.

Details of Event:

The voting awareness program commenced with a brief introduction by the organizing students, outlining the purpose and agenda of the event. The organizers strategically structured the program to incorporate both informative lectures and visually appealing posters to cater to diverse learning preferences and literacy levels within the rural community.

The lecture session, delivered by the students, covered various aspects related to voting, including its constitutional significance, the role of voters in shaping governance, and the impact of electoral participation on societal development. The students utilized simple language and relatable examples to ensure comprehension among the audience, fostering an interactive environment conducive to learning.

In parallel, an array of vibrant posters adorned the venue, each conveying a distinct message related to voting rights, electoral procedures, and the importance of informed decision-making. These posters served as visual aids, capturing the attention of passersby and supplementing the verbal discourse with concise yet impactful information.

Following the lecture and poster exhibition, interactive sessions were conducted to encourage audience participation and address queries or concerns raised by the attendees. The students actively engaged with the community, facilitating discussions on topics ranging from voter registration processes to the significance of local elections in driving grassroots development.

The event concluded with a reaffirmation of the importance of democratic participation and a call to action, urging individuals to translate newfound knowledge into tangible electoral engagement. As a token of appreciation, informational pamphlets containing essential voting-related information were distributed among the attendees to serve as handy references.

Conclusion:

The voting awareness program organized by the seven students of B.Sc. Agriculture Semester II at RNB Global University, Bikaner, marked a significant stride towards fostering democratic empowerment at the grassroots level. By conscientiously imparting knowledge and dispelling misconceptions, the organizers successfully ignited a spark of civic consciousness within the rural community of Gram Sharah Koonjia.

Through a harmonious blend of informative lectures and visually captivating posters, the event transcended linguistic and educational barriers, resonating with individuals from diverse backgrounds. Moreover, the interactive nature of the sessions facilitated meaningful dialogue and fostered a sense of collective responsibility towards electoral participation.

As the echoes of the program reverberate within the community, it is hoped that the seeds of awareness sown today will blossom into a culture of informed citizenship, wherein every voice is not only heard but also heeded in the democratic tapestry of the nation.

In essence, the voting awareness program stands as a testament to the transformative potential of grassroots initiatives in nurturing a vibrant and participatory democracy, one empowered individual at a time.

About the Event: -

Students of BALLB, RNB Global University, conducted a Voting and Election awareness program on 7th April 2024 in between 11.00 am to 1.00 pm. The main objectives of this awareness programme were to increase voter's registration and voting to make democracy more powerful. Voting is an integral part of democracy, and it is necessary for people to have a voice. By voting, we can create change and make a difference in our community. We have to vote because this is our sacred right, our democratic privileges are a pillar of our constitution and provide an avenue for decision-making on the direction of the country and the future of the people, it gives us absolute power to shape our country's future and every vote is counted.

Personal reflections on the experience:-

"Somewhere inside of all of us is the power to change the world." India is founded based on elections as a democratic republic. Our Legislatures, as well as Parliament is of the people, by the people, and for the people. Voting is a freedom we can have as a constitution. We take this as a matter of course, but the constitution has allowed us to select how we want and to make the transition."

"Vote makes us all equal. It is the single thing that does not discriminate between castes religions or classes" Increasing political and Voting understanding allows citizens to make intelligent choices and offers the framework for further public engagement in the democracy for the long term. To assist nominees as well as political parties to express the felt desires of constituencies and communities, while leading to more informed forums and plans. It leads to greater political transparency, responsibility, integrity, and public faith in governance. It also leads to supporting vulnerable and oppressed communities. It promotes the involvement of citizens who are concerned about public causes. It contributes to reducing the scope for unequal or unethical voting procedures.

"All of us may have been created equal. But we'll never actually be equal until we all vote. So don't wait." Voter Awareness activity seeks to increase consciousness amongst the public: the significance as either electors or as candidates of their involvement in the election process; the participation modes; the process for eligibility for the vote and for casting their votes actually; how to determine the candidate's polling value. A Voting awareness activity aims to establish and especially promote an atmosphere for a free and fair electoral process, the participation of the oppressed categories including minorities, women, ethnic groups in particular groups, and the poor.

Key Points Discussed

Education Gap: Many citizens may not fully understand the importance of voting due to gaps in education about civic responsibility and the democratic process.

Inadequate education in schools and communities about the significance of voting and how it impacts governance can contribute to low awareness levels.

Complexity of Electoral Processes: Electoral processes, including voter registration, polling locations, and ballot procedures, can be complex and confusing for some individuals.

Lack of clarity or accessibility in information about these processes can deter citizens from participating in elections.

Cynicism and Disillusionment:

Citizens may feel disillusioned with the political system due to perceptions of corruption, inefficiency, or a lack of representation.

This disillusionment can lead to apathy towards voting, as individuals may feel their voice doesn't matter or that the system is rigged.

Marginalization and Disenfranchisement: Marginalized communities, including ethnic minorities, low-income individuals, and young people, may face barriers to voting such as voter suppression tactics, restrictive ID laws, or limited access to polling stations.

These barriers can contribute to a lack of voting awareness and engagement among these populations.

Attendees Engagement

The activity resonated with the audience, prompting lively discussions and questions from fellow students who were eager to learn more about voting awareness and civic engagement. Audience members expressed their views on the importance of political participation and shared personal experiences related to voting.

Key points on voting rights:

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Universal Suffrage: Every citizen of legal voting age has the right to vote, regardless of race, gender, ethnicity, or socioeconomic status.

Universal suffrage ensures that all eligible citizens have an equal opportunity to participate in the electoral process.

Protection Against Discrimination: Voting rights are protected by laws that prohibit discrimination based on race, color, gender, religion, or disability. Any attempt to disenfranchise or suppress the voting rights of individuals based on these factors is illegal and unconstitutional.

Access to Polling Places: Citizens have the right to access polling places and cast their votes without facing undue barriers or obstacles. Governments are responsible for ensuring that polling locations are accessible to all citizens, including those with disabilities or limited mobility.

Freedom of Choice: Voters have the right to choose their preferred candidates or political parties freely and without coercion. This includes the right to abstain from voting or to vote for write-in candidates if desired

Protection of Voter Information: Voter information, including registration records and ballot choices, must be kept confidential and protected from unauthorized access or misuse. Safeguards are in place to prevent voter intimidation, coercion, or manipulation.

Equal Representation: The principle of "one person, one vote" ensures that each voter's ballot carries equal weight in the electoral process. Electoral districts are drawn to provide fair and equitable representation to all citizens, regardless of geographic location or demographic characteristics.

Active Participation: Voting rights encompass not only the freedom to vote but also the freedom to engage in political activism, advocacy, and campaigning.

Key legal rights related to voting awareness:

Right to Information: Citizens have the legal right to access accurate and impartial information about the electoral process, voter registration procedures, polling locations,

NIMS Global University Registrar Bikaner

candidates, and ballot measures. Governments and electoral authorities are obligated to provide transparent and accessible information to ensure informed voter decision-making.

Right to Voter Education: Citizens have the right to receive voter education and awareness initiatives aimed at promoting understanding of voting rights, responsibilities, and procedures. Educational efforts may include workshops, seminars, informational materials, and public service announcements conducted by governmental agencies, non-profit organizations, or educational institutions.

Protection Against Voter Suppression: Laws and regulations protect citizens from voter suppression tactics aimed at disenfranchising or discouraging certain groups from exercising their right to vote. Examples of voter suppression tactics include restrictive voter ID laws, voter purges, intimidation tactics, and misinformation campaigns.

Right to Voter Registration:

Citizens have the legal right to register to vote and update their voter registration information as needed. Governments are required to provide accessible voter registration processes, including online registration options and registration assistance for individuals with disabilities or limited English proficiency.

Protection of Voter Privacy:

Laws safeguard the privacy and confidentiality of voter information, including voter registration records and ballot choices.

Unauthorized access to or misuse of voter information is prohibited, and stringent measures are in place to prevent voter intimidation or coercion.

Equal Access to Polling Places: Citizens have the right to equal access to polling places and voting accommodations, regardless of race, ethnicity, gender, disability, or socioeconomic status.

A lot of people want to vote, but many are not aware of its need and how to cast it. This is where voting awareness comes into play. The idea of voting awareness is to help people understand the importance of voting. Voting is an important way for voters to control their government. It is a method for citizens to express what they want from their leaders by raising awareness about voting. This will lead to better governance and what everyone wants – a democracy that is free, fair and representative. Voting helps citizens become more involved in their government and keep it accountable. To vote, you must meet specific requirements. In addition to voting, there are a few laws that ensure fair elections around the world. Voting is an integral part of democracy, and it is necessary for people to have a voice. Everyone has the right to vote, which means that all Indians can vote for the Prime Minister of their choice. By voting, you can create change and make a difference in your community. It is also important to vote because you can only repeal a law if most citizens. Voting is an important civic duty that can significantly impact the future of our country. Voting helps keep politicians accountable for their actions and creates the framework for our democracy. Voting also ensures that public officials are paid with the tax amount from the people who can afford to pay them. The most consequential decision of all is how to spend tax – voting ensures that there is accountability for what goes into our government's budget. The last thing we want is for politicians to be able to spend public money without being held accountable by capital of the new State and the High Court should be located at Jodhpur. State of Rajasthan was inaugurated on March 30, 1949 and at that time five High Courts functioning at Jaipur, Jodhpur, Bikaner, Udaipur and Alwar were abolished by the Rajasthan High Court Ordinance, 1949 and High Court of Judicature for Rajasthan was inaugurated at Jodhpur by Rajpramukh His Highness Maharaja Sawai Man Singh on 29.08.1949 and oath was administered to 11 Hon'ble Judges. Initially High Court also sat at Jaipur, Udaipur, Bikaner and Kota.

On 26th day of January, 1950 the Constitution of India was enforced and the strength of Judges was reduced to 6. Further benches at Bikaner, Kota and Udaipur were abolished from 22.05.1950 but Jaipur Bench continued to function. Subsequently, under section 49 of States Reorganization Act, 1956 a new High Court came into being as the High Court of Rajasthan with Principal Seat at Jodhpur. Umaid Bhawan Palace , located in Jodhpur, Rajasthan, India, is one of the world's largest private residences. A part of the palace is managed by Taj Hotels. It is named after Maharaja Umaid Singh, grandfather of the present owner, Gaj Singh. The palace has 347 rooms and is the principal residence of the former Jodhpur royal family. A part of the palace is a museum. The groundbreaking for the foundations of the building was carried out on 18 November 1929 by Maharaja Umaid Singh and the construction work was completed in 1943. Umaid Bhawan Palace is a magnificent heritage building in the heart of Jodhpur, the Blue City in Rajasthan. The palace is a living example of grandeur of the Rajput era. This grand palace, with its stunning architecture and royal legacy, offers a glimpse into the lifestyle of the erstwhile royal family. The palace features 347 rooms, and features a museum and a vintage car collection. Umaid Bhawan Palace is an architectural marvel built between 1929 and 1943 under the patronage of Maharaja Umaid Singh. The palace was designed by the famous architect Henry Lanchester. About Mehrangarh Fort, Jodhpur

Mehrangarh Fort holds the pride of place in Jodhpur because of its splendid architecture and the diverse history associated with it. Considered as one of the most formidable and magnificent forts of Rajasthan, Mehrangarh fort was built by Rao Jodha in the year 1459. The fort is spread over an area of 5 km and is built on 125 m high hill in the outskirts of Jodhpur city. There are seven gates, which can be used to enter the Mehrangarh fort. These 7 gates are made by different rulers, and are built in honour of victory over Bikaner and Jaipur armies. One can see the panoramic view of the Jodhpur city from this fort, which seems like a blue carpet laid at the foot of a hill. Every ruler of Jodhpur has contributed in the making of this fort. Within the fort one can see the magnificent palaces. The main palaces located in the Mehrangarh Fort are Moti Mahal, Phool Mahal, Sheesh Mahal, Zenana Dude, Takht Vilas and Jhanki Mahal. There are also two temples located inside the fort - Chamundi Devi Mandir and Nagnechiaji Mandir, dedicated to Goddess Durga and the Kuldevi respectively. There is also a museum within the Mehrangarh fort, which exhibits a rich collection of palanquins, musical instruments, royal cradles, costumes, arms, furniture and paintings. Mehrangarh is a historic fort located in Jodhpur, Rajasthan, India. It stands on a hilltop, rising about 122 m (400 ft) above the surrounding plains,and the complex spans 1,200 acres (486 hectares). It was initially built around 1459 by the Rajput ruler of Rathore clan Rao Jodha, though most of the existing structure is from the 17th century built by his successors. The fort has seven gates, which includes main entrance Jai Pol (meaning 'victory gate'), built by Maharaja Man Singh to commemorate his victories over the Jaipur and Bikaner armies in 1806. The Fattehpol (lit. 'victory gate'), commemorates victory of Maharaja Ajit Singh over the Mughals. Within its boundaries, you'll find several palaces known for their intricate carvings and expansive courtyards, a Chamunda Mataji Temple, as well as a museum that houses various relics. A winding road leads to and from the city below. The imprints of the impact of cannonballs fired by attacking armies of Jaipur can still be seen on the second gate. At the north-east of the fort is the chhatri of Kirat Singh Sodha, a soldier who fell on the spot defending Mehrangarh. Some of the notable festivals taking place here include the World Sacred Spirit Festival and Rajasthan International Folk Festival.

Personal Observation

After accompanying my law students on an educational tour to the High Court, I couldn't help but feel a profound sense of admiration for the power of experiential learning. As we walked through the grand halls of justice, I observed a transformation in my students' demeanor – their eyes widened with curiosity, their questions became more insightful, and their understanding of the legal system deepened with each passing moment. The High Court, with its imposing architecture and solemn atmosphere, seemed to imbue our discussions with a sense of reverence for the law and its role in society. As we watched proceedings unfold in the courtroom, I saw the principles we had discussed in class come to life before our eyes. The gravity of the decisions being made, the eloquence of the arguments presented, and the impartiality of the judges all left a lasting impression on us. But perhaps most striking was the way in which the visit humanized the legal process for my students. They saw firsthand the impact of the law on real people's lives – the plaintiffs seeking justice, the defendants facing consequences, and the lawyers advocating passionately on behalf of their clients.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

It was a reminder that behind every legal case lies a story of human struggle, triumph, and the quest for justice. As we debriefed after the tour, I could sense a newfound sense of purpose and determination among my students. They were inspired not only by the majesty of the law but also by the responsibility it carries. They understood that their education was not just about memorizing statutes and precedents but about using their knowledge to make a difference in the world. In the days that followed, I noticed a renewed enthusiasm in our classroom discussions and assignments. The experience of visiting the High Court had ignited a passion for the law within my students, one that I knew would continue to burn brightly long after our tour had ended. And as their teacher, there was no greater joy than witnessing the spark of curiosity and inspiration light up their eyes.

Learning Outcome of the Visit

Enhanced Understanding of Legal Processes: Students will gain a deeper understanding of the legal system by observing court proceedings firsthand, thereby comprehending the practical application of legal principles in real-life situations. Appreciation for Judicial Procedures: Through the tour, students will develop an appreciation for the intricate procedures followed in the judicial system, including the roles of judges, lawyers, and other court personnel in ensuring fairness and justice. Critical Analysis of Legal Arguments: By witnessing courtroom debates and arguments, students will hone their critical thinking skills and learn to evaluate the effectiveness of legal arguments and the reasoning behind judicial decisions. Application of Legal Theory to Practice: Students will be able to connect theoretical concepts learned in the classroom to real-world scenarios, thereby bridging the gap between academic knowledge and practical application in the legal field. Insight into the Human Aspect of Law: The tour will provide students with insight into the human dimension of legal proceedings, fostering empathy and understanding for the individuals involved in legal disputes and the impact of legal decisions on their lives. Inspiration for Future Legal Careers: By experiencing the workings of the High Court firsthand, students may be inspired to pursue careers in law, motivated by witnessing the importance and impact of legal advocacy and the pursuit of justice. Overall, the educational tour to the High Court aims to enrich students' learning experience by providing them with a tangible and immersive understanding of the legal system, fostering critical thinking skills, and inspiring a sense of purpose and passion for the study and practice of law.

Introduction

An educational visit is a vital part of the curriculum. It helps to bridge the gap between the classroom and the real working world. The visit also provides first-hand knowledge about the organizational structures and modes of operation in different fields. The objective of this visit was to provide real life exposure to BA LLB & BBA LLB VII semester students about knowledge of courtroom procedures and their automation by applying it. With this vision in mind, a four-day educational Visit was planned by Faculty of Law & Arts of RNB Global University-Bikaner at uttarakhand from 26th February 2024 to 29th February 2024. Objective of the visit

The main objective of the visit was to understand the working of a court, the nature of duties of the judicial officers. The visit was to help the student in understanding the role of court in dispensing justice in any case, the role of prosecutors in a case, the way cases proceed in a court, the way judges, prosecutors and defense lawyers handle the case, the relationship of the prosecutors and the police. This gave an opportunity to understand the actual need of co-ordination in the justice system. The visit included an in-depth study of the day to day functioning of the Civil and Criminal Courts, at different levels and over a vast variety of cases. About Himachal Pradesh High Court Visit, at Shimla

Establishment: The High Court of Shimla, also known as the Himachal Pradesh High Court, is one of the newest High Courts in India. It was established on January 25, 1971, under the Himachal Pradesh High Court Act, 1970. Prior to this, the area that is now Himachal Pradesh was under the jurisdiction of the Punjab High Court. The High Court of Shimla has jurisdiction over the state of Himachal Pradesh and deals with both civil and criminal cases. It also has the power of judicial review and can interpret the Constitution of India.

Location: Initially, the High Court was located in the 'Peterhoff' building in Shimla. However, in 1983, a new building was constructed for the High Court at Ravenswood. The new building is an architectural marvel and is known for its grandeur and historical significance.

The architecture of the High Court building is a blend of British and Indian styles. It features grand pillars, high ceilings, and intricate designs that reflect the colonial heritage of the region. The building is surrounded by lush greenery and offers a picturesque view of the surrounding mountains.

The High Court of Shimla plays a crucial role in the administration of justice in Himachal Pradesh. It hears appeals from lower courts and tribunals and ensures that the laws of the land are upheld. The High Court also plays an important role in protecting the rights of the people and ensuring that justice is accessible to all.Significance: Over the years, the High Court of Shimla has delivered several landmark judgments that have had a significant impact on the legal landscape of Himachal Pradesh. It has played a key role in shaping the legal framework of the state and upholding the principles of justice, equality, and fairness.

The High Court of Shimla is not just a building; it is a symbol of Justice and democracy. It stands as a testament to the rich legal heritage of India and continues to serve as a beacon of hope for those seeking justice.

As hearing the court proceedings at that time proceedings were going on regarding appeal on pension of section 4,5 of Pension act1871. The students tried to know the various provisions of the Pension act by the Hon'ble Chief Justice Mamidanna Satya Ratna Sri Ramchandra Rao.

Personal Observation

There is a general saying "I hear and I forget, I see and I remember, I do and I understand," it describes the theory of retaining more information when visually experiencing the activities in a chosen environment. Students gain a better perspective of the world around them by going on educational tours as they are brought in direct contact with new situations which prepare them for facing challenges in their upcoming professional lives. The importance of taking the students out of the classroom to absorb, interact and be immersed in history and educational tours have several learning benefits for students to obtain practical information within the brain.

Learning Outcome of the Visit

Below are some of the Learning outcome and key benefits of educational tours and reasons why getting students on these trips are good for them.

Interactive Learning: Field trips help students to interact with what they are learning. The experience goes beyond reading about a concept; students are able to see it, manipulate it or participate in it physically. Students are able to see elements with their eyes rather than reading about it and believing what they are told in books or by educators. These tours provide the students with the opportunity of learning through travel, especially to places that they may not otherwise get to visit. Educational trips provide valuable educational opportunities away from the classroom, without using textbooks and other tools which are used in a normal school setting. Students on educational trips can often learn while having fun in a more informal environment. If the educational trip destination has a professional guide who does hands-on teaching to visiting students such as at a IIAS or Summer hill university, the learners will be excited to learn from someone new.

Entertainment: The learning trips also provide entertainment for students. They often act as a powerful motivator for students. Breaking away from the routine provides students refreshment that might make them more focused back in their studies. Learning and fun always make a great combination. Field trips are considered fun, but the students learn as well, whether they realize it or not. No matter how much students learn during an educational trip, their favorite memories may be based on their enjoyment of the day. Getting away from the Institute for a day or even half a day is always exciting for students and educational trips are always highly anticipated. Students will have fun with their friends or classmates and they also may return to the classroom with a renewed focus.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Social Interaction: Getting away from the routine atmosphere of the university gives students an opportunity to spend time with each other in a new environment. They may be able to connect on more of a personal level without the structure of the normal school day. Students may be able to spend much of the educational trip day in small groups, observing, chatting and learning about each other. Having a trip in the early part of the term or semester is wise since it will allow the students to make a bond with whom they may not know very well. Also, leaving the classroom for an educational tour places the students in a different social environment.

They encounter a new set of folks during the course of the average field trip. These interactions teach them how to behave in different environments. They learn more self-control and communication etiquettescreates a sense of teamwork and community among the students as they experience a field trip together. Furthermore, students can interact with other people from all sections of society. It gives them a chance to gain new perspectives, and learn from complete strangers with unbiased opinions.

New Experiences: Many students do not get to experience the typical trip locations with their families. Because of money constraints or lack of resources, not all parents are able to take their kids to courts, tribunals, museums and other field trip destinations. An educational trip gives the opportunity for students to experience new venues or places. While field trips take a great deal of work and energy, broadening the horizons of the students is worth it.

Moreover, when students and teachers are together going on a trip, new educational environments and experiences are possible. Students may have the opportunity to observe many things that are not available at school or college, including exotic wildlife, rare plants, mechanism of industries etc. Discussing the educational trip beforehand is wise because it allows students to know what they will experience during their time away from school.

Better Exposure: Better exposure is yet another benefit of educational tours in a student's life. Students get to visit new places and this is a great opportunity for students who do not get many opportunities to go on trips. Especially for curious students who have the constant urge for learning new things, these educational tours are a great way of putting their knowledge as well as experiences to test. They can learn new things and this practical knowledge will help them in going a long way in their careers.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Passion for Travel: An educational tour can be a safe way to experience the world outside of one's home. On the tour, students are surrounded by other people they know and they are guided throughout the experience by their teacher and other guides. Further, they often pay much less than they would if they went by themselves. When students realize how much they enjoy traveling, it can open new doors for them.

They might decide to study abroad to more thoroughly immerse themselves in different cultures. They may also be more likely to travel independently in the future, continuing to broaden their understanding of the world. Some students might even realize their passion for learning about other cultures and turn it into a career.

Cultural Observation: On a good educational tour, students experience a different culture through their eyes. Nowadays, many travel agencies organize the tours which are offering volunteering opportunities and other chances to see how people of varying socioeconomic levels in a variety of local people live. Such experiences can help students develop more compassion for people from different styles of life. It can also help them to reflect on how these issues affect people near their home, inspiring them to work toward change.

Independent: While away from home and the ease of a regular support system, students have opportunities to see what they are capable of accomplishing by themselves. Travelling allows students to develop themselves in ways that cannot be achieved without stepping outside of their comfort zone, becoming more mature, independent and self-aware.

Better Academic Performance: On an educational tour, students get to experience different styles of teaching and see a new side to their subject of study. When able to see, touch and smell the very things they have learned about in books, students return to the classroom with a deeper connection and greater motivation for their studies.

भारत में मौलिक कर्तव्य: अनुच्छेद 51(ए)

हमारे देश भारत का संविधान दुनिया का सबसे लंबा लिखित संविधान है। इसमें हर व्यक्ति के अधिकारों को ध्यान में रखा जाता है. हालाँकि, राज्य के तीनों अंग इस देश को तब तक आत्मनिर्भर नहीं बना सकते जब तक उन्हें नागरिकों से भी उचित समर्थन न मिले। इसलिए नागरिकों से कुछ मौलिक कर्तव्यों के पालन की अपेक्षा की जाती है। इस लेख में, हम उन मौलिक कर्तव्यों पर चर्चा करेंगे जिनका पालन हमारे देश के नागरिकों द्वारा किया जाना अपेक्षित है। देश के सभी नागरिकों में देशभक्ति एवं एकता की भावना बनाये रखना नागरिकों का नैतिक दायित्व है।

1976 में संविधान के 42वें संशोधन अधिनियम द्वारा जो मौलिक कर्तव्य जोड़े गए, वे संस्कृति के निर्माण और प्रचार-प्रसार के अलावा, मौलिक अधिकारों के साथ-साथ इन कर्तव्यों को लागू करने में विधायिका के हाथों को भी मजबूत करते हैं।

भारतीय संविधान का भाग IVA मौलिक कर्तव्यों से संबंधित है। अब तक, 11 मौलिक कर्तव्य हैं।

मूल रूप से, भारत के संविधान में ये कर्तव्य शामिल नहीं थे। 42वें और 86वें संवैधानिक संशोधन अधिनियमों द्वारा मौलिक कर्तव्यों को जोड़ा गया।

इन कर्तव्यों को निभाने के लिए नागरिक संविधान द्वारा नैतिक रूप से बाध्य हैं। हालाँकि, निदेशक सिद्धांतों की तरह, ये गैर-न्यायसंगत हैं, उनके उल्लंघन या गैर-अनुपालन के मामले में किसी कानूनी मंजूरी के बिना।

मौलिक कर्तव्यों की आवश्यकता:

यह समझना महत्वपूर्ण है कि कोई भी लोकतांत्रिक व्यवस्था कभी सफल नहीं हो सकती यदि नागरिक अपने कर्तव्यों का निर्वहन करके सक्रिय रूप से भाग लेने के इच्छुक नहीं हैं जो उनसे किए जाने की अपेक्षा की जाती है।

हमारा संविधान हमें विभिन्न अधिकार प्रदान करता है और बदले में हमसे कुछ कर्तव्यों का पालन करने की अपेक्षा करता है। अनुच्छेद 51 (ए) इन मौलिक कर्तव्यों के बारे में बात करता है और इसमें 11 मौलिक कर्तव्य हैं जिनका नागरिकों द्वारा पालन किया जाना अपेक्षित है (पहले 10 थे और 11वें को बाद में 86वें संशोधन द्वारा जोड़ा गया था)। सबसे पहले, हम इन 11 मौलिक कर्तव्यों पर चर्चा करेंगे और फिर हम अगले विषय पर आगे बढ़ सकते हैं कि इसकी आवश्यकता है या नहीं।

हमें अपने संविधान का पालन करना चाहिए और अपने राष्ट्रीय ध्वज और राष्ट्रगान का सम्मान करना चाहिए।

- स्वतंत्रता संग्राम के आदर्शों पर चलना चाहिए
- हमारे राष्ट्र की संप्रभुता और अखंडता की रक्षा करें।
- हमारे राष्ट्र की रक्षा करें और आवश्यकता पड़ने पर राष्ट्रीय सेवाएँ प्रदान करें।
- समान भाईचारे की भावना रखनी चाहिए।
- अपने देश की संस्कृति को सुरक्षित रखें.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

- हमारे देश के पर्यावरण की रक्षा करें
- प्रत्येक विचार के लिए वैज्ञानिक तर्क उत्पन्न करें।
- सार्वजनिक संपत्ति की रक्षा करना।
- उत्कृष्टता के लिए प्रयास।
- प्रत्येक माता-पिता का कर्तव्य है कि वे अपने 6-14 वर्ष के बच्चों को स्कूल भेजें।

इन मौलिक कर्तव्यों से हमारे संविधान में मौलिक कर्तव्य की आवश्यकता को आसानी से समझा जा सकता है। हमारे राष्ट्र की संप्रभुता की रक्षा के लिए यह आवश्यक है। हमारे राष्ट्र की एकता और अखंडता को बनाए रखना है। अधिकार और कर्तव्य साथ-साथ चलते हैं और इन्हें किसी भी कीमत पर अलग नहीं किया जा सकता। मौलिक कर्तव्य और मौलिक अधिकार एक सिक्के के दो पहलू हैं जिन्हें हम जानते हैं कि अलग नहीं किया जा सकता। साथ ही, हमारे संविधान में मौलिक कर्तव्यों को शामिल करना समय की मांग के रूप में पाया गया है।

राज्य की संप्रभु प्रकृति को बनाए रखें:

मौलिक कर्तव्यों को शामिल करने का मुख्य उद्देश्य हमारे राज्य की संप्रभु प्रकृति को बनाए रखना था। हालाँकि इन्हें कानूनी रूप से लागू नहीं किया गया है, फिर भी ये हमारे राज्य को कुछ प्रकार की संप्रभु शक्ति भी प्रदान करते हैं।

राष्ट्र की एकता और अखंडता को बनाए रखने के लिए:

वर्तमान परिदृश्य में, हम देख सकते हैं कि लोग अक्सर 'असहिष्णुता' शब्द के बारे में बात कर रहे हैं । वे असहिष्णुता को एकता से जोड़ रहे हैं. उनके अनुसार यदि लोग असहिष्णु हो जायेंगे तो अन्य लोगों के साथ अनुकूलता प्रभावित होगी और अंततः विभिन्न लोगों के बीच एकता पर भयंकर प्रभाव पड़ेगा। हमारे मौलिक कर्तव्य नागरिकों के बीच सहिष्णुता विकसित करने में मदद करते हैं और अंततः हमारे देश के नागरिकों के बीच एकता और अखंडता की भावना विकसित करने में मदद करते हैं।

विधायिका द्वारा निर्मित विभिन्न प्रतिमाओं की व्याख्या में:

मौलिक कर्तव्य विधायिका द्वारा बनाए गए कानून/क़ानून की व्याख्या में मदद करते हैं। कई मामलों में यह माना जाता है कि मौलिक अधिकार की व्याख्या में मौलिक कर्तव्यों की आवश्यकता महत्वपूर्ण है। मोहन कुमार सिंघानिया बनाम भारत संघ के मामले में, अदालत ने माना कि हमारे संविधान के अनुच्छेद 51 (ए) के अनुसार बनाए गए क़ानून वैध हैं। इस प्रकार, हम स्पष्ट रूप से देख सकते हैं कि मौलिक कर्तव्य संवैधानिक प्रावधानों की व्याख्या करने में मदद करते हैं।

व्यक्तिगत नागरिक और नागरिक समाज के दावों के बीच संतुलन बनाना:

वर्ष 1999 में दिवंगत न्यायमूर्ति जेएस वर्मा के नेतृत्व वाली एक समिति द्वारा एक रिपोर्ट प्रस्तुत की गई थी। इस समिति द्वारा मौलिक कर्तव्यों (विशेषकर अनुच्छेद 51ए के तहत) की आवश्यकता और महत्व को समझाया गया था। इसे रिपोर्ट की अनुशंसा संख्या 3.38.1 और 3.38.2 में पाया जा सकता है।

इस समिति के अनुसार, व्यक्तिगत नागरिकों की अपेक्षाओं और एक नागरिक समाज के निर्माण के बीच संतुलन

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

बनाना महत्वपूर्ण है। इस लक्ष्य को प्राप्त करने के लिए, हमारे देश के नागरिकों को उनकी सामाजिक और नागरिकता जिम्मेदारी के प्रति जागरूक करना महत्वपूर्ण हो जाता है। और ऐसा करके हम अंततः नागरिक समाज को आकार दे पाएंगे (नागरिक समाज शब्द से हमारा तात्पर्य एक ऐसे समाज से है जहां सभी साथी नागरिकों के अधिकारों के प्रति चिंतित और विचारशील हों)।

वर्तमान स्थिति के लिए आवश्यक:

जब हमारे संविधान का मसौदा हमारे संविधान निर्माताओं द्वारा तैयार किया गया था, तो उन्हें हमारे संविधान में मौलिक कर्तव्य शामिल करने की आवश्यकता नहीं थी। लेकिन जैसे-जैसे समय बीतता गया मौलिक कर्तव्य की आवश्यकता और महत्व महसूस किया गया, इसीलिए बाद में इन्हें हमारे संविधान में 42वें संशोधन द्वारा शामिल किया गया। पहले देशभक्ति की भावना, सद्भाव, भाईचारे को बढ़ावा देने की भावना, धर्मनिरपेक्षता अंतर्निहित थी और इसके लिए नागरिक पर कोई नैतिक या कानूनी दायित्व डालने की आवश्यकता नहीं थी। देश की सेवा और किसी भी कीमत पर देश की रक्षा करने की भावना देश के नागरिकों में थी। लोग भारतीय संस्कृति की समृद्ध विरासत की रक्षा करने के इच्छुक थे।

हालाँकि, जैसे-जैसे समय बीतता गया लोगों में इन गुणों की कमी होती गई। पहले उपरोक्त गुण परिवार द्वारा और स्कूल-कॉलेजों में शिक्षकों द्वारा भी सिखाए जाते थे। लेकिन समय के साथ सभी लोग अपने जीवन में इतने व्यस्त हो जाते हैं कि वे इन मूल्यों को अपने अंदर विकसित करना भूल जाते हैं। वे गुण जो कभी भारत के नागरिकों के जीवन का अभिन्न अंग थे, उन्हें मौलिक कर्तव्यों के रूप में लागू किया जाना पाया गया। चंद्र भवन बोर्डिंग एंड लॉजिंग बैंगलोर बनाम मैसूर राज्य और अन्य मामले में , सुप्रीम कोर्ट ने कहा कि हमारा संविधान अपने नागरिकों को कुछ कर्तव्य सौंपे बिना नागरिकों के सभी अधिकारों की रक्षा नहीं कर सकता है। हालाँकि, यह निर्णय भारतीय संविधान में मौलिक कर्तव्यों को शामिल करने से पहले लिया गया था। यह एक कल्याणकारी समाज के निर्माण के लिए मौलिक कर्तव्यों की आवश्यकता को स्पष्ट रूप से बताता है।

अनुच्छेद 51 (ए): मौलिक कर्तव्य

यह भारत के प्रत्येक नागरिक का कर्तव्य होगा:

a. संविधान का पालन करना और उसके आदर्शों और संस्थानों, राष्ट्रीय ध्वज और राष्ट्रगान का सम्मान करना
b. उन महान आदर्शों को संजोना और उनका पालन करना जिन्होंने स्वतंत्रता के लिए हमारे राष्ट्रीय संघर्ष को प्रेरित किया;
c. भारत की संप्रभुता, एकता और अखंडता को बनाए रखना और उसकी रक्षा करना;
d. देश की रक्षा करना और बुलाए जाने पर राष्ट्रीय सेवा प्रदान करना;
e. धार्मिक, भाषाई और क्षेत्रीय या अनुभागीय विविधताओं से परे भारत के सभी लोगों के बीच सद्भाव और समान भाईचारे की भावना को बढ़ावा देना; महिलाओं की गरिमा के विरुद्ध अपमानजनक प्रथाओं का त्याग करना
f. हमारी समग्र संस्कृति की समृद्ध विरासत को महत्व देना और संरक्षित करना;
g. जंगलों, झीलों, नदियों और वन्य जीवन सहित प्राकृतिक पर्यावरण की रक्षा और सुधार करना और जीवित प्राणियों के प्रति दया रखना;
h. वैज्ञानिक स्वभाव, मानवतावाद और जांच एवं सुधार की भावना का विकास करना;
i. सार्वजनिक संपत्ति की रक्षा करना और हिंसा का त्याग करना;
j. व्यक्तिगत और सामूहिक गतिविधि के सभी क्षेत्रों में उत्कृष्टता की दिशा में प्रयास करना ताकि राष्ट्र लगातार प्रयास और उपलब्धि के उच्च स्तर तक बढ़ सके।
k. माता-पिता, अभिभावक द्वारा अपने बच्चे या वार्ड को 6-14 वर्ष की आयु के बीच, जैसा भी मामला हो, शिक्षा के अवसर प्रदान करना।

मौलिक कर्तव्यों के बारे में तथ्य:

- मौलिक कर्तव्यों को दो भागों में वर्गीकृत किया गया है - नैतिक कर्तव्य और नागरिक कर्तव्य

नैतिक कर्तव्य:

स्वतंत्रता संग्राम के महान आदर्शों को संजोना

नागरिक कर्तव्य: संविधान, राष्ट्रीय ध्वज और राष्ट्रगान का सम्मान करना

- उनमें अनिवार्य रूप से भारतीय जीवन शैली के अभिन्न कार्यों का एक संहिताकरण शामिल है
- मौलिक कर्तव्य केवल भारतीय नागरिकों तक ही सीमित हैं और कुछ मौलिक अधिकारों के विपरीत विदेशियों तक इसका विस्तार नहीं है
- वे भी राज्य नीतियों के निदेशक सिद्धांत के समान गैर-न्यायसंगत हैं
- उनके उल्लंघन के खिलाफ कोई कानूनी मंजूरी नहीं है

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

मौलिक कर्तव्यों की आलोचना

संविधान के भाग IVA में उल्लिखित मौलिक कर्तव्यों की निम्नलिखित आधारों पर आलोचना की गई है:

- आलोचकों ने उनके गैर-न्यायसंगत चरित्र के कारण उन्हें नैतिक उपदेशों की संहिता के रूप में वर्णित किया है। संविधान में उनके शामिल किए जाने को आलोचकों ने अतिश्योक्तिपूर्ण बताया। ऐसा इसलिए है क्योंकि संविधान में मौलिक रूप से शामिल कर्तव्यों का पालन लोगों द्वारा किया जाएगा, भले ही उन्हें संविधान में शामिल नहीं किया गया हो।
- कुछ कर्तव्य अस्पष्ट, अस्पष्ट और आम आदमी के लिए समझने में कठिन हैं।
- कर्तव्यों की सूची संपूर्ण नहीं है क्योंकि इसमें वोट डालना, करों का भुगतान करना, परिवार नियोजन इत्यादि जैसे अन्य महत्वपूर्ण कर्तव्य शामिल नहीं हैं। वास्तव में, करों का भुगतान करने के कर्तव्य की सिफारिश स्वर्ण सिंह समिति द्वारा की गई थी।
- आलोचकों का कहना है कि संविधान के भाग IV में उपांग के रूप में मौलिक कर्तव्यों को शामिल करने से उनका मूल्य और महत्व कम हो गया है। उन्हें मौलिक अधिकारों के बराबर रखने के लिए भाग III के बाद जोड़ा जाना चाहिए था।

स्वर्ण सिंह की समिति ने 10 से अधिक मौलिक कर्तव्यों की सिफारिश की, हालाँकि, सभी को संविधान में शामिल नहीं किया गया।

समिति द्वारा अनुशंसित वे कर्तव्य जिन्हें स्वीकार नहीं किया गया वे थे:

- नागरिकों को किसी भी कर्तव्य का पालन न करने या पालन करने से इनकार करने पर संसद द्वारा दंडित किया जाएगा।
- संसद द्वारा तय किए गए दंड/दंड पर किसी भी अदालत में मौलिक अधिकारों के उल्लंघन या संविधान के किसी अन्य प्रावधान के प्रति असहमति के आधार पर सवाल नहीं उठाया जाएगा।
- कर चुकाने का कर्तव्य.

निष्कर्ष

अंत में, हम यह निष्कर्ष निकाल सकते हैं कि इस लेख में हमने मौलिक कर्तव्यों के हर पहलू के बारे में जाना है और इसके हर पहलू को पढ़कर हम मौलिक कर्तव्य की आवश्यकता और महत्व को स्पष्ट रूप से समझ सकते हैं। इसे हमारे संविधान में जोड़ा गया क्योंकि हमारी सरकार को एहसास हुआ कि नागरिक समाज केवल राज्य द्वारा नहीं बनाया जा सकता है। हमारे देश के नागरिकों को हमारे संविधान के मूल उद्देश्य को प्राप्त करने में महत्वपूर्ण भूमिका निभाने की आवश्यकता है। वे हमारे संविधान के अनुच्छेद 51ए में उल्लिखित राष्ट्र के प्रति अपने कर्तव्यों का पालन करके ऐसा कर सकते हैं।

Objectives of the Mock United Nations

Mock UN is one of the most popular ways to learn about the workings of the United Nations. It is often the first time that students are exposed to international affairs. Mock UN helps students to develop public speaking, writing and research skills. In addition, they often provide the first entry point into international affairs and introduce students to the wide range of peace and security, human rights, development and rule of law issues that are on the UN agenda.

RNB Global University celebrated Constitution Day on November 26, 2023, with great enthusiasm and reverence. The event, held at the university campus, was attended by a diverse gathering of faculty members and students, led by the esteemed President of the university, Prof. (Dr.) Rakesh Bhargav.

The celebration commenced with a ceremonial reading of the Preamble to the Constitution of India, a tradition that underscores the commitment of the university community to the values and principles enshrined in the nation's founding document. President Prof. (Dr.) Rakesh Bhargav took the lead in reading the Preamble, setting a tone of solemnity and respect for the occasion. Faculty members and students joined him, collectively voicing the words that form the bedrock of India's democratic ethos.

In his address, President Prof. (Dr.) Rakesh Bhargav emphasised the significance of Constitution Day as a reminder of the democratic values, rights, and responsibilities that the Constitution bestows upon every citizen. He encouraged students to uphold these values in their personal and professional lives, highlighting the role of the Constitution in guiding the nation towards justice, liberty, equality, and fraternity.

The event also included discussions and reflections on the importance of the Constitution in contemporary India. Faculty members shared insights on the historical context of the Constitution's creation, its role in shaping the nation's legal and social framework, and the ongoing need to uphold constitutional values in everyday life.

Students participated actively, sharing their thoughts and expressing their commitment to being informed and responsible citizens. The event served as a platform for fostering a deeper understanding of the Constitution among the younger generation and inspiring them to contribute positively to society.

Introduction

The students of BA-LL.B and BBA-LL.B-3rd Semesters of RNB Global University visited Bikaner District and Session Court on 03 November, 2023. A court is a tribunal, often a governmental institution, with the authority to adjudicate legal dispute between parties and carry out the administration of justice in civil, criminal, and administrative matters in accordance with the rule of law. District courts of India are presided over by a district judge. These courts are under administrative and judicial control of the High court of the state to which the district concerned belongs.

Why did the university organize the visit to District Court, Bikaner

Faculty of Law & Arts continuously organizes various extracurricular activities like National level Moot court Competition, Mock United Session, Mock Parliament, Dramatize Moot Court, Webinars, Seminars, National and International Conferences on various topics and visit to various Courts, juvenile courts, Central Jail and Police Station etc. These kinds of activities are necessary for the overall development of students. District Court visit is also one of the most essential parts for practical knowledge of the Law students.

About the District & Session courts

The district courts of India are the district court of the state governments in India for every district or for one or more districts together taking into account of the number of cases, population distribution in the district. They administer justice in India at a district level. The civil court district court is judged by the district and sessions judge. This is the principal court of Original Civil Jurisdiction besides the high court of the state and which derives its jurisdiction in civil matters primarily from the Code of Civil Procedure. The district court is also a court of sessions when it exercises its jurisdiction on criminal matters under the Code of Criminal Procedure. The district court is presided over by a district judge who is appointed by the state governor on the advice of chief justice of that high court. In addition to the district judge there may be a number of additional district judges and assistant district judges depending on the workload. The additional district judge and the court presided have equivalent jurisdiction as the district judge and their district court.

They explained about ins-outs of litigation and relation between bar and bench and advanced wishes to students for their future endeavours. The visit started with a brief introduction about the court proceeding by Senior Advocate Mr. Shailendra Kumar Sharma.

Learning outcomes of visit

The experience not only enriched students with working of district but also enlightened then with practical aspects. The visit was full of information for the students of law. Subject	Blood Donation – Benefits and Scientific explanation of Myths

Dear All,

RNB Global University is organising Blood Donation Camp on 31-10-2023. Rotaract Club of RNB Global University and Rotary Club of Bikaner are assisting in this camp.

We wish to brief every member of our university about the benefits and on various myths associated with blood donation.

Benefits of Blood Donation-

For Recipients/Blood Banks/Mankind-

Since blood cannot be manufactured outside the human body and has a limited shelf life, the supply must constantly be replenished by generous blood donors ,like us.Blood donation helps save precious human lives.

For Donor-

1. Prevents Hemochromatosis-Hemochromatosis is a disorder where your body absorbs too much iron causing an overload of iron in the body. Donating blood can reduce the risk of hemochromatosis because the removal of red blood cells decreases the storage of iron. Excess
2. Maintain Cardiovascular health- Blood donation is beneficial in lowering excess iron in the body, which can reduce the risk of a heart attack.
3. May reduce the risk of developing cancer-Excess iron has been linked to an increase in cancer. High iron levels can increase the risk of tumor development. Donating blood consistently can lower the risk of cancer in the throat, liver, lung, colon, and stomach by releasing the iron buildup in the blood.
4. Stimulates blood cell production- After donating blood, the body works to replenishes blood. This causes the production of new blood cells, which helps keep the body healthy and productive.
5. Maintains healthy liver-Blood donation improves the health of your liver.
6. Help improve your mental state - Donating blood can give you a sense of pride because you know you are contributing to save lives. Knowing you are doing good for others can help improve your emotional well-being. When you know you are making a difference it improves certainly improves enhances your self pride.

Need not to mention that average life of a Red Blood Cell in human body is of 120 days, which means millions of RBC in our body are automatically destroyed & replenished automatically, hence Blood donation is a healthy practice.

Myths Associated with Blood Donation & their Scientific Explanation-

1. Donating blood can make you sick-Anyone who is healthy before donating blood will remain healthy after ward. Within an estimated 48 hours of donating, an individual's blood volume returns to normal .
2. Older adults cannot give Blood- Any one between the age of 18-65 can donate blood
3. Giving blood is time consuming-Although registration and processing can take some extra minutes, the procedure of donating blood only takes about 8–10 minutes.
4. Donor might contract an infection during the process- blood donation process is conducted by professional health care persons (Doctors & Nursing Staff). All the equipments used are sterile and safe. There is no chance of contracting infection if proper protocol is followed.
5. Donating blood is painful- A donor feels almost negligible pain of prick (equivalent to that of receiving Covid Vaccine). The remaining process is painless.
6. Vegetarians can never donate blood- People with all types of food habits can donate blood ,if they are healthy.
7. How can I be sure that my Hemoglobin level is safe for donation- Before taking blood, Health care person will check the level of Hb & other body vitals. Only the healthy person will be allowed to donate blood,
8. Enough people donate blood, why should I- Since blood has limited shelf life, an adequate supply is an ongoing process.

RNBGU has organized regular Blood Donation camps since its inception. All members of RNBGU whohad donated blood were healthy and safe.

University hopes that all members of University including Students, Admin staff, Maintenance staff and faculty members will actively participate in this Blood Donation camp.

Introduction

Dr. Afroz Ahmad: started by addressing the audience and by giving them an insight about RNB Global University, and why they were conducting such events for the students, what benefit students will gain by such event and many more advantages for benefits of students.

Brief description of the Event:

Prof. Ripu Sudan Singh argue that the Hamas's attack on Israel, and Israel's offensive in Gaza in response, is yet another escalation in a long conflict that has already left thousands dead on both sides. The latest round of violence between Israel and Palestine began after the Palestinian militant group Hamas launched the deadliest attack on Israel ever on October 7, killing more than 1,400 people, and capturing nearly 200, by the latest estimates. Israel responded with an intense counteroffensive that included an order to carry out a "complete siege" of Gaza, and it appears to be readying for a ground assault. A time of great colonial expansion as European empires jockeyed to take over other parts of the world, including the Middle East. As early as the 1840s, the British saw Palestine as an opportunity to carve out a sphere of influence in the Middle East, where they were competing with the French and Russians. But it wasn't until World War I, in which they were fighting the Ottomans who controlled Palestine, that the British formalized their support for the idea of a Jewish state in the region.

He also highlighted the formation of Israel and the "Nakba" After World War II, tens of thousands of Holocaust survivors began moving to Palestine, encouraged by a strengthened Zionist movement. The United Nations agreed to partition Palestine into two states, one for the area's Jewish population and another for the Arab population, with the city of Jerusalem to be governed by a special international entity. However, local Arabs and Arab countries objected to the plan. Following a period of extreme violence before, during, and after the war particularly on the part of Zionist militias British forces withdrew from Palestine, and Israel declared its independence on May 14, 1948. That started the first Arab-Israeli war, in which Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, and Syria opponents of Israel's declaration of independence invaded the country. Though the US immediately recognized the new provisional Israeli government, it did not get involved in the conflict militarily. Israel won the war and with it, 77 percent of the previous Palestinian mandate territory, including land that the UN had intended to allocate to the Arabs.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Prof. Ripu, briefly discussed the Chronological order of Israel Hamas conflict, the era of 1950s: The Lavon affair and the Suez Crisis In 1954, Israel sought to carry out a covert operation against Egypt. The so-called "Lavon affair," named for Israel's then-defense minister, involved planting bombs inside targets owned by Egyptian, American, and British civilians with the intention of detonating them after the facilities closed and placing the blame on nationalist malcontents, including the Muslim Brotherhood. Israeli operatives recruited Egyptian Jews to carry the plan out.

1967: The Six-Day War: The 1967 war, also known as the Six-Day War, reshaped the Middle East and established Israel as a dominant military power in the region. It was the culmination of long-brewing tensions in the region between Israel and other regional powers.

1973: The Yom Kippur War: Egypt and Syria launched a simultaneous, surprise attack on Israel on October 6, 1973, with the intention of forcing the country to the negotiating table to cede control of the Sinai Peninsula and the Golan Heights. Israel had occupied Syria's Golan Heights, located on Israel's eastern border with Syria, and Egypt's Sinai Peninsula, located along Israel's southern border, since the Six-Day War. The attack marked the beginning of what is called the Yom Kippur War because it commenced on Yom Kippur, the holiest day in Judaism.

1982: The First Lebanon War: In the 1980s, the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) was a coalition of Palestinian nationalists that had been exchanging fire with Israeli forces along the Lebanese border. They used Lebanon, home to many Palestinian exiles, as their base between the 1960s and early 1980s, though were unaffiliated with the Lebanese government.

2000–2003: The Second Intifada: The Second Intifada brought an end to the era of peace talks between the Israelis and Palestinians throughout the 1990s. It began with right-wing Israeli Likud party leader Ariel Sharon's visit to the al-Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem, a holy site for Muslims as well as for Jews, who know it as the Temple Mount. Sharon was a staunch advocate of Israeli sovereignty, and Palestinians perceived his visit as a provocation because he was accompanied by Israeli police.

2021: A major escalation in East Jerusalem and Gaza: Another major outbreak of violence occurred in 2021, after Israel threatened to evict Palestinian families from their homes in the Sheikh Jarrah neighborhood of East Jerusalem home to holy sites of significance for Jews, Christians, and Muslims and Israeli police imposed restrictions around the al-Aqsa Mosque during the Muslim holy month of Ramadan.

2023: Attempts at normalization in the Middle East falter amid a new war: In recent years, Israel has been a key pillar of the US's stated goal to create an "integrated, prosperous, and secure Middle East" as it looks to move on from long wars in Iraq and Afghanistan to turn its focus to other parts of the world, including Russia and China.

Introduction

The students of Law the semester of RNB Global University attended the Lecture organized by the Faculty of Law and Arts, RNB Global University on Law of Evidence.

Why did the university organize the Extension Lecture on "LAW OF EVIDENCE":- Faculty of Law& Arts continuously organizing various extracurricular activities like national level Moot court Competition, Mock United Session, Mock Parliament, Dramatize Moot Court, Webinars, seminars and conferences on various topics and visit to various Courts. These kinds of activities are necessary for the all over development of students. This Extension lecture was also an essential element in the all-round, holistic development of children.

About The Speaker

Brief introduction of speaker- Mr Bhuvnesh Sharma is working as an assistant professor in Saheed-E-Ajam bhagat singh law colloge,Sri Ganganagar. He is having teaching & research experience of 15 years. He has presented many papers and attended more than 25 conferences etc.

About The Extension Lecture

The speaker for the day, Mr Bhuvnesh Sharma began the session by addressing the students. He enlightened the students on the Law of Evidence Act 1872. Generally, when a person is summoned to court for giving testimony as a witness, he is expected to state only facts and not to give any opinion. It is the job of the court to form an opinion in the case. Moreover, if a person is asked to give his testimony then it is expected that the person must be factually related to the case not merely a third party. But there is an exception to this rule. The experts are considered as witnesses although they are not actually related to the case. The court requires these experts to give an opinion regarding the case to help the court in having a wider perspective to give justice. The rationale behind the same is that it is not practical to expect the Judges to have adequate knowledge of medical issues.

Opinion for foreign law (Section 38 r/w Section 45)

When there is a law of prevailing in any foreign country which needs to be considered for giving judgement in any case, the court needs an expert who is well versed with that law.

Otherwise, the court can take opinion from a law-book which contains the answer regarding any foreign law. These books must be printed or published under the authority of the government of that country. Other reports of the ruling of the courts can also be taken as relevant which are given in such books of foreign law. Foreign law in India is always considered as a question of fact. There have been cases where the court has interpreted personal laws as Indian laws and thus are the laws of the land. Therefore, the court does not require a person to interpret the law as the courts can do that task on their own.

The event was concluded with a vote of thanks by the Dean Faculty of Law and Arts, Dr Anil Kumar Kaushik and a group photograph.

Introduction

The students of Law the semester of RNB Global University attended the Lecture organized by the Faculty of Law and Arts, RNB Global University on Law of Evidence.

Why did the university organize the Extension Lecture on "Relation Between Municipal Law & International Law":- Faculty of Law& Arts continuously organizing various extracurricular activities like national level Moot court Competition, Mock United Session, Mock Parliament, Dramatize Moot Court, Webinars, seminars and conferences on various topics and visit to various Courts. These kinds of activities are necessary for the all over development of students. This Extension lecture was also an essential element in the all-round, holistic development of children.

About The Speaker

Prof. Chandan Bala Jain is working as Professor in Faculty of Law, JNY University, Jodhpur. She is having teaching & research experience of 33 Years. She has presented many papers and attended more than 45 conferences etc

About The Extension Lecture

National and International legal systems run in their own territory without any hypothesis of retaliation with each other. Both systems are essential and commonly supportive and also socialize with each other in an up-to-date context in relation to many issues. It is believed that International Law is higher than Municipal law because Monist theorists believe that International Law can solve any problems which have arisen within any State.

Kelsen also believes that International Law covers all aspects of human life. Monistic theorists view that International Law does not come under any Law, rather Municipal Laws are a part of International Law

STATE PRACTICE ON IMPLEMENTATION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

The united kingdom:- it is part of the public policy of the united kingdom that the court should in principle give effect to clearly established rule of international law. This does not, however mean that where a court is exercising a discretionary power, it is obliged to ensure that the government acts compatibly with its international obligations and not in breach of them.

Various theories have been put forward to explain the applicability of international law rules within the jurisdiction. One expression of the positivist-dualist position has been the jurisdiction. One expression of the positivist dualist position has been the doctrine of transformation. This is based upon the perception of two quite distinct systems of law operating separately, and maintains that before any rule or principle of international law can have any effect within the domestic jurisdiction, it must be expressly and specifically transformed into municipal law by use of the appropriate constitutional machinery, such as an act of parliament. This doctrine grew from the procedure whereby international agreements are rendered operative in municipal law by the device of ratification by the sovereign and the idea has developed from this that any rule of international law must be transformed or specifically adopted to be valid within the internal legal order.

Registrar Bikaner

The United states:- As far as the American position on the relationship between municipal law and customary international law is concerned it appears to be very similar to british practice apart from the need to take the constitution into account. The US Supreme court is Boos v. Barry emphasized: as a general proposition it is of course correct that the united states has a vital national interest in complying with international law. However the rules of international law were subject to constitution.

INDIAN PRACTICE : The Indian practice of implementing international law was similar to the British practice prior to 26 Jan 1950. Since then , the Indian practice on relationship of inter law and Indian law has been governed by the constitutional provisions.As far as the implementation of international customs in India is concerned, it is necessary to look into Article 372(1) of the constitution of India. It is one of the attributes of state sovereignty to enter into treaties and agreements with foreign States .It is just not possible for a state to isolate itself from the rest of the world whether in the matter foreign relations , trade , economy or ecology . The advances made in the areas of information technology and communication have blurred the national boundaries. The world has become global village and the independent States have become more inter - dependent.

The event was concluded with a vote of thanks by the Faculty of Law and Arts, Dr bharat and a group photograph.

They discussed the objectives of the SVEEP (Systematic Voters' Education and Electoral Participation) program and focused on a few points that should be taken into account during the Voter Awareness Campaign. A Voter Awareness Campaign should be designed to inform and educate the public about their rights and responsibilities as voters, with the aim of increasing voter turnout and fostering a more informed and engaged electorate. The objectives of a voter awareness campaign typically include:

1. Raise Awareness about Candidates and Issues:
    - Inform voters about the candidates running for office, their platforms, and their positions on key issues.
    - Facilitate discussions and debates to help voters make informed decisions based on their values and priorities.
2. Combat Voter Suppression:
    - Address any barriers or challenges that may hinder certain groups from exercising their right to vote.

- Work to eliminate discriminatory practices and advocate for policies that promote inclusivity in the electoral process.

3. Promote Voting Rights:

    - Educate voters about their rights at the polling station.

    - Advocate for policies that protect and expand voting rights, ensuring that all eligible citizens have the opportunity to participate in elections.

4. Utilize Various Communication Channels:

    - Employ a variety of communication channels, including social media, traditional media, community events, and grassroots initiatives, to reach a diverse audience.

    - Tailor messages to different demographics and communities to make the information more accessible and relatable.

5. Engage Youth:

    - Target younger demographics to instill a sense of civic engagement early on and encourage lifelong participation in the democratic process.

    - Use innovative and technology-driven approaches to reach younger voters.

6. Encourage Informed Decision-Making:

    - Provide non-partisan information to voters, enabling them to make informed decisions based on a clear understanding of candidates, issues, and policy positions.

7. Evaluate and Improve Electoral Processes:

    - Collect feedback from voters to identify areas for improvement in the electoral process.

    - Work with election authorities to implement reforms that enhance the efficiency and accessibility of elections.

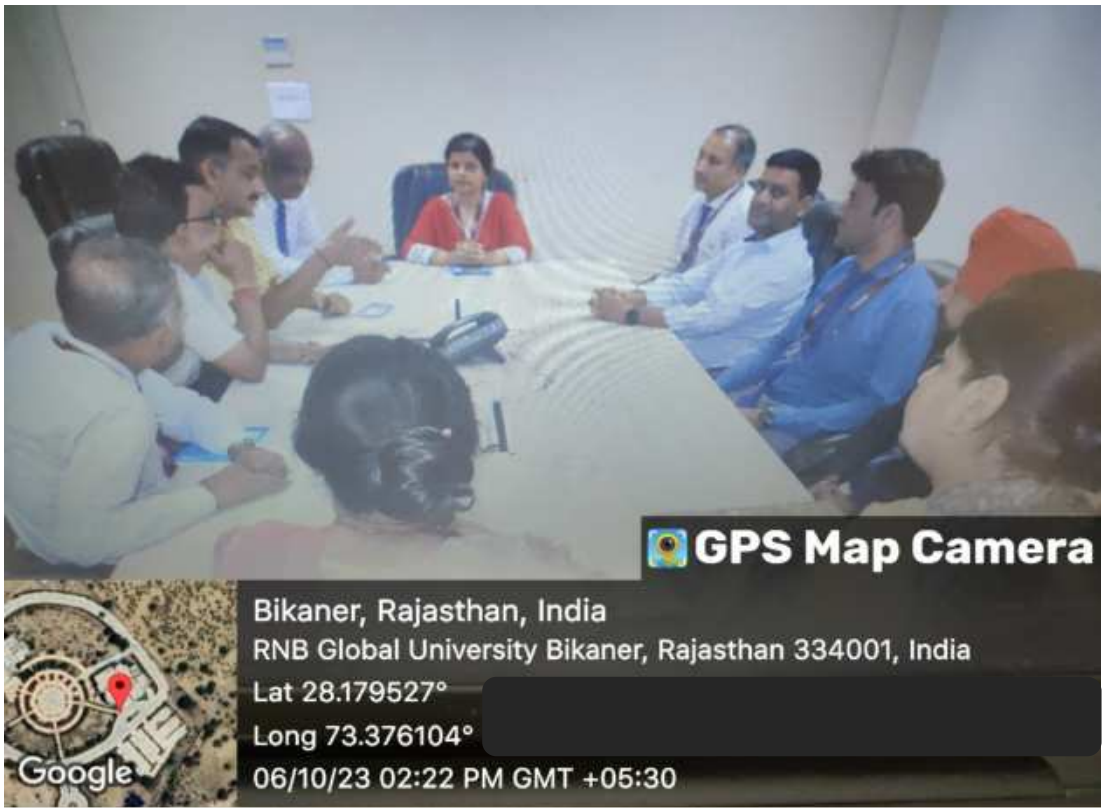

By achieving these objectives, a voter awareness campaign contributes to the overall health and vibrancy of a democratic society by ensuring that citizens are actively engaged, well-informed, and motivated to participate in the electoral process.

All the members present in the meeting took an oath to participate in the electoral process of the Government of India and to cast their valuable votes. Dr Rakesh Bhargava

For generations, young minds who desires to grow and choose legal field as their career options, experiences competitive advocacy, presentation and speaking skills in terms of various competitions and debate are one of them. Introduction

RNB Global University, committed to fostering holistic education and community engagement, organized an outreach activity in collaboration with Mahatma Gandhi Government School Khara, Bikaner. The purpose of this activity was to promote environmental awareness and sustainability by planting saplings in the local community. The event took place at Panchayat Bhawan Khara, Bikaner, as a part of our ongoing efforts to create a positive impact on society.

Objective:

The primary objective of this outreach activity was to instill a sense of environmental responsibility among the students and promote the importance of afforestation. Additionally, we aimed to strengthen our bond with the local community, especially with the students of Mahatma Gandhi Government School Khara.

Activity Details:

Prior to the event, a team of RNB Global University students worked closely with the staff and students of Mahatma Gandhi Government School, Khara to plan and coordinate the activity. This involved selecting an appropriate location for tree planting, procuring saplings, and arranging transportation.

Native tree species suitable for the local climate were chosen to ensure the long-term survival and growth of the saplings. This decision was made after consulting with local environmental experts.

On the day of the event, students from both RNB Global University and Mahatma Gandhi Government School Khara gathered at Panchayat Bawan Khara. The event began with a brief orientation on the importance of afforestation and environmental conservation.

Participants were divided into teams, and each team was assigned a specific area for planting saplings. Experienced individuals provided guidance on proper planting techniques to ensure the saplings' healthy growth. The participants actively participated in digging holes, planting saplings, and watering them.

In addition to tree planting, an environmental awareness session was conducted, focusing on topics such as the benefits of trees, climate change and the role of youth in environmental conservation. This session aimed to educate and inspire the students to become stewards of the environment.

The collaboration between RNB Global University and Mahatma Gandhi Government School Khara was a key highlight of the event. It facilitated mutual learning and cultural exchange, strengthening the bond between the two institutions.

Conclusion:

The tree planting outreach activity at Panchayat Bawan Khara, Bikaner, in collaboration with Mahatma Gandhi Government School Khara, was a successful endeavor that promoted environmental consciousness and community engagement. RNB Global University remains committed to such initiatives, recognizing the importance of education and outreach in building a sustainable future.

We extend our gratitude to all the participants, volunteers, and stakeholders for their contributions to the success of this event. We look forward to future collaborations and endeavors that make a positive impact on society and the environment.

Purpose of the Visit

"Being the part of the largest democracy, knowledge of law serves the people with the tool of power and self-realization. Unless the people are aware about their own rights, they cannot live in consonance with the true dictates of democracy and rule of law. Legal literacy is commonly understood as knowing the primary level in law."

Introduction

The students of the 7th and 9th Semester of RNB Global University visited the District Legal Service Authority on 9 September 2023. A court is a tribunal, often a governmental institution, with the authority to adjudicate legal disputes between parties and carry out theadministration of justice in civil, criminal, and administrative matters in accordance with the rule of law. District Legal Service Authority of India is presided over by an Additional district judge. These courts are under administrative and judicial control of the High Court of the state to which the district concerned belongs.

Why did the university organize the visit to the Lok Adalat District Legal Service Authority, Bikaner

The Faculty of Law & Arts continuously organizes various extracurricular activities like National level Moot court Competitions, Mock United Sessions, Mock Parliament, Dramatize Moot Court, Webinars, seminars, and conferences on various topics, and visits to various Courts, juvenile courts, etc. These kinds of activities are necessary for the over-developmentof students. District Court visit is also one of the most essential parts of practical knowledge for Law students.

About the Lok Adalat District Legal Service Authority,

The National Legal Services Authority (NALSA) has been constituted under the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 to provide free Legal Services to the weaker sections of the society andto organize Lok Adalats for amicable settlement of disputes. In every State, the State Legal Services Authority has been constituted to give effect to the policies and directions of the NALSA and to give free legal services to the people and conduct Lok Adalats in the State. The State Legal Services Authority is headed by Hon'ble the Chief Justice of the respective High Court who is the Patron-in-Chief of the State Legal Services Authority.A Senior Most Judge of High Court is nominated as Executive Chairman, NALSA. In every District, District Legal Services Authority has been constituted to implement Legal Services Programmes in the District. The District Legal Services Authority is situated in the District Courts Complex in every District and chaired by the District Judge of the respective district. A Civil Judge Cadre Judicial Officer is appointed as Secretary on a full-time basis.

The district court of the state governments in India for every district or for one or more districts together taking into account the number of cases and population distribution in the district. They administer justice in India at a district level. The district and session judge judges the civil court district court. This is the principal court of Original Civil Jurisdiction besides the high court of the state and derives its jurisdiction in civil matters primarily from the Code of Civil Procedure. The district court is also a court of sessions when it exercises its jurisdiction on criminal matters under the Code of Criminal Procedure. The district court is presided over by a district judge who is appointed by the state governor on the advice of the chief justice of that high court. In addition to the district judge, there may be a number of additional district judges and assistant district judges depending on the workload. The additional district judge and the court presided have equivalent jurisdiction as the district judge and their district court.

Learning outcomes of the visit

The experience not only enriched students with working in the district and DLSA but also enlightened them with practical aspects. The visit was full of information for the students of law. Students got live exposure to the judicial process of the court with a bench-bar relationship. It gave practical and theoretical knowledge regarding all those laws written in the law book.

Introduction

Professor Anil Kumar Kaushik, Dean, FOL&A started by addressing the students of Law and by giving them an Introduction about the speaker Dr. Kaptan Chand Professor further insight about RNB and asked, why they were conducting such an expert lecture for the students, what benefit will gain by such expert lecture and many more advantages for benefits of students.

What role of forensic science in law

Due to the development of the criminal justice system, there has been an extraordinary diffusion in crime investigation techniques as far as the scientific infusion is concerned, as observed in the previous decade. The use of scientific tools and techniques in crime detection by police officials, and identification of alleged criminals /offenders helps in establishing a crucial link between the judiciary and police force. Further, they take account of these physical pieces of evidence that are consistent and determine the accuracy of the innocence or guilt of the criminal/offender.

Forensic science is a discipline that functions within the parameters of the legal system and may have a remarkable contribution to supporting justice in crime investigations and other serious violations. Its purpose is to provide guidance to those conducting criminal investigations through the recognition and retrieval of evidence at crime scenes and accurate information on which they can rely in the resolution of criminal and civil disputes. Crime includes murder, rape, accident-related incidents, undisclosed persons, displaced persons, fraud-related cases, and forgery.

Why expert lecture on Forensic science was organized for students?

- To gain knowledge about how to deal with criminal scenes for evidence.
- To understand the major role of forensic science in law.
- To study the methods and techniques they used to detect crimes.

Expert Dr. Kaptan Chand explainedForensic Science as:

- Explained types of forensic science Forensic Odontology, Forensic Toxicology, Forensic Anthropology, Impression and Pattern Evidence Forensic Pathology, and Medicolegal Death Investigation Trace Evidence Cyber Forensics
- Forensic science is an important feature of the criminal justice system. Essentially, it deals with exploring the scientific and physical clues collected from the crime scene. Forensic science describes the suspect's distinctive nature which committed the crime. The evidence clearly points out the essence of the crime that was committed.
- Finally, the motive behind the crime comes to a close. Forensic analysts recreate the peculiarity of the suspect and the victim. A forensic scientist's roles and obligations in a criminal case are important as they include carefully analyzing the evidence with sufficient diligence so that it is not manipulated.
- They explain it by example, forensic pathologists are skilled in performing autopsies to determine the cause of death. An autopsy assists in assessing the cause and manner of death by analyzing body fluids and tissues. Forensic scientists analyze physical evidence collected from the crime scene (fingerprints, blood, hair, etc.) to identify suspects. Forensic experts also use resources for image manipulation to search for long-term offenders who are absconding from the law. This method helps them to digitally age an image and understand how the aged person will feel.

About the Extension lecture on Forensic Science

To educate law students about the growing use of Forensic Science worldwide in law to collect accurate evidence. Modern Forensic Science teaches us the impact of evidence that is related directly to crime and criminals.

Introduction

Professor Anil Kimar Kaushik, Dean, FOL&A started by addressing the students of Law and by giving them Introduction about the speaker Mr. Chaturbhuj Saraswat Advocate further an insight about RNB and he say, why they were conducting such extension lecture for the students, what benefit will gain by such extension lecture and many more advantages for benefits of students.

What is Alternative Dispute Resolution Mechanism (ADR)

ADR uses negotiation and discussion to reach an amendable settlement in order to settle disputes and disagreements between the parties to a transaction. Other tools and procedures for resolving conflicts of all kinds, including civil, business, familial, etc., can be provided via ADR. ADR operates under the broad tenet that disagreements between parties to transactions are resolved through the employment of a third party.

Contrary to confrontational litigation, ADR processes are frequently collaborative and allow the parties to comprehend each other's positions, which is one of the main reasons why parties may favour ADR proceedings. It tries to promote harmony and collaboration amongst the participants to a transaction and to avert hatred between them.

The purpose of solving dispute through ADR is to lower the burden upon the courts and provide early access and speedy trial to those cases which are more serious. Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India serve as the foundation for ADR in that country.

The Centre of Bikaner for Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) is work with Students and researcher to promote interest in Alternative Dispute Resolution.

Why extension lecture on ADR was organised for students?

- To gain knowledge about different methods of dispute resolution.
- To understand the meaning and general principles of arbitration.
- To study about the roles and responsibilities of Conciliator

Expert Sh. Chaturbhuj Saraswat Advocate explained about:

1. What is Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) system: ADR may play a significant role in lessening the load of litigation on the courts while providing a comprehensive and rewarding experience for the parties. ADR is a non-adversarial method of resolving disputes that involves working together to find the best solution for everyone.
2. Need for ADR: The overwhelming backlog of court cases in India has put a tremendous deal of strain on the judicial system. In India, the quantity of court cases has skyrocketed recently, causing backlogs and delays and emphasising the demand for ADR techniques.
3. Mediation uses in Matrimonial Disputes and other family issue.
4. Types of ADR Mechanisms: ADR is generally classified into the Arbitration, Conciliation, Mediation, Negotiation and Lok Adalat etc.
5. What are the Advantages of ADRs? : It is more viable, economic, and efficient. This often results in creative solutions, sustainable outcomes, greater satisfaction, and improved relationships.
6. ADR process can be initiated at any time, whenever disputing party takes recourse to ADR.
7. ADR can be used to reduce the gravity of contentious issues between the parties.

About extension lecture on ADR

To educate law students for the growing use of ADR in legal systems across the world, ADR must be a key priority area in legal education. The primary tenet of the lawyer's responsibility is to zealously protect and advance the client's licit interests, within the bounds of the law. ADR teaches us how to interact with clients, and including it in the curriculum improves a lawyer's ability to handle customers. purpose of Extension lecture to education students about practical aspects of ADR. By this way students are motivated through a proper approach.

Introduction

The potential of Artificial Intelligence is awe-inspiring, with applications ranging from autonomous vehicles and medical diagnostics to personalized recommendations and financial forecasting. However, alongside its promise, AI also presents complex challenges that demand careful consideration. How do we ensure the responsible and fair use of AI? How can we address issues of bias and discrimination that might arise from AI algorithms? What legal protections should be in place to safeguard individual privacy and data security in an AI-driven world? Our seminar aimed to foster a thoughtful dialogue among students, faculty, and experts in the field, as we explore these critical questions and more. Distinguished speakers, each a trailblazer in their respective domains, will share their insights and expertise, shedding light on the multifaceted dimensions of AI regulation. Through rigorous discussions and informed presentations, we hope to unravel the intricate interplay between technology, law, and ethics.

Why did the university organize the Seminar on Need of law to Regulate Artificial Intelligence?

This seminar provided a unique platform for intellectual exchange and cross-disciplinary learning, offering participants the opportunity to engage with thought leaders and peers from various fields. We encourage all students who are intrigued by the intersection of technology and law, and who are curious about the future implications of AI, to actively participate and contribute their perspectives.

Outcomes of the seminar: The seminar's outcomes suggest several significant steps that need to be taken to address the need for AI regulation:

Policy Development: Policymakers should collaborate with experts to draft comprehensive and adaptable laws that address the complexities of AI while fostering innovation.

Interdisciplinary Approach: AI regulation demands collaboration between legal experts, technologists, ethicists, economists, and policymakers to develop balanced and comprehensive frameworks.

Public Engagement: Public awareness campaigns and educational initiatives should be launched to ensure that society understands the implications of AI and the significance of responsible regulation.

Global Cooperation: Given AI's borderless impact, international collaboration is essential to establish consistent regulations that prevent regulatory arbitrage and promote ethical AI development.

Agile Adaptation: As AI technologies evolve rapidly, regulations should be designed to be agile and adaptable, capable of addressing new challenges and advancements.

Conclusion:

The seminar on the need for law to regulate artificial intelligence provided a platform for rich discussions and critical insights. Through the contributions of the eight student speakers, it became evident that a balanced, ethical, and comprehensive legal framework is indispensable for harnessing the potential of AI while safeguarding human values and rights. The event highlighted the collective responsibility of academia, industry, policymakers, and society to collaboratively shape AI regulations that will shape the future of technology for the betterment of all

INTRODUCTION

On a sunny and joyous day, the School of Agriculture at RNB Global University orchestrated a highly anticipated tree-planting event at the Gram Panchayat Bhawan. The objective of this gathering was to foster environmental awareness, promote sustainable practices, and enrich the campus with more greenery. The effort involved planting a total of 150 saplings of Neem and Sheesham trees, contributing to the conservation and beautification of the adopted village.

Key Objectives of the Plantation Drive:

1. Enhancing Greenery: The primary aim of the event was to augment the green landscape, creating a more eco-friendly environment within the campus.
2. Raising Awareness: By involving students, faculty, and staff in the tree-planting initiative, the event sought to educate and raise awareness about the vital role trees play in mitigating climate change.
3. Promoting Sustainability: The initiative was aligned with the university's commitment to sustainability and environmental preservation.

Highlights of the Event:

The plantation drive commenced at 11:30 AM with a brief inauguration ceremony. The Sarpanch of Jamsar, alongside other members, inaugurated the event by planting the initial saplings. The atmosphere was filled with enthusiasm and a shared sense of responsibility towards the environment.

Volunteers and participants were organized into teams, each responsible for planting specific types of saplings. Students from the 3rd and 6th semesters of B.Sc. Agriculture at the School of Agriculture, actively participated in the drive. The event fostered a sense of community and collaboration among all participants.

Types of Saplings Planted:

Neem (Azadirachta indica) is a native tree to the Indian subcontinent, highly valued for its numerous benefits:

1. Medicinal Properties: Neem has been a staple in traditional medicine for centuries. Various parts of the neem tree, including leaves, bark, seeds, and oil, contain bioactive compounds with antimicrobial, anti-inflammatory, antiviral, and antifungal properties. Neem is believed to have a positive impact on skin conditions, dental health, digestive issues, and immune system support.

2. Pest Control: Neem serves as a natural and eco-friendly pesticide. Its extracts, particularly neem oil, effectively repel and control a wide range of pests, reducing the environmental impact and promoting sustainable agricultural practices.

It's crucial to use neem responsibly and in accordance with recommended guidelines to prevent unintended consequences or harm to non-target organisms.

Sheesham (Dalbergia sissoo), also known as Indian Rosewood, is a deciduous hardwood tree native to the Indian subcontinent, valued for various attributes:

1. Timber and Woodworking: Sheesham wood is prized for its strength, durability, and attractive appearance, making it a popular choice for high-quality furniture, cabinetry, flooring, and decorative items.
2. Sustainable Forestry: Sheesham's rapid growth and adaptability to different soil and climatic conditions make it suitable for sustainable cultivation, providing a renewable source of timber while promoting responsible forestry practices.

Responsible and sustainable management of Sheesham is vital to ensure its long-term availability and avoid negative environmental impacts.

The participants received guidance from experienced faculty members on proper planting techniques to ensure the saplings' survival and growth. The event also served as an educational opportunity for students to learn about different tree species, their ecological significance, and the importance of biodiversity.

Impact of the Plantation Drive:

The plantation drive at Gram Panchayat Bhawan was a resounding success. The newly planted saplings are expected to significantly contribute to greening the campus and positively impact the local ecosystem by providing shade, improving air quality, and fostering a conducive learning environment for students.

Additionally, the event successfully raised awareness among the university community about their role in environmental conservation and encouraged the adoption of more sustainable practices in their daily lives.

Conclusion:

The School of Agriculture's plantation drive at Gram Panchayat Bhawan, was a commendable initiative that showcased the institution's unwavering commitment to environmental stewardship. By planting 150 saplings of Neem and Sheesham, the campus took a significant step towards becoming a greener and more sustainable space. The success of the event was made possible through the collaborative efforts of students, faculty, and staff, underscoring the importance of teamwork in achieving environmental goals.

RNB Global University serves as an inspiring example for other educational institutions, urging them to actively participate in preserving our planet for future generations through meaningful initiatives like tree-planting drives.

Introduction

Dr. Afroz Ahmad: started by addressing the audience and by giving them an insight about RNB Global University, and why they were conducting such events for the students, what benefit students will gain by such event and many more advantages for benefits of students.

Brief description of the Event:

India is second major populated country after china. India is one of the major democratic country in the globe. In broad sense politics is the activity through which populous make, conserve and revise the general rules under which they live. Its incurred exercise of power, public allocation of values, resolution of conflict and competition among person, groups or states pursuing their interest. Therefore political system itself faces with the issues and opportunities. Political system of most country faced with issues. Political Aspect of Corruption. India is a very large country in terms of geography and demography. The nation is divided into 543 Lok Sabha constituencies. These constituencies are very large in population and territory. No individual candidate of a constituency has the financial capacity to meet the cost of campaigning. The political parties and candidates approach the industrialists for donation. Industrialists and rich people provide donation to all major political parties and candidates. -Once these candidates get elected the MPs and MLAs are morally bound to support these election donors. This vicious cycle of corruption corrodes Indian democracy.

Economic Aspect of Corruption - In economic history of India we can see close linkages between corruption and economic policies. India followed mixed economy since Independence until 1991. The public sector was provided with the commanding heights of economy. There was a license system so that if any industrialist wants to start a project has to get a license from the Government. Hence he was forced to pay bribe to get the license. World Institutions like World Bank argued that economy should be deregulated to solve the corruption case.

Bureaucracy and Corruption In India Bureaucracy performs the functions of administration and development. IAS, IPS, IRS officers are officially in charge of handling thousands of crores while their salaries are in few thousands. As the great political strategist of ancient India Chanakkiya the honey hunter will be forced to lick his forehand. Cornwallis the Governor General of India in 1790s during the East India Company's rule in India introduced the Office of Collectors to tackle corruption.

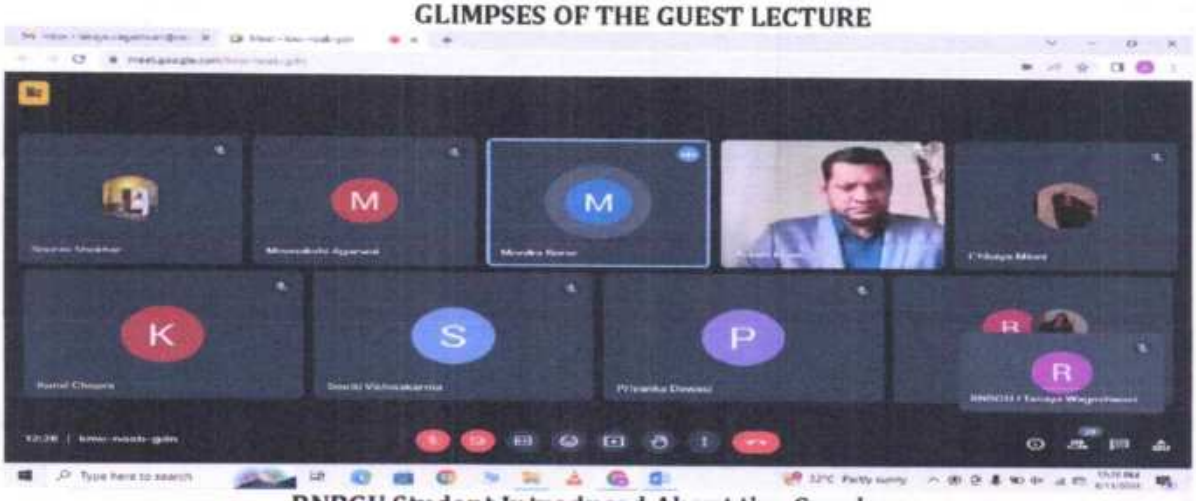

RNB Global University

Society and Corruption - Society is itself responsible for the prevalence of rampant corruption in India. We are bound by our social identities created by caste, region, language and religion. -If a member of our caste or religion or language is caught and convicted under corruption charges, we out of social loyalties sympathise and defend that person. Thus our social mind set perpetuates corruption.

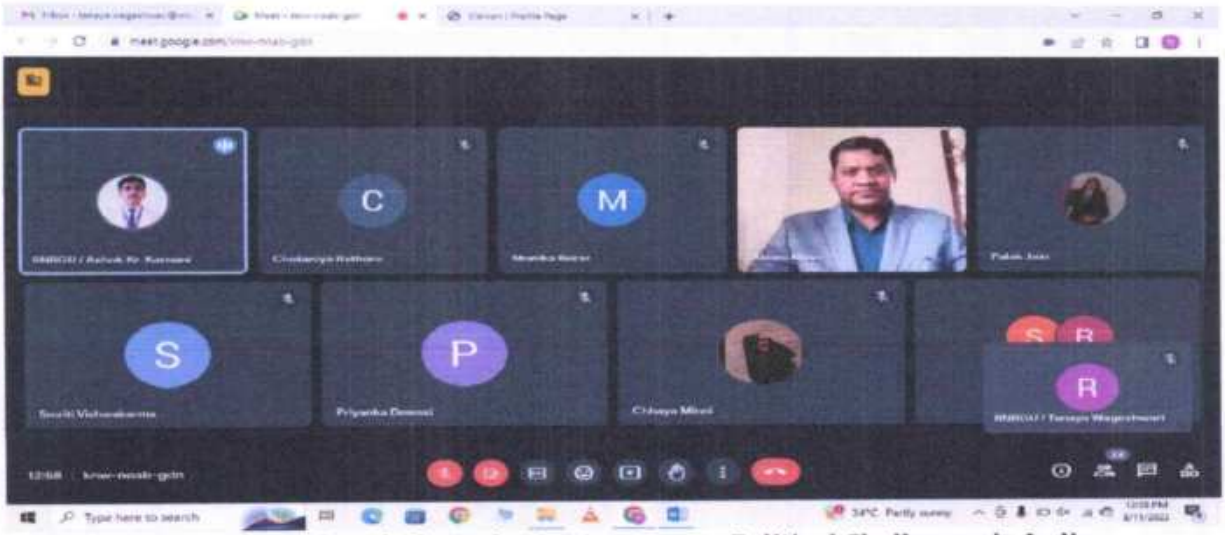

Legal Dimensions of Corruption There are many laws against corruption like Prevention of Corruption Act. There are many investigation agencies like CBI. But these laws and institutions suffer from shortcomings. People escape through these shortcomings. The press should take this issue seriously political party and leaders must actively refrain from encouraging this unholy nexus. New laws must be made and old laws must be strengthened to prevent Criminalization of politics. Finally there shouldn't be any political interference in the functioning of institutions like CBI, Police.

Our programs are designed for youth in advancing their goals with an effort to make the universe a better place for today's and tomorrow's generations to come.

About the Event:

The event "Youth Empowerment & Legal Minds" has been organized by the organizer "TheAcharya.org" to honor the momentous occasion of the 100th Anniversary of Baba Sahib Ambedkar's practice in the legal profession and in loving memory of Prof. Dr. Ashok Acharya. The event has been basically conducted for all the law personals. In this event, Chief Guest was Shri Arjun Ram Meghwal, Hon'ble Minister of Law & Justice. He has encouraged our students in pursuing a law career.

Guest speakers of the event were also motivated all our students. They have shared about what to expect in pursuing a law career. They also spoke about internship opportunities and some legal basics that everyone should know.

In this event, student of RNB Global University has showed a skit on "Women Empowerment". Through their skit they gave a message to the society. Women Empowerment is a term used to indicate steps taken for improving the status of women in society. It refers to their social, political, educational, medical, economical and other forms of improvement.

It is very essential for women to be provided equal and opportunities as that of men.Women's empowerment can be defined to promoting women's sense of self-worth, their ability to determine their own choices, and their right to influence social change for themselves and others.

It is closely aligned with female empowerment – a fundamental human right that's also key to achieving a more peaceful, prosperous world.In Western countries, female empowerment is often associated with specific phases of the women's rights movement in history. This movement tends to be split into three waves, the first beginning in the 19th and early 20th century where suffrage was a key feature. The second wave of the 1960s included the sexual revolution and the role of women in society. Third wave feminism is often seen as beginning in the 1990s.

Women's empowerment and promoting women's rights have emerged as a part of a major global movement and is continuing to break new ground in recent years. Days like International Women's Empowerment Day are also gaining momentum.

After the completion of the skit, Co-Founder of TheAcharya.org has appreciated the efforts of the students and blessed them with all the success for their career and future endeavors.

Youth empowerment refers to the process of enabling young individuals to gain the necessary skills, knowledge, resources, and confidence to make informed decisions, take control of their lives, and contribute positively to their communities and society at large. It involves providing young people with opportunities for personal, social, and economic growth, so they can become active and responsible citizens. Legal minds can include lawyers, judges, legal scholars, professors, legal consultants, and other professionals who are deeply involved in legal matters and contribute to the development and interpretation of laws. Introduction:

On August 4, 2023, the School of Agriculture at RNB Global University Bikaner embarked on a noteworthy endeavor to encourage environmental awareness and community engagement. This initiative involved a tree-planting campaign at the Shahar Kunjia government upper primary schools. Its primary objectives were to enrich the local greenery, educate students about the importance of environmental sustainability, and nurture a sense of responsibility towards the natural world

Objectives:

- Raising awareness regarding the significance of tree planting and its role in preserving ecological equilibrium.
- Engaging students and teachers actively in the tree planting and nurturing process.
- Enhancing the overall environment of the school premises and its surroundings by increasing greenery.
- Fostering a lasting connection between the university and local schools to facilitate future collaborative initiatives.

Event Details:

The tree planting initiative kicked off simultaneously at school in the morning. It commenced with an informative lecture for the students about the importance of tree planting. Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni, representing the School of Agriculture, delivered an address to the students and teachers of both institutions. Introduction:

Plantation, the deliberate cultivation of trees and vegetation, holds immense importance in both our daily lives and the broader environment. This article explores how tree plantation contributes to our well-being and the health of our planet.

1. Improved Air Quality:

In our daily lives, trees are essential for improving air quality. Through photosynthesis, trees absorb carbon dioxide and release oxygen, providing us with clean and breathable air. This process not only supports our respiratory health but also creates a more pleasant and refreshing environment.

2. Enhanced Aesthetics:

Plantation adds to the aesthetic appeal of our surroundings. Trees and greenery enhance the visual aspect of urban and rural landscapes, making our environments more pleasing and inviting.

3. Shade and Comfort:

Trees provide shade that offers relief from the scorching sun, making outdoor activities more enjoyable. In urban areas, tree-lined streets and parks create cool pockets, mitigating the urban heat island effect and promoting comfort.

4. Connection with Nature:

Engaging with trees and nature has been shown to reduce stress and improve mental well-being. Having access to green spaces and natural environments contributes positively to our daily lives, providing opportunities for relaxation and rejuvenation.

5. Food and Nutrition:

Many trees bear fruits, nuts, and other edible products that form a part of our daily diets. Plantation provides a sustainable source of nutritious food, supporting our nutritional needs.

6. Economic Opportunities:

Plantation supports various industries, from timber and wood products to herbal medicines and cosmetics derived from trees. These industries contribute to job creation and economic growth, positively impacting our lives and communities.

7. Climate Regulation:

Trees play a crucial role in regulating the climate. Through carbon sequestration, they help mitigate the effects of climate change by reducing the concentration of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. This contributes to the long-term health of the environment and the planet.

8. Biodiversity and Ecosystem Health:

Tree plantation enhances biodiversity by providing habitats for various species of plants, animals, and microorganisms. These diverse ecosystems are essential for maintaining ecological balance and resilience.

9. Soil Conservation:

Trees prevent soil erosion by stabilizing the soil with their roots. This is vital in preventing landslides and maintaining fertile soil for agriculture.

10. Water Management:

Plantation contributes to water management by reducing runoff and improving water quality. Trees absorb and filter rainwater, allowing it to gradually infiltrate the soil, replenishing groundwater and preventing flooding.

Objectives of the Event:

1. To convince the next generation about the value of plants
2. To give our contribution towards combating climate change effect
3. To maintain conduit atmosphere nearby rular area
4. To create green belt and avenues for meeting aesthetic recreational needs to the people

Insight of the Plantation Event

On 03rd August, 2023, School of Agriculture, RNBGU had successfully completed the event of plantation under the National Service Scheme at Gram Panchyat Bhawan, Khara. The event was organized with aim to create awareness about combating climate change and global warming, which we have all seen in last few years.

All the students along with Head SOA Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni and Lab technician Mr.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Vikas Nai participated in this program with anthusiasm. The plantation was done by Head SOA Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni, Sarpanch Mr Bhairu Singh & VDO Mr. Ram Niwas Sinwal (Village Khara), lab technician Mr. Vikash and students. The plants Kaner, Neem, Shisham, Sadabahar and Bougainvillea were planted. Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni and students also briefed about the importance of plants to villagers and members of Gram Panchayat. Mr. Sharwan (student of agriculture) proposed vote of thanks.

Conclusion

In conclusion, tree plantation is not just an environmental initiative; it's a crucial responsibility that we all share to ensure the well-being of our planet and future generations. Through tree plantation efforts, we can mitigate the effects of climate change, improve air and water quality, conserve biodiversity, and create sustainable ecosystems. By fostering a culture of tree planting and nurturing, we contribute to a healthier and more resilient environment. So, we should plant more and more trees in order to maintain a balance in nature. By our contribution, the pace of the tree plantation can be increased.

Introduction:

Planting trees and evergreen plants is of paramount importance for ecological, environmental, and societal reasons, and their significance cannot be overstated. Firstly, these plants are vital in the battle against climate change. Through the process of photosynthesis, they absorb carbon dioxide (CO2) from the atmosphere, helping to reduce the concentration of greenhouse gases. This carbon sequestration is critical in mitigating global warming and its associated consequences, such as rising temperatures, melting polar ice, and more frequent and severe weather events. Trees and evergreens act as a natural carbon sink, making them indispensable in our efforts to limit the impacts of climate change on our planet.

Moreover, the benefits of tree and evergreen plant plantation extend well beyond carbon sequestration. These plants are champions of oxygen production, emitting the very air we breathe. This oxygen is essential for the survival of all aerobic organisms, including humans. Additionally, these plants contribute to the preservation of biodiversity by providing habitats and food sources for various wildlife species. By planting and preserving these species, we can help maintain healthy ecosystems and prevent the loss of endangered species. Furthermore, their extensive root systems aid in soil stability, preventing erosion, and safeguarding against landslides and soil degradation. Their importance in erosion control cannot be underestimated, especially in regions prone to such environmental hazards.

Beyond their ecological benefits, trees and evergreen plants hold aesthetic and recreational value. Their lush greenery enhances the beauty of landscapes and provides spaces for recreation and relaxation. Parks and green spaces with abundant trees contribute to mental and physical well-being, offering opportunities for exercise, stress relief, and a connection to nature. Additionally, their economic importance cannot be ignored. The forestry and wood industry provide employment opportunities and contribute significantly to local economies. Furthermore, the presence of well-maintained trees can increase property values, making areas more attractive for businesses and residents. This, in turn, stimulates local economies and improves the overall quality of life in communities.

RNB Global University
Registrar
Bikaner

In regions with harsh climates, evergreen plants, in particular, are of great value. They provide year-round greenery, helping to reduce the impact of extreme weather events such as heavy rainfall, snow, and strong winds. Their presence can offer a degree of protection to vulnerable ecosystems and communities. Furthermore, trees and evergreen plants are long-term investments in the future. They are typically long-lived, and when well-maintained, they continue to provide their numerous benefits for decades or even centuries. This long-term perspective is crucial in building a sustainable and resilient future for generations to come.

Furthermore, the plantation of trees and evergreen plants has educational and research value. These plants are integral to the study of ecology, botany, and environmental science. Educational programs and initiatives centered around planting and caring for trees can raise awareness about the importance of these species and instill environmental stewardship in future generations. Additionally, research conducted on these plants contributes to our understanding of ecosystems, biodiversity, and climate change adaptation strategies, helping us make informed decisions to protect our planet.

In conclusion, the plantation of trees and evergreen plants is a multifaceted and indispensable endeavor. It addresses pressing environmental issues such as climate change, air and water quality, and biodiversity preservation. Simultaneously, it enhances the aesthetics of our landscapes, boosts local economies, and supports various industries. Furthermore, these plants have a profound impact on our physical and mental well-being, offering recreational opportunities and contributing to our overall quality of life. As we continue to face global challenges related to environmental degradation and climate change, the significance of planting and preserving trees and evergreen plants cannot be overstated. It is a responsibility shared by individuals, communities, and governments to ensure a sustainable and healthier future for our planet and all its inhabitants.

Objectives of the Event:

- To instill an appreciation for the importance of plants in the minds of the next generation.
- To play our part in the fight against the impacts of climate change.
- To uphold a healthy atmosphere in rural areas.
- To establish green zones and scenic avenues to fulfill the aesthetic and recreational desires of the community.

Insight of the Plantation Event

On August 3, 2023, the School of Agriculture at RNBGU successfully concluded a tree planting event as part of the National Service Scheme in Aangan Bari Kendra Village, Khara. The primary objective of this event was to raise awareness about combatting climate change and global warming, issues that have become increasingly evident in recent years.

The program witnessed active participation from all the students, as well as the enthusiastic involvement of Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni, the Head of SOA, and Mr. Vikas Nai, the Lab Technician. Planting activities were led by Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni, along with Sarpanch Mr. Bhairu Singh, Lab Technician Mr. Vikash, and the students. Various plant species, including Kaner, Neem, Shisham, Sadabahar, and Bougainvillea, were carefully planted.

Dr. Ravi Kishan Soni and the students took the opportunity to educate the villagers and members of the Gram Panchayat about the importance of these plants. Mr. Sharwan, a student of agriculture, expressed gratitude on behalf of the team with a vote of thanks.

Conclusion

In summary, tree planting goes beyond being merely an environmental initiative; it represents a vital duty that we collectively bear to safeguard the well-being of our planet and the generations to come. Through concerted tree planting endeavors, we can effectively counteract the impacts of climate change, enhance air and water quality, preserve biodiversity, and establish sustainable ecosystems. By promoting a culture of tree planting and nurturing, we actively contribute to a healthier and more robust environment. Therefore, it is imperative that we continue to plant an ever-increasing number of trees to maintain the delicate balance of nature. Our contributions can significantly accelerate the pace of tree planting efforts.

Purpose of the Visit

"Being the part of the largest democracy, knowledge of law serves the people with the tool of power and self-realization. Unless the people are aware about their own rights, they cannot live in consonance with the true dictates of democracy and rule of law. Legal literacy is commonly understood as knowing the primary level in law."

The legislature of the state and the Parliament, while enacting the legislation, consider the objectives of it. Some laws lay down the substantive rights of the masses and some touch upon the procedural aspect of certain laws. But it is due to lack of awareness of beneficiaries that most of the legislations are ineffective at the stage of their execution. To quell this problem, the step of generating among the masses, awareness of their rights has been recognized as the appropriate initiative. The source of power among the masses has been attributed to such awareness.

India is a land of various laws on a variety of subjects. Most of these pertain to the benefits of the people. But due to the lack of their awareness for such provisions hardly yield any benefit to them. To ensure justice for all, safeguard popular rights, and promote legal empowerment of the society, need is always felt for making the public aware about their rights and entitlements. With the same token, such awareness can be credited for facilitating the aggrieved person to quickly take resort to channels available for the redressal of grievances, through agencies like the Police, the Executive and the Judiciary. Further the awareness of one's legal rights paves the way for participation of the masses in the decision-making process. It is due to this situation, that Legal literacy and legal aid has been recognized as a tool of qualitative change at the basic level as it provides them with the adequate knowledge of their rights. Legal literacy connotes the knowledge of the primary level in law. After the citizens (particularly marginalized or underprivileged groups) become aware of the rights provided to them by law, they can use such awareness as a tool to fight injustices. Such awareness can transform their lives.

Legal literacy is the first step to that end. Further, the better awareness of laws is a contributing factor to help people work more effectively in diverse spheres. To give effect to such initiative and to contribute towards the society, School of Law, RNB Global University organized Legal aid and Literacy camp time to time.

Introduction

Mr. Ashok Karnani started his speech with the brief introduction and importance of free legal aid and legal literacy camp. Mr. Karnani also talked about its benefits to the students and other people of the society. Mr. Ashok Karnani also explained the different provisions of law relating to Fundamental Rights, Fundamental Duties, Hindu Marriage Act, 2005 & RTE and RTI Acts. Students also expressed their thought on the topic and explained legal aid camp can help in solving their legal problem. Some

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

Students of the said School, asked their solution for the legal problems they are facing in the present situation such as physical assault, Child Marriage, kidnapping, RTI, RTE etc. Students of SOL met with the School Students and tried to solve their legal problem personally. The students were informed that if any query they can contact our legal aid clinic located in the RNB Global University campus or they can take help from our Associated Lawyers. Many Students put their problems before the Students & Faculty. Appropriate remedies were suggested to them as per the law. At last, Mr. Karnani talked about the all courses which are running at our university campus.

3. Brief description of the Event:

G-20 Presidency, India has an opportunity to set the global agenda and be in the limelight for at least a year. But, if it has to be a real leader, say a Vishwaguru, it has to do some heavy lifting for quite a number of years. The real Vishwaguru today is the US, which has retained its global leadership for almost a century since World War-I. It is not just its military might but its technological superiority in various fields that has made the US the largest and most competitive open economy.

How did the US achieve all this? Thanks to the culture of innovation backed by a solid base of research and development (R&D). Innovation is rightly recognised as an engine for economic growth and Prime Minister Narendra Modi is right when he extended the old slogan of Lal Bahadur Shastri and Atal Bihari Vajpayee, jai jawan, jai kisan, jai vigyan, to include jai anusandhan (research and innovation). In 2016, the Modi government launched the Atal Innovation Mission (AIM) to create an ecosystem to promote innovation and entrepreneurship in the country. All these are steps in the right direction, but the foundation of all this lies in how much India actually spends on R&D, both in absolute terms as well as a percentage of its GDP, in relation to other G20 countries.

Voice of the developing world

G20, or the Group of Twenty, is an organisation of 19 countries and the European Union with roots in the 1997-1999 Asian financial crisis. The G7 convened a meeting of its finance ministers and central bank governors to find a solution to the meltdown. That was the first time the grouping was elevated to the summit level. Since then, it has grown into the G20 – representing 85 per cent of global GDP, 75 per cent of global trade, and two-third of the world's population. It has widened its ambit to include dealing with humanitarian crises, natural disasters, climate change, health, and gender issues among others.

Given all that it represents, the G20 has the power to shape the future. The question is, what should that future look like. This is where India's spiritualism and philosophy come in. The theme for the presidency is heartening: "One Earth, One Family, One Future." It's also important in terms of the stand India has taken about the global south becoming the voice of the developing world.

This is a world struggling with post-Covid economic challenges, the conflict in Ukraine, soaring inflation, dipping growth, and various scarcities, from fuel to food. This is India's opportunity to take on the role of peacemaker, leveraging its G20 presidency. Perhaps the PM realises it. "The onus of creating a new world order for the post-Covid period lies on our shoulders. I am confident that next year when the G20 meets in the holy land of Buddha and Gandhi, we will all agree to convey a strong message of peace to the world," he said. To that end, India has shown great wisdom by pushing for a global consensus on stable supply chains for food and fertilizers as well as energy.

Oneness of Humanity

There are two other critical areas for which India should use its G20 presidency: debt relief and climate action. The global debt crisis has been in the news for a while. A worryingly large number of poor countries are struggling with huge debt. The G20 has a mechanism to help, but it needs to move faster. As far as climate action goes, the key to success is climate finance.

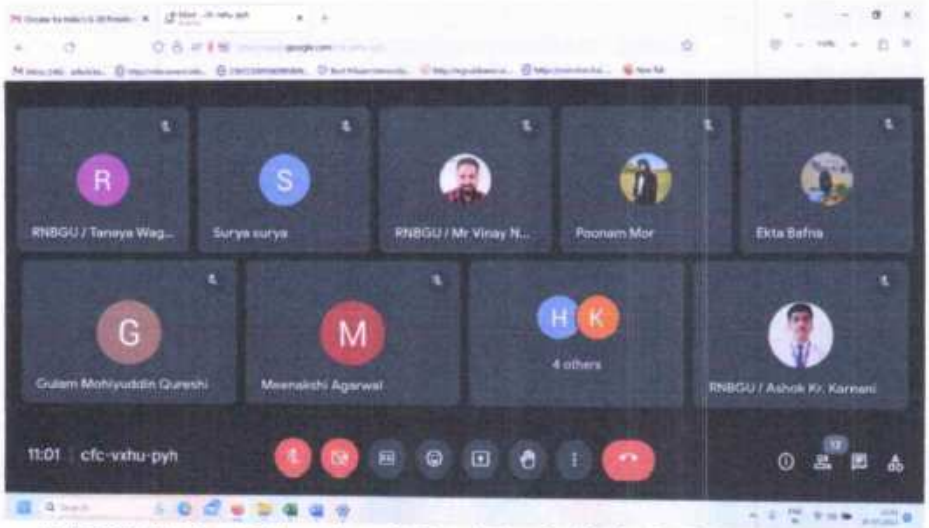

It would undoubtedly require a large sum of money to enable the transition to green technologies in sectors ranging from power generation to transportation. Both these areas are opportunities for India to show leadership. None of these crises are applicable to one nation or group. What affects one, affects us all. It all boils down to the oneness of humanity, which fits perfectly with India's spiritual traditions. That's why, while unveiling the logo of India's G20 presidency on 8 November, Modi underscored the mantra of vasudhaiva kutumbakam (the world is one family).

About the moot court competition:

The School of Law of the RNB Global University Bikaner is continuously organizing various extra-curricular activities, like, Mock United Nation General Assembly, Security Council, ECOSOC, United Nations Commission on Human Rights Sessions, Mock Parliament, Moot Trial Court, Workshops, National Debate Competitions, Legal Aid and Literacy Camps, Quiz Competitions, Webinars, National Seminars and National Conferences. Client Counseling Training Programmes are organized by the school. The students visit to the High Courts and the Supreme Court of India are organized for proper learning of legal studies. In this series another milestone has been added by this RNBGU Dramatized Moot Court Competition 2023.

The moot problem was based on Section 13 of Hindu Marriage Act 1955 i.e. one of the grounds for a divorce petition

Objectives of the competition:

Moot court competitions are used to introduce law students to court proceedings that arise from a (hypothetical) dispute between parties. Such exercises can allow future lawyers, judges and arbitrators to improve their drafting, research and argumentation skills.

Inaugural Ceremony: 11:00 am to 11:15 am

Venue: Moot Court Hall, RNB Global University, Bikaner

Proceedings of Inaugural Ceremony:

In inaugural ceremony Greetings & welcome to guests & all participants done by Harshita Sharma. Student coordinator of the competition Harshita Sharma explained the rules of the competition to all teams.

Learning Outcomes:

1. A moot court competition simulates a court hearing (usually an appeal against a final decision), in which participants analyses a problem, research the relevant law, prepare written submissions, and present oral argument.
2. Moot problems are typically set in areas of law that are unsettled or that have been subject to recent developments. They usually involve two grounds of appeal, argued by each side.
3. The procedure imitates that followed in real courts: the judge enters, the mooters and the judge bow to each other, the clerk announces the matter, the mooters give their appearances and are then called on in turn to present their submissions, the judge asks questions of the mooters, the court adjourns, and the judge then returns to deliver a brief judgment and some feedback.
4. Mooting is not the same as public speaking or debating, although it shares some common elements with these activities. It is a specialized application of the art of persuasive advocacy. It has been part of the process of training lawyers for centuries and plays an important role in legal education.
5. Student become aware about the mooting techniques, memorial formation methods and art of argument before court.

RNB Global University Registrar Bikaner

6. Student came to know that how to find a case applicable on a given moot problem.
7. Students became aware that how to
   - Examine & Cross Examine the witness
   - Argue on behalf of prosecution & Defense side.
   - Deliver the Judgement
   - Understand the procedure of court.

Valedictory: Judges appreciated the performance of students. Chief Guest distributed the Prizes to allthe winners and runner-up. Faculty Convener Ms. Varnika Siyag proposed vote of thanks.

2. Brief description of the Jail Visit

The students of VII and IX Semesters of RNB Global University visited the Central jail on 20 July 2023. The purpose of this visit is to see the practical implementation of the basic legal rights of prisoners provided by the acts and The Constitution of India. What kinds of studies are the framework of rehabilitative and reformative activities given to prisoners to see the infrastructure provided to prisoners by the jail authorities? To study the management and the conditions of the jail premises to see the security measures adopted by the jail authorities for securing the jail premises. To know about the daily routine and the facilities provided to inmates.

The Bikaner Central jail is situated in Bichwal. The prisoners in Jail are divided into two categories- Under trial and convicts. Both categories of prisoners have separate sections of cell for their accommodation, further Convicts are also divided into two categories and have separate cells for convicts of heinous crimes and other crimes. Prisoners have the facility of a recreation center in the central jail where different types of activities are taken for some entertainment organized by organizations. Prisoners in central jail have the excess to the library for reading books and they are also given the opportunity to study and give exams at Open University. All the work in jail is done by prisoners like cooking, cleaning, washing etc. Factory of cloth also functions from central jail where prisoners work and earn money by making cloth and sewing. In the same way, the central jail has separate sections for women convicts and under trials, and their accommodations are bifurcated in the same way. Central jail authorities regularly organize different types of activities like drama and yoga to indulge the prisoners for their mental health.

This visit gave our students the opportunity to interact with the Jail prisoner who has committed crimes or have been sent to jail. The students also got a chance to interact with the Jail Supredentent R. Ananteshwaran. They guided our students about the rules and regulations which they follow to control their prisoners. Other subordinate jailors named Dilip, and Subhash guided us throughout our whole central visit jail. The main objective to visit the central jail is to acknowledge the difference between the Practical approach adopted by jail authorities and the theory given in books regarding the maintenance of the jail.
